INTRODUCTION

As of the date of this expanded re-publication (September, 2017), a Google Search for the term “Putin thug” yields an astonishing 550,000 results; about the same as for “Putin murderer”. Coming in at about 450,000 results is “Putin tyrant”. Even the whimsical “Putin the Terrible” is pushing 900,000. Most of these negative results source back to some bloviating American politician, commentator, egg-headed academic, editorial writer or journalist for a major American publication. Others trace back to European parliamentarians or periodicals.

To be sure, favorable Western reviews for Russia’s enigmatic leader are also readily available; but the preponderance of the Western-sourced adjectives used to describe Vladimir Putin, be it from the “left” or from the “right”, is clearly of an overwhelmingly negative nature.

But in Russia itself, the perception is vastly different. Ever since his rise to power, Putin’s approval rating among the Russian people has hovered between 75-85% -- far higher than that of any American President or European Prime Minister. (1) Indeed, many Russians regard him as the savior of Mother Russia; with some referring to him as “Putin the Great.” A few among Russia’s Orthodox Christian faithful today believe that Putin was God-sent, literally!
Even Putin’s most hysterical Western detractors unanimously concede that his talents and abilities are unusually formidable. Putin came from a very humble background. As a young boy, he was full of energy, fond of Martial Arts, and not one to shy away from trouble. His 5th grade teacher, Vera Gurevich, recalls young Vlad:

“In the fifth grade, he still hadn’t found himself yet, but I could feel the potential, the energy and the character in him. I saw that he had a great deal of interest in language; he picked it up easily. He had a very good memory and an agile mind.

I thought, something good will come of this boy, so I decided to give him more attention, to distract him from the boys on the streets.” (2)

In High School, Putin studied Chemistry at a Technological Institute (which is probably very close to obtaining a Chemistry Degree from some American colleges). He would later obtain a Law Degree from what was then known as Leningrad State University. Brainy Putin later earned a Ph.D in Economics, while also mastering the German language in his spare time. He is basically conversant in English and French. Putin is also well versed in History and Literature (including English & American works) and an aficionado of Ballet, Ice Hockey, Opera and both Classical & Blues music.

In 1983, Putin married Lyudmila Shkrebneva, a beautiful Flight Attendant with whom he would have two daughters. He is a passionate outdoorsman, animal lover, good with a gun, and holds a Black Belt in Judo. He served 16 years in the Intelligence Service, rising to Russia’s Intelligence Chief after the USSR collapsed.
Love him or hate him; one thing is for sure; Putin is no joke. To parody a well known beer commercial, “He is, the most interesting man alive.”

Clearly, the negative Internet Search super-majority and the Russian population super-majority cannot both be right about Mr. Putin. So, who is right? Or does the truth about Vladimir Putin lie somewhere in between? Why so much Putin-hating in the West?

As the astute reader has probably already deduced from the title - The War Against Putin: What the Government-Media Complex Isn’t Telling You About Russia – this work intends to set forth a body of evidence which will strongly support the Russian majority’s perception. Though the style may seem more breezy and conversational than the conventional academic sedatives which normally deal with such matters; be assured that the scholarship displayed throughout is as unerring as it is meticulously sourced. This is no opinion piece. It is an organized, concise collection of hard and proven facts which, when weaved together, will state their own conclusions; conclusions which the Western “Powers That Be” have concealed from you, but cannot refute.

And so, dear reader, turn off your TV news and put down your morning newspaper for a while. As the late comedian and social commentator George Carlin used to say; “It’s all bullshit, and it’s bad for you.”

Just pretend that you have never even heard of Vladimir Putin, until now. With confrontation looming (if certain players have their way), the people of the “free world” cannot afford to be misled any longer. Of course, you will render your own final verdict regarding Mr. Putin. But how can it be a just one until you have at least considered the organized array of facts which are about to be presented?

That said, let’s climb into the time machine, and enjoy a wild ride from past to present.
SECTION 1

FROM THE BEGINNING THROUGH WORLD WAR II
CHAPTER 1
Rus Warriors Through the Tsars

More than 1100 years ago, diverse groups of seafaring Norsemen, Vikings essentially, known as ‘Rus’ settled in modern day Ukraine, Belarus, and Russia -- giving their name to the latter two. The Rus governed over native Slavic and Finnish tribes. Some historians believe that these Vikings were invited in to bring order. Others theorize that the Rus conquered the territories and then established their rule over the Slavs and Finns. In any case, the history of Russia is long and storied.

In 988, the Rus state, centered in Kiev (modern day Ukraine) converted to Christianity, which it adopted from the Byzantine Empire (Eastern Roman Empire). For this reason, Russia is sometimes referred to as “The Third Rome.” That fusion of Rus, Slavic and Byzantine cultures formed the basis of Russian culture for the next 1000 years.

Kiev Rus ultimately disintegrated as a state because of the brutal Mongol invasion of 1237–1240 and the death of about half the population of Rus. Remnants of the Mongol invasions can still be seen in the faces of some modern day Russians (Tatar Mongol mix).

After the 13th century, Moscow became the cultural center of Russia. By the 18th century, the Tsardom of Russia had become the enormous, resource-rich Russian Empire, stretching from the Polish–Lithuanian Union eastward to the Pacific Ocean. The word for king, Tsar, is Russian for Caesar.

Expansion towards the west introduced Russia to Western culture which, at that time, was far more advanced. In the late 1600’s, Tsar Peter (Peter the Great) led a cultural revolution that replaced some of Russia’s medieval social and political system with a scientific, Western-oriented, system. The Tsarist House of Romanov (which takes its name from the Roman Empire) indirectly traces its lineage back to Peter. The Romanovs would rule Russia until 1917.

The Golden Age of Russian culture and imperialism blossomed under the Reign of Catherine the Great during the late 1700’s. Catherine presided over the age of the Russian Enlightenment. The Smolny Institute, the first state institution of higher education for women in Europe, was founded by her. Catherine also founded the Hermitage Museum in Saint Petersburg, Russia. The Hermitage is one of the largest and oldest museums in the world and has been open to the public since 1852. Its stunning collections, of which only a small part is on display, comprise about three million items, including the largest collection of paintings in the world.

1: Norsemen settle Russia  2: Peter the Great  3: Catherine the Great

During the early 1800’s, Russia, which had allied itself with Britain, resisted Napoleon’s great invasion. Russians were very proud of their victory in the first “Great Patriotic War”. So much so that Tsar Alexander I signed a manifest on Christmas Day in 1812, declaring his intention to build a grand cathedral in honor of Christ the Savior "to signify our gratitude to Divine Providence for saving Russia from the doom that overshadowed Her" and as a memorial to the sacrifices of the Russian people.

The awe-inspiring Moscow cathedral took 40 years to build and still more to decorate. Christ the Savior Cathedral holds a special spiritual, cultural, and historic significance for the Russian faithful. Keep this in your memory bank because we will again visit this Cathedral at future points of this narrative.

During the 1850’s there came the Crimean War against Britain, France and the Ottoman Turkish Empire; a war which was imposed upon Russia by the two Western imperial powers. Russia lost that war.

From 1877-1878, Russia fought and won the Russo-Turkish War. But when Britain’s Prime Minister Benjamin Disraeli aggressively injected himself into the peace treaty (Treaty of Berlin), Russia and its Slavic allies in south eastern Europe were forced to accept a ‘raw deal’ -- a deal so flawed that it would later play a role in the outbreak of World War I (by driving a nasty wedge between Russia and its Austro-Hungarian ally). (1) It’s a fascinating story, but again, it digresses. Just know that the long history of Western powers maneuvering against Russia repeats itself time and again.

During the 1800’s, Britain actually fought two wars in Afghanistan, on Russia’s southern border. The ludicrous pretext for the Anglo-Afghan Wars was to “protect India” from Russia. The real reason was Britain’s desire to compete against Russia for influence in Central Asia. Disraeli once wrote to Queen Victoria of his plan to: “clear central Asia of Muscovites (Russians) and drive them into the Caspian Sea.” (2)

It should be noted that Benjamin Disraeli was very closely attached to the House of Rothschild (3); the wealthiest family in world history. (4) The Rothschild enmity towards Russia is now 200 years old. As we shall see later on, the anti-Putin Rothschild Banking Dynasty is still working against Russia to this very day.

Disraeli’s invasion of Afghanistan ended badly for the British. They withdrew in 1880 and Disraeli’s political influence was finally checked. This fierce historic rivalry became known as “The Great Game” -- the chess players being Russia and the West and the chess board being Afghanistan. Indeed, the “Great Game” is still being played to this day. And you thought we went into Afghanistan to get “Osama Bin Laden!”

In 1881, Tsar Alexander II was assassinated on the 5th attempt on his life. Bomb throwing Red terrorists (Communists / Anarchists) were responsible. The Tsar’s son, Alexander III, and grandson Nicholas watched the Tsar’s legs get blown off. The resulting anti-Red backlash caused many Reds to flee to America. Wonderful!
By 1905, the Reds, mainly funded from Western sources (long story but true) were strong enough to attempt a violent overthrow of the Tsar. That fateful year also witnessed the bombing assassination of Tsar Nicholas’s uncle, Grand Duke Sergei Alexandrovich, and the loss of a war with Japan. During that war, the Japanese received massive financial assistance from Wall Street banker Jacob Schiff, (5) as well as some final diplomatic favoritism from Wall Street’s wholly-owned warmonger, President Theodore Roosevelt. (6) (The historical image of a blue-blooded TR being the scourge of the Wall Street “Robber Barons” is mythical; as is the image of TR the ‘war hero.’)

After the war, Japan expressed its gratitude to Schiff by awarding him the Order of the Sacred Treasure. In 1907 he was again honored with the Japanese Order of the Rising Sun. Schiff was personally awarded the Order by Emperor Meiji in the Imperial Palace.

Schiff’s support of the Japanese military was not motivated by any special love for Japan, of course. What motivated Schiff was the ongoing mutual animosity between Tsarist Russians and the Jews of Russia -- an animosity that was also shared by the House of Rothschild. During the late 1700’s, ancestors of the Schiffs and the Rothschilds had actually shared a double-house in Frankfurt, Germany. (7)

Though the Red uprising was finally put down, Russian prestige and position had been weakened, both at home and abroad. Many of the Red terrorists who managed to get out of Russia obtained refuge in Western Europe or America. Leon Trotsky and his gang actually settled in Brooklyn; where they plotted their future return.

In 1911, Russia’s popular reformist Prime Minister, Pyotr Stolypin, was shot to death in the Kiev Opera House; in front of Tsar Nicholas and his daughters.
In 1914, Russia -- having been cleverly lured into an alliance with new “friends” France and Britain -- and seeking to settle old scores with the Ottoman Turks, joined what would soon turn into “World War I.” Unfortunately for Russia, Turkey was party to an alliance with Germany and Austria-Hungary (both of which had been Russian allies until British Prime Minister Disraeli caused a ‘divorce’ in 1878). (8) This therefore pitted Russia against Germany and Austria-Hungary in a mutually destructive war that was to soon bring down all three Empires and Ottoman Turkey too.
The Bolshevik / Soviet Revolution

As they had during the 1905 War with Japan, the Communist revolutionaries used popular discontent over World War I and an economic crisis to foment another attempt at Revolution in 1917. The Bolshevik Reds promised agitated mobs that they would bring about a “workers’ paradise” - an earlier version of “Hope & Change.” Red leader Lenin returned to Russia in “the sealed train,” bringing with him sacks of gold given to him by the German banker Max Warburg -- whose brother, Paul Warburg, was the chief architect behind the 1913 founding of the Federal Reserve System (Central Bank of the United States). Warburg and the German government knew that a revolution would undermine the Russian government and ultimately knock Russia out of the war. But Warburg’s motives were less than “patriotic.”

Financiers such as the Warburg Brothers, the Rothschild Clan, John D Rockefeller, JP Morgan and Jacob Schiff coveted control over Russia’s vast territory and resources. They saw the mighty Empire as the chief obstacle to their ultimate vision of global economic integration -- an ambitious idea which, even back then, was openly discussed within the elite circles of London, Paris and New York.

In February of 1917, Tsar Nicholas was forced to abdicate. Russia became a democratic Republic led by the socialist Alexander Kerensky. The Tsar and his family were taken into custody with the expectation that they would eventually be exiled. Probably due to Rothschild’s influence, Britain, the Tsar’s supposed “ally,” refused to grant asylum to the Romanov family.

In October of that same year, the Bolsheviks staged a second revolution. Kerensky was overthrown and the Bolsheviks seized the city of St. Petersburg. Their dictatorial power-grab would trigger a civil war. When the Tsar and his family fell into Bolshevik hands, efforts to exile the Romanovs ceased.

The Royal Family was marked for death. As a boy, Tsar Nicholas had witnessed the bombing murder of his grandfather, Alexander II, in 1881. The same fate now awaited him and his beautiful family.
On the evening of July 16/17, 1918, the Romanov Family was awakened at 2AM, told to dress, and then herded into the cellar of the house in which they were being held. Moments later, Bolshevik killers stormed in and gunned down the entire family, their doctor, and three servants. Some of the Romanov daughters had to be stabbed and clubbed to death after initial gunfire had failed to kill them. News of the brutal murder of the Romanovs sent shock waves throughout Russia, and all of Christian Europe.

For the next 4 years, a civil war between the Reds and the “Whites” raged throughout Russia. Against this backdrop, the Communist International, known as “The Comintern”, was established in Moscow. The Comintern stated openly that its intention was to fight "by all available means, including armed force, for the overthrow of the international "bourgeoisie" (the entrepreneurial class) and for the creation of an international Soviet republic (world government)."

To win the Civil War, the Reds used strategic terror to intimidate their White adversaries into submission. On orders from Lenin and Trotsky, the "Red Terror" was announced by Yakov Sverdlov. The Terror was marked by mass arrests in the middle of the night, executions, and hideously creative tactics of torture. As many as 100,000 Russians were brutally tortured and murdered during the Red Terror, carried out by the ‘Cheka’ (secret police).

Lenin and Trotsky’s oppression of the Russian people broke their strength and will to resist the Reds. The Famine of 1921 was partly due to the folly of central economic planning, as well as to a deliberate effort to kill off any Russians still not willing to support the Red takeover.

The Communists-Bolsheviks had run the money-printing presses to finance their civil war and welfare schemes. When inflation followed, they imposed price controls -- causing farmers to lose money by farming. The shortages were compounded by the Reds’ seizure of seeds and food. The horrific famine was then used to selectively feed those regions submissive to the Reds, and starve out those loyal to the White factions.

Hungry Russians and Ukrainians resorted to eating grass and even cannibalism. The horror escalated when Lenin deliberately blocked foreign relief efforts. When the death toll reached 8-10 million, (1) Lenin finally relented. Were it not for the mostly American aid, the death toll for Lenin and Trotsky’s cruel folly might have doubled or tripled.

The demoralizing terror took a heavy psychological toll on the frightened people of the former Russian Empire. By 1922, many will have been broken into total submission to the Red monsters of the dreaded Cheka. At the conclusion of the Red Terror, Red Famine, and Red-White Civil War; Lenin and Trotsky formally established the Soviet Union with its capital city in Moscow. The former Russian Empire was now also known as the USSR (Union of Soviet Socialist Republics).

The Communist giant spanned the Eurasian landmass. Of its multi-ethnic "republics," the Russian republic was by far the largest and most populated. The well-known criminal brutality of the Soviets shocked the world, as did the bold Communist declarations to overthrow all other nations from within -- including the United States. For these reasons, three consecutive American Presidents (Harding, Coolidge, Hoover), all refused to diplomatically recognize the Soviet Union. It was not until 1933 that President Franklin D Roosevelt, with strong support from the NY Times & Washington Post, granted recognition to the Soviet Union.
As Bolshevisim fastened its death-grip over Russia, the parallel movement known as Globalism was gaining added momentum in the West. During this time, the Royal Institute of International Affairs (aka Chatham House) was founded in London and the Council on Foreign Relations (CFR) was established in New York City -- with “Father of the Federal Reserve” Paul Warburg serving as the CFR’s first Director. To this day, these influential “think tanks” work toward global economic and political integration. To that end, these same players set up the League of Nations (forerunner of the United Nations) soon after the end of World War I.

"Chatham House Rules" of secrecy govern the members of both of these exclusive clubs. Membership is by invitation only. Members may discuss generalities of group meetings, but are expected to remain discreet concerning who attends the meetings and what is said.

Up until the present day, the membership roster of the CFR & Chatham has consisted of top names from politics, media, banking, business, and academia. Membership has included Finance Capitalists, Communists, “Neo-Conservatives,” ambitious careerists, and starry-eyed academic types. The chosen few recruited by these Globalist groups often find themselves on a fast track to greater fame and fortune. Prior to the actual establishment of the CFR, these Globalists had worked to destroy the Tsar. Today, their successors seek to destroy Putin.

1: The USSR was born out of mass murder and terror
2: The 15 Soviet Republics span Eurasia
3: The New York based Council on Foreign Relations worked to establish positive relations with the new Soviet Union.
CHAPTER 3
The Rise of Stalin

After Lenin’s death in 1924, Joseph Stalin, Secretary of the Communist Party Central Committee, skillfully outmaneuvered Red Army leader Lev Trotsky to take leadership of the USSR. Stalin later expelled Trotsky from the Party and then from the USSR itself. Finally, he had his Marxist rival axed through his brain by a Soviet agent in Mexico.

The Stalin-Trotsky rivalry was more than just about power. The two Reds held conflicting and irreconcilable visions. For Trotsky, world revolution was the primary and immediate goal. Stalin on the other hand put forth a theory known as “Socialism in One Country.” This policy held that given the defeat of all Communist revolutions in Europe in 1917–1921, except Russia's, the Soviet Union should strengthen itself internally.

This was a shift from the previously held Marxist position that socialism must be established globally and was in opposition to Trotsky’s theory of permanent revolution. “Socialism in One Country” maintained that socialism can exist within a single country despite a capitalist global market. In short, Trotsky was a Globalist Communist, whereas Stalin was a Nationalist Communist. Stalin did indeed continue to support Communists throughout the world; but his vision of a future world government, if there was ever even to be one, was one in which Moscow reigned supreme, not the big bankers of London and New York.

Stalin’s brutality instilled fear not only in the enslaved people of the Soviet Union, but also in the hearts of fellow Communists that the paranoid Stalin believed could challenge his leadership. The egomaniac renamed a city after himself (Stalingrad), and erected statues of himself in town squares. From time to time, Stalin “purged” many of his own Communist comrades, as well as wives. He dumped his first wife, and drove his second, (as well as one of his sons) to suicide.

In years to come, Stalin’s chilling crimes against humanity will make Lenin’s Red Terror and Red Famine seem like minor infractions by comparison. As part of Stalin’s first “5 Year Plan,” the small farmers of the Soviet Union were forced into a collectivization scheme. The Soviet government controlled production and prices. Land, livestock, and equipment became State property. Reluctant farmers (kulaks) were smeared in the Soviet press as “greedy “capitalists.” Those who continued to resist the state’s directives were murdered or imprisoned in Stalin’s infamous Gulags.

Thousands of private farmers were killed, but the really massive death tolls occurred during the early 1930’s. Like all centrally planned economic schemes in which “experts” think they know better than the actual farmer, Stalin’s collectivization schemes yielded low living standards for the Soviet people.

Recall our earlier discussion of the 340 ft. tall Cathedral of Christ the Savior Church in Moscow? Commissioned by Alexander I, it had taken more than 40 years to build and decorate its marble, granite, and gold plated interior. In 1931, the anti-Christian Soviets chose the location of the Cathedral to be the site of a monument to Lenin & Communism known as the Palace of the Soviets. On December 5, 1931, by order of Stalin's minister and brother-in-law, Lazar Kaganovich, the Cathedral was dynamited and reduced to rubble. Russian Christians grieved in silence over the cruel destruction of their religious and cultural icon.

Ironically, due to poor planning and lack of funds, the Palace of the Soviets never materialized. The site was turned into a huge swimming pool instead. We will once again return to the site of Christ the Savior Cathedral, later on in the narrative.

In 1932, the same Lazar Kaganovich, (The Wolf of the Kremlin) initiated a deliberate famine targeting farmers of the Ukrainian Republic of the Soviet Union. The Holodomor (Ukrainian translation ‘Killing by hunger’) was caused partly by the folly of Stalin's latest communist scheme, and partly due to a deliberate, strategic terror plan engineered by Kaganovich.

Encyclopedia Britannica estimates that 7-8 million people, 5 million of them Ukrainian, were starved to death by Stalin's famine. (1) Some estimates run as high as 10 million. The famine-genocide was aimed at starving anti-communist peasants in Ukraine, Belarus, Kazakhstan and Russia itself.

Unlike the Lenin / Trotsky terror famine of 1921, this time around there would be no outside assistance permitted into the Soviet Union. Millions died a slow death as people resorted to cannibalism. With this famine, Stalin and his henchmen destroyed any last remaining resistance to the Red Revolution.
Despite Soviet denials of the famine, and a news blackout in most of the Western press, the truth of the Holodomor was indeed known to America’s financial, academic, journalist, and political elite. Due to their sympathies towards the misguided ideal of Marxism-Globalism, major American press outlets such as The New York Times, RCA-NBC Radio and CBS Radio turned a blind eye to Stalin’s brutality. Rather than condemn Stalin, much of the Western intelligentsia longed for the opportunity to partner up with the Soviet Union and build a more integrated “New World” together.

Aleksandr Solzhenitsyn, the revered literary giant and survivor of Stalin’s Gulag, sheds some much needed light on the West’s complicit silence towards Bolshevik atrocities:

“You must understand. The leading Bolsheviks who took over Russia were not Russians. They hated Russians. They Hated Christians. Driven by ethnic hatred they tortured and slaughtered millions of Russians without a shred of human remorse... More of my countrymen suffered horrific crimes at their blood-stained hands than any people or nation ever suffered in the entirety of human history.

It cannot be overstated. Bolshevism committed the greatest human slaughter of all time. (emphasis added)

The fact that most of the world is ignorant and uncaring about this enormous crime is proof that the global media is in the hands of its perpetrators.” (2)

Digressing a moment from Stalin, it is critical that we again reinforce the fact that this movement to create an economically and politically integrated world is not so much a “conspiracy theory” as it is an open secret. Indeed, in 1928, famed British writer H G Wells authored a book on the subject entitled, The Open Conspiracy: Blue Prints for a World Revolution. The well-connected author of War of the Worlds, Time Machine, and The Invisible Man, then followed up on this theme in 1939, with another non-fiction treatise entitled, The New World Order.

Unlike most Globalists, Wells, a member of Britain’s elite Fabian Society, spoke openly about his utopian dream. Wells revealed:

“This new and complete Revolution we contemplate can be defined in a very few words. It is outright world socialism; scientifically planned and directed” (3)

Wells continues: “The term ‘Internationalism’ has been popularized in recent years to cover an interlocking financial, political, and economic world force for the purpose of establishing a World Government.” (4)

Countless similar quotes, from some of the biggest political, financial, artistic, literary and scientific luminaries the 20th century would be enough to fill an entire volume. There is simply no denying the existence of this self-perpetuating drive towards the centralization of Global economic and political power.

This is certainly not to suggest that every starry-eyed idealist promoting this vision is an evil conspiratorial bloodsucker, though some indeed are. The vision of a peaceful world where diverse nations come together to facilitate travel, commerce and ideas among themselves is a noble ideal -- one that Putin himself shares, by the way. The problem with the New World Order that has been advancing over the past century is that it works towards an intense Global centralization of financial, political, cultural and military power that will ultimately reduce all peoples into a proletarian mass of rootless, cultureless, alienated worker-bee tax & debt slaves -- New York City writ large.

The New World Order isn’t going to be a bunch of diverse young people standing in an open field happily singing “I’d like to buy the world a Coke.” That may be the romantic delusion of many good people, but it is indeed a delusion and a dangerous one at that. Wells’ NWO is about super centralized power, plain and simple. Keep this Globalist theme in your memory bank, because it will come back into play when future events, and ultimately Mr. Putin himself, are re-introduced later on in the narrative.
1 & 2: Stalin didn’t like Trotsky’s Globalism, so he “whacked” him.
3 & 4: Lazar Kaganovich dynamited Christ the Savior Cathedral.

5: Stalin & Kaganovich deliberately engineered the Ukrainian genocide famine.
6 & 7: HG Well’s 2 books argue for Trotskyite style Global integration.
CHAPTER 4

World War II

By August of 1939, Germany and Poland appeared to be heading towards war over the harsh treatment of ethnic Germans living in the disputed territory taken from Germany after World War I. Behind the Poles stood the British-French alliance. And behind that, from “across the pond,” stood the ostensibly “neutral” US President, Franklin D Roosevelt (distant cousin of Teddy).

German leader Adolf Hitler understood how British & French intrigue could again entangle Germany into a destructive two-front war (as had happened during World War I). To alleviate the threat in the east, German Foreign Minister Ribbentrop and Russian foreign Minister Molotov signed the Molotov-Ribbentrop Non-Aggression Pact. Hitler despised Stalin, but he wanted to keep the peace with the USSR so that Britain and France could be held in check. Western Globalists were disappointed that Stalin had agreed to a Non-Aggression Pact with Germany. But Stalin had his own plans, and his own timetable. Rather than fight Germany now, Stalin wanted Germany and the Anglo-French Alliance to fight each other first; in preparation for the day when his Red Army could then march into all of Continental Europe.

War between Germany and Poland broke out in September of 1939. With the Polish army being routed by the advancing Germans in the west, Stalin cleverly broke the 1932 Soviet-Polish Non-Aggression Pact. While fighting the Germans, Poland was stabbed in the back as Soviet forces poured in from the east. Soviet NKVD units carried out ghastly massacres -- the most infamous being the Katyn Forest Massacre, in which 10,000 Polish Army officers were rounded up and shot in the head.
Just two months after swallowing a piece of Poland, Stalin launched an invasion of Finland. As he had with Poland, Stalin broke another 1932 Non-Aggression Pact he had agreed to -- the Soviet-Finnish Non-Aggression Pact. The Soviet invasion of Finland was massive, with 21 Soviet divisions consisting of 450,000 Red Army troops. (1) Stalin had expected to overwhelm Finland in a matter of weeks, but the brave and outnumbered Finns staged a heroic defense of their homeland. The Winter War turned out to be an embarrassment for Stalin. A treaty was signed the following March, but the Finns were forced to give up 10% of their territory.

There were subsequent invasions of Latvia, Lithuania, Estonia, and eastern Romania. And yet, the sympathetic Western press remained relatively silent. The Globalists seemed more upset over the fact that Stalin refused to join Britain and France in the war against Germany than they were over the Soviet Union’s own aggression!

During the spring of 1941, with Germany and Britain fighting each other in the air, at sea and now in Northern Africa, Stalin had quietly massed his Red Army along Germany’s eastern frontier, near the Romanian oil fields that supply Germany. Hitler grew suspicious of Stalin’s intentions. Stalin had already broken two non-aggression pacts -- one with Poland and another with Finland. Soviet invasions of the Baltic States, and eastern Romania offered still more proof of what Stalin was capable of. Adding to the suspicions was the fact that an enormous build up of men and material was continuing to gather just inside of Russia’s border with German-held territory. With Germany distracted and overstretched, Stalin was in position to menace all of Europe.

In June of 1941, Germany unleashed “Operation Barbarossa” -- the invasion of the Soviet Union. Like an NFL football team just burned by their own attempted “blitz,” the Red Army was caught tightly bunched up into offensive positions (no strategic layers of depth). Within a matter of just weeks, millions of Soviet troops were taken prisoner and the devastating loss of weaponry and equipment left the Red Army neutralized. Up to 65% of all Soviet tanks, field guns, machine guns, and anti-tank guns were either destroyed or captured as the Germans routed the Reds all the way back to the outskirts of Moscow, liberating the cheering Ukrainian and Baltic peoples along the way.

It was only the onset of the brutal Russian winter that forced the Germans to pause their stunning offensive. Hitler would later explain his decision to invade the USSR thusly:

"Already in 1940 it became increasingly clear from month to month that the plans of the men in the Kremlin were aimed at the domination, and thus the destruction, of all of Europe. I have already told the nation of the build-up of Soviet military power in the East during a period when Germany had only a few divisions in the provinces bordering Soviet Russia. Only a blind person could fail to see that a military build-up of world-historical dimensions was being carried out. And this was not in order to protect something that was being threatened, but rather to attack that which seemed incapable of defense ... I may say this today: Of the wave of more than 20,000 tanks, hundreds of divisions, tens of thousands of artillery pieces, along with more than 10,000 airplanes, had not been kept from being set into motion against the Reich, Europe would have been lost.” (2)

With the Soviet Union facing swift defeat at the hands of Hitler’s forces, President Franklin D Roosevelt moved quickly to rescue Stalin's regime. FDR released Soviet assets that had been symbolically frozen after Stalin’s attack on Finland in 1939, enabling the Soviets to immediately purchase 59 Fighter aircraft. The Lend-Lease program which supplied Britain with arms was now expanded to include the USSR.
By 1945, the staggering amount of Lend-Lease deliveries to Stalin amounted to 11,000 aircraft, 4,000 bombers, 400,000 trucks, 12,000 tanks and combat vehicles, 32,000 motorcycles, 13,000 locomotives and railway cars, 8,000 anti-aircraft cannons, 135,000 submachine guns, 300,000 tons of explosives, 40,000 field radios, 400 radar systems, 400,000 metal cutting machine tools, several million tons of food, steel, other metals, oil and gasoline, chemicals etc. (3)

Without this enormous infusion of US aid to Stalin, the Germans could have finished off the USSR after the spring thaw of 1942. In addition to the direct military aid, Stalin would benefit immensely from America’s entry into the war after Japan (Germany’s ally) attacked the US Naval Base in Pearl Harbor on December 7, 1941. This “infamous” event was deliberately provoked by FDR so that America could finally be dragged into the conflict. FDR’s treachery is not a “conspiracy theory” It’s a demonstrable fact. Look it up. (4)

To make a long story short, the industrial might of the United States, coupled with the limitless manpower and tenacity of the Soviet Union, would prove too much for Germany (and Japan) to withstand. World War II ended in Europe with the Soviet capture of Berlin in May of 1945 -- an event facilitated by General Eisenhower’s order to stop General Patton’s advance from the West.

Under explicit encouragement from Moscow, criminal elements of the Red Army and NKVD Security forces went on to gang-rape an estimated 2,000,000 East German women and girls. (5) This ghastly crime was, for the most part, covered up by the US press and later erased entirely by the Orwellian Court-Historians of Western academia.

The fighting in the Pacific ended soon after two atomic bombs were dropped on Japan in August of that same year. On the very day of the 2nd atomic bombing (Nagasaki), the opportunistic Stalin broke the Soviet-Japanese Non Aggression Pact of 1941 -- marching into Japanese held Manchuria and claiming strategic territory. The Soviets also occupied the northern half of Korea, with the advance blessing of the US. This eventually led to the Korean War.

All of the nations involved in World War II suffered huge losses, with Germany and the USSR losing the most. In Russia, the war against Germany, just like the war against Napoleon, came to be known as “The Great Patriotic War.” In spite of Stalin’s lack of popularity in modern day Russia, the Russian people remain proud of their victory. The fact that Stalin’s own aggressive ambitions were responsible for inviting the German invasion is generally not well understood; even in the West.

In all countries, and in all ages, historical myths die hard.

1: Hitler & his Generals suspected that Stalin was about to invade Europe
2: The attack on Pearl Harbor brought America into the war, and to Stalin's rescue.
3: Alaska monument commemorates the Lend Lease arms & supplies shipped from Alaska through Siberia.
SECTION 2

FROM THE COLD WAR THROUGH THE YELTSIN YEARS
CHAPTER 5
The Cold War

Throughout World War II, America, Britain and the Soviet Union cooperated very closely. During the late war conferences, in which the post-war world was already being designed, enormous concessions were made to Stalin. With so much of Europe in ruins, the “Master Plan” plan was for the Western Globalists to establish the blueprint for a European Federation that would emerge decades later. The giant oak tree that we now know as the modern day European Union actually started out as a tiny acorn embedded within the CFR’s Marshall Plan -- the post war “recovery package” for Western Europe. (1) It was also during this period that the US Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) was established. American foreign aid and CIA foreign intrigue have dominated Western European affairs ever since.

In the East, it was agreed that the nations now under Soviet occupation (Eastern Germany, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria, Romania, Albania, Yugoslavia and Hungary) would, in time, hold elections and eventually be brought into “the community of European nations” as well. The naïve Globalists were expecting the post-war New World Order to be a smooth and easy parliamentary marriage between the Reds of the East and the Pinks of the West.

But trouble soon arose on the way to One World Socialist paradise. You see, Stalin was not one to take orders from the London-New York syndicate. This intramural conflict of Global visions goes back to the Stalin-Trotsky conflict we visited earlier. There would be no “democratic socialism” in Eastern Europe like there was to be in the West. One by one, under Stalin’s guidance, the nations of Eastern Europe became Communist dictatorships -- vassal states of the Kremlin in Moscow.

The western Globalists were disappointed over Stalin’s Soviet Nationalism. Another shooting war in 1947 was simply not an option. And thus began the “Cold War” -- an international rivalry between two competing, imperialistic “Mafia families.” Contrary to the childish popular Western narrative, this second Cold War (the first one being “The Great Game” against Tsarist Russia), was not at all a contest between “Capitalism” and “Communism,” or “the good guys” vs “the bad guys” (though Stalin and friends certainly were bad-asses!)

Indeed, some of the most fanatical Cold Warriors of the West would be as left-leaning as Kark Marx himself ever was! Veteran Left Wing “cold warrior” Globalists such as George Soros and Zbigniew Brzezinski were motivated solely by a desire to subdue Eurasia. Anti-Communism never had anything to do with it.

Adding to the difficulty of confronting Stalin was the fact that so many secret Communists had infested America’s government, media, and academic institutions. Again, this is not “conspiracy theory.” This fact of history, though downplayed, has indeed been confirmed by declassified Army Intelligence reports as well as opened Soviet archives. (2)

When the Globalists thought they could work with the Soviets, they turned a blind eye to the organized Communist infiltration of America’s institutions. After all, the Globalists shared most of the same ideas and beliefs as Stalin’s little agents did. So why bother stopping them?

With a powerful military occupying Eastern Europe and so many friends and loyalists in the West, Stalin and the Soviet Union were here to stay. Thus was born the strategy known as “containment” -- a 1947 policy hatched by George Kennan of the Council of Foreign Relations. Now, let this next quote sink in because it’s critically important to understanding current world events. Kennan, perhaps the preeminent CFR foreign policy giant of the 20th century, wrote:

“The main element of any United States policy toward the Soviet Union must be that of a long-term, patient but firm and vigilant containment of Russian expansive tendencies.”

To that end, Kennan called for countering the USSR through the “adroit and vigilant application of counter-force at a series of constantly shifting geographical and political points, corresponding to the shifts and maneuvers of Soviet policy.”

Such a policy, Kennan predicted, would “promote tendencies which must eventually find their outlet in either the break-up or the gradual mellowing of Soviet power.” (3) (emphasis added)
In other words, what Kennan was saying to his fellow Globalists was this:

“Boys. We need to deal with reality here. We’re in for a very long struggle; maybe 30 or even 40 years. The only way we can conquer the Soviets is to surround them externally, and subvert them internally.” (author’s words, not Kennan’s)

1: The Cold War was born when Stalin decided to keep Eastern Europe
2: Marshal Plan Propaganda posters call for a United Europe
3: Cold War Chess Master Kennan develops a long range plan.

In 1949, the Soviets detonated their first atomic bomb. Now a war with the USSR was really out of the question. Bombing disobedient nations into submission, as was done to Germany, Italy and Japan, was not an option when it came to the USSR. Not when a single Soviet nuke could turn all of London, and eventually New York, into a radioactive wasteland.

In April of that same year, the Western military alliance of NATO (North Atlantic Treaty Organization) was formed. Lord Ismay, the first Secretary General of NATO, once remarked that the purpose of NATO was to “keep the Russians out, the Americans in, and the Germans down.” (4) Certainly, the people of Europe had a legitimate fear of Stalin, and thus, a legitimate need for a defensive alliance. But modern day NATO (US and junior partners) can no longer be called a defensive organization. Just ask Messrs. Hussein & Qaddafi (dead & deader)!

In December of 1949, Stalin’s Chinese agent, Mao Tse Tung, overthrew the Nationalist Chinese government. The following year, North Korea (placed under Stalin’s control after World War II), warred against South Korea (an American vassal). The Korean War would last 3 years and cost about 50,000 American lives.
Joseph Stalin died in 1953. Some Russian historians believe that he was poisoned by some of his underlings, who no doubt breathed a huge sigh of relief when the paranoid old tyrant finally “kicked the bucket.”

Nikita Khrushchev was then named as First Secretary of the Communist Party, and later, Premier. Khrushchev was responsible for the partial “de-Stalinization” of the Soviet Union -- a series of relatively liberal reforms in areas of domestic policy. Khrushchev was still a thug who had faithfully served the Stalin-Kaganovich death cult, but when compared to his brutal predecessor, Nikita was a pussy-cat. As a historical figure, Stalin slowly but surely began to fall out of favor in Khrushchev’s Russia. Even by Soviet standards, “Uncle Joe” was simply too much of a beast.

Digressing from the Cold War for a moment, in 1954, Khrushchev made the purely symbolic public relations gesture of internally transferring the Crimean peninsula from the Soviet Russian Republic to the Soviet Ukrainian Republic. The transfer was meant as a show of respect and friendship for Russia’s Ukrainian brothers. But the Crimea, historic home of Russia’s Black Sea fleet, was and still is predominantly Russian. As you can guess, this event will also be revisited later on in the narrative.

During the 1950’s, Senator Joseph McCarthy (R-WI) launched his crusade to expose the Communist infiltration of the American government. McCarthy gained a huge national following of both Republicans and Democrats. At first, when his investigations were limited to just lower and mid-level Soviet agents, McCarthy was tolerated by America’s Globalist ruling class. But when the Junior Senator from Wisconsin began peeling back the onion, and suggesting that higher powers had actually allowed the infiltration to take place for their own domestic purposes, the Piranha Press turned on McCarthy with a vengeance. Ultimately, it wasn’t Soviet-backed secret Communists who destroyed McCarthy. It was the Globalists -- President Dwight D. Eisenhower foremost among them, albeit from “behind the scenes.”

Near the end of the Cold War Presidency of Eisenhower (“Ike”), at a time when Soviet leader Khrushchev was set to begin high level peace talks with European and American leaders, one of the CIA’s U2 spy planes was shot down over Soviet airspace in 1960. Pilot Francis Gary Powers was then arrested by the Soviets, to be released in a spy swap 2 years later. The incident effectively killed an upcoming summit among Britain, France, the US and the USSR, and put the chill back in “the Cold War” that could have thawed. In all fairness and objectivity, the continuation of the tension was by design, and it wasn’t Russia’s fault.

As Supreme Allied Commander during World War II, Ike’s manifest affinity for Soviet Generals shocked some of Ike’s own staff (especially General George Patton). The Allied Commander had even gone to Moscow, where he was an honored guest at a victory parade and after-party hosted by Stalin himself (5) -- this as Soviet NKVD and Red Army units were gang-raping as many as 2 million helpless women in eastern Germany. (6)

The seeming contradiction between Eisenhower’s unusual camaraderie with the Soviets (and also his latter day destruction of Joe McCarthy), as opposed to his subsequent anti-Soviet Cold War chess moves, is no longer a mystery when we understand what the Cold War was really all about. Again, it was never about “Capitalism” vs “Communism!” The Cold War was all about the post-World War II breakup of a once close relationship between the Globalists and their uppity Soviet partners. The “lovers’ spat” then degenerated into a long range turf war between the Nationalistic Communists of the USSR, and the Globalistic Commie-Capitalists of the West.

The darkest days of the Cold War came during the Cuban Missile Crisis of 1962, after the discovery that the Soviets had deployed nuclear missiles on Fidel Castro’s Communist Island. In response, President John F Kennedy ordered a naval blockade of the island -- a blockade which the Soviets threatened to run. With the world on edge, back-channel negotiations eventually resolved the crisis.
The Soviets agreed to remove their missiles from Cuba in exchange for the US removing its own menacing nuclear missiles from Turkey. It is important to note that the Soviet missiles deployed in Cuba were in response to the American missiles which were first deployed in Turkey.

The Cold War progressed throughout the 60’s with the US fighting the unnecessary war in Vietnam. It was a tragic farce so divisive that it served to undermine the domestic peace of America. Believing that they were rebelling against “The Powers That Be,” many idealist college kids and war protesters turned “radical left” – exactly where “The Powers That Be” wanted them to go!

The 1970’s witnessed a CIA-KGB chess match of proxy wars, disinformation campaigns, murders, and puppet states going at each other. The battle for global influence was played out across Africa, South America, and Asia. Even as the Cold War raged, the new Soviet boss, Leonid Brezhnev, continued to talk and do business with US Presidents Nixon, Ford and Carter.

Years before Ronald Reagan was to arrive on the “world stage,” it appeared as though the Cold War would be a permanent fixture of life that the world had learned to live with. After all, the new Soviets weren’t nearly as bad as Lenin and Stalin were. Furthermore, they certainly weren’t foolish enough to ever pick a fight with the mighty US of A -- let alone launch a suicidal nuclear strike against it. And so, everyone slept a whole lot better than they did during the 50’s and early 60’s.

The two super powers had learned to co-exist, as the western Globalists skillfully used the Soviet nuclear threat as a means to psychologically manipulate their peoples into closer and closer economic-political-military alliances. But few everyday Americans, or Russians for that matter, could ever have imagined that George Kennan’s long term “containment policy” had actually, beneath everyone’s radar, quietly helped to set the stage for the coming catastrophic collapse and disintegration of the Soviet Union -- exactly as the CFR luminary had forecasted in 1947.
1: The NATO war machine started out as a defensive alliance. Today it serves as an offensive force.

2: The Soviet Atomic Bomb changed the rules of the game.

3: Joe McCarthy was onto something much bigger than a few Reds in the government.

1: The Cuban Missile crisis was caused by US missiles being deployed on Russia’s doorstep.

2: The Globalists skillfully used discontent over their Vietnam War to steer starry-eyed college kids towards “One Worldism” - John Lennon’s Imagine: “Imagine there’s no countries...a Brotherhood of man...I hope someday you’ll join us, and the world will live as one.”

3: Brezhnev (I) eventually succeeded Khrushchev
CHAPTER 6

Jimmy Carter’s Dirty War

Popular mythology holds that the anti-Communist President Ronald Reagan “won the Cold War” after the “soft-on-Communism” President Jimmy Carter had nearly lost it. In reality, the foreign policy which ultimately undermined the USSR operated independently of whatever powerless front man sat in the White House. Presidents come and go every four or eight years. But operatives such as Kennan, Kissinger, Rumsfeld, Brzezinski, Schultz, Baker etc. linger around in “public service” for decades.

Standing above those big names, certain financial and media dynasties have influenced American politics for a whole century, or more! The House of Rockefeller, which donated the land upon which the United Nations was built, has been promoting Globalism since about the turn of the 19th century. The same goes for the House of Sulzberger-Ochs (New York Times owners since 1896), the House of Meyer-Graham (Washington Post owners from 1933 -2013), and the arch-Billionaire Globalists of them all, the anti-Russian House of Rothschild, which bankrolled Britain’s war against Napoleon more than 200 years ago, as well as the movement which eventually brought about the establishment of “the State of Israel.”

Add to the “club” newer activist billionaires such as George Soros, Mike Bloomberg, Ted Turner, Pierre Omidyar, Sheldon Adelson, Bill Gates and some counterparts in Europe and you have the makings of a vast international network of immensely powerful Global manipulators. So, while small minds are left to passionately bicker about Democrats vs Republicans, or who will be the next President, the Billionaire Boys Club rolls on with its historic utopian agenda of a centralized “Global Village.”
It was during the 1977-1981 presidency of that pious phony Jimmy Carter (CFR) that one of these high-powered operatives sprung one of the many traps aimed at the Soviet Union. The grand project of Carter’s National Security Advisor / handler, Zbigniew Brzezinski (CFR), involved the resurrection of the Afghanistan “Great Game” of the 19th century. Russia’s southern neighbor enjoyed good relations with the USSR. By fomenting an internal CIA coup within Afghanistan, it was hoped that the Soviets would be forced to take the bait and invade.

Awaiting the Soviets was an army of foreign Islamic mercenaries which had been recruited, trained, financed and armed to the teeth by the clandestine services of the US, UK and Saudi Arabia. The Soviets were set up to be slowly bled, both physically and financially. This is not a speculative accusation. It is indeed the true story of the Afghan War. Hear it as told by Brzezinski himself in a 1998 interview with the French publication Le Nouvel Observateur:

Question: The former director of the CIA, Robert Gates, stated in his memoirs ["From the Shadows"], that American intelligence services began to aid the Mujahadeen in Afghanistan 6 months before the Soviet intervention. In this period you were the national security adviser to President Carter. You therefore played a role in this affair. Is that correct?

Brzezinski: Yes. According to the official version of history, CIA aid to the Mujahadeen began during 1980, that is to say, after the Soviet army invaded Afghanistan, 24 Dec 1979. But the reality, secretly guarded until now, is completely otherwise: Indeed, it was July 3, 1979 that President Carter signed the first directive for secret aid to the opponents of the pro-Soviet regime in Kabul. And that very day, I wrote a note to the president in which I explained to him that in my opinion this aid was going to induce a Soviet military intervention.

Q: Despite this risk, you were an advocate of this covert action. But perhaps you yourself desired this Soviet entry into war and looked to provoke it?

Zbig: It isn't quite that. We didn't push the Russians to intervene, but we knowingly increased the probability that they would.

Q: When the Soviets justified their intervention by asserting that they intended to fight against a secret involvement of the United States in Afghanistan, people didn't believe them. However, there was a basis of truth. You don't regret anything today?

Zbig: Regret what? That secret operation was an excellent idea. It had the effect of drawing the Russians into the Afghan trap and you want me to regret it? The day that the Soviets officially crossed the border, I wrote to President Carter: We now have the opportunity of giving to the USSR its Vietnam War. Indeed, for almost 10 years, Moscow had to carry on a war unsupportable by the government, a conflict that brought about the demoralization and finally the breakup of the Soviet empire.

Q: And neither do you regret having supported the Islamic fundamentalism, having given arms and advice to future terrorists?

Zbig: What is most important to the history of the world? The Taliban, or the collapse of the Soviet empire? (1)

Brzezinski’s maneuver, diabolical as it seems, may indeed sound warranted to some freedom lovers who welcomed the demise of the Soviet Union. But the Global system that Brzezinski’s gang plots to erect in its place, “The New World Order,” is to be no better; just under different management. One need look no further than the overly taxed, overly regulated, overly bureaucratic, overly indebted, open borders and socially declining European Union to get a true glimpse of what “Z-Big” and friends have in store for the whole planet -- if only Mr. Putin and his Chinese ally would allow them to “liberate” it!

As the USSR was being attacked by a proxy war in Afghanistan, its Warsaw Pact allies (Communist East Europe) and even Russia itself were being internally subverted by “dissident” movements heavily funded by George Soros and the US government. The CIA’s “Radio Free Europe” was also used to undermine the Communist regimes. Of course, the West’s efforts at subversion were greatly facilitated by the inefficiencies of the Communist governments themselves. Knowing how much better life was in the West, and yearning to be independent of Moscow, it wasn’t too difficult to attract the good people of Eastern Europe to what purported to be “spontaneous freedom movements.”

In 1980, Carter (or was it Brzezinski?) made the decision to boycott the Summer Olympics, held in Moscow. This dealt a devastating blow not only to Russian prestige, but also to the aspiration of the athletes who had worked so hard to get there.

And finally, the Democrat Carter, with strong support from Republicans, began increasing the budget for the US military. In coming years this would induce the Soviets into another trap; an expensive arms race it could not afford.

1: TIME depicts Soviet Bear stepping into a trap.  2: Brzezinski admits his Islamic proxy army was a trap.  3: Radio Free Europe still targets Russia with CIA propaganda.
CHAPTER 7
The End of the Cold War

Partly due to Carter’s mismanagement of the US economy and partly due to the Israel Lobby’s disgust with his perceived sympathy for the Palestinians, Carter lost his 1982 bid for re-election to the charismatic, anti-Communist ex-Governor of California, Ronald Reagan. As a Hollywood actor during the late 1940’s, Reagan helped to expose some of secret Communists who sought to use the film industry as a medium of propaganda.

Reagan’s anti-communist credentials were impeccable. Who better to not only negotiate an end to the Cold War, but also finish off “the Evil Empire” once and for all? Brzezinski was gone, but fellow CFR members George Schultz, Caspar Weinberger, and Alexander Hague simply continued the Carter-Brzezinski policy, just under Reagan’s name instead. Kennan, Kissinger, Brzezinski, Schultz – it’s all the same game.

The Reagan administration increased the pressure by providing shoulder-fired stinger missiles to the Mujahedeen “rebels” in Afghanistan, teaming up with the Polish Pope John Paul II to incite anti-Communist rebellion in Poland, and financing the space-based anti-missile system nicknamed “Star Wars.” The Soviets went “ballistic” (pun intended), but there was nothing they could do.

In 1985, the reform-minded Mikhail Gorbachev was named General Secretary of the Soviet Union. The late 1980’s witnessed the sudden rise of previously underground protest movements bubbling up to the surface, aided and abetted by the West and its agents within those countries. The Afghan bloodbath was in its 7th year, the heavily centralized Soviet economy was struggling, and the people themselves were losing faith.

Gorbachev committed to a program of internal liberalization. He also signaled his desire to negotiate a massive missile reduction treaty with the West and to get out of Afghanistan. Reagan was ready and eager to make a historic deal when the two leaders met in Iceland (Reykjavik Summit). Gorbachev proposed a 50% initial reduction in the nuclear arsenals of each side. The catch was that the US had to abandon its missile defense program. This was not an unreasonable offer on “Gorby’s” part. After all, from the Russian point of view, an American space-based system could spell doom for the Soviet Union as it would no longer be able to respond to a potential American first strike.

Reagan’s Globalist and Neo-Con handlers would have none of it. The space-based SDI program (Strategic Defense Initiative) was what they hoped to one day bring any nuclear capable nation to its knees with. Keep this obsession with “missile defense” in your memory bank, for it will come back into play, later on in the narrative.

The Summit ended in failure, but the two leaders met again the following year to reduce their respective missile counts in Europe. A close camaraderie developed between the two historic leaders who sincerely wanted peace for their respective nations. Unfortunately, neither Reagan nor Gorbachev was ever really in control of “the end of the Cold War.” It was still George Kennan’s legacy calling the shots, whether Reagan realized it or not.

The honorable and popular, Ronald Reagan exited the world stage in January 1989 and was succeeded by his Vice President, the duplicitous CFR Globalist and former CIA chief, George Bush (Bush 41).

June of 1989 saw anti-Communist candidates win numerous victories in newly democratic Poland. This sparked a series of peaceful Soros/CIA “Velvet Revolutions” in Eastern Europe. The tactics of Poland’s “Solidarity” movements were repeated in various ways by opposition groups throughout the Eastern Bloc, eventually leading to the dismantling of the pro Soviet Eastern Bloc / Warsaw Pact.

1: The Pope & Reagan assisted the fall of Communism in Eastern Europe.  2: Reagan & Gorbachev had an excellent relationship.  3: Though Gorbachev trusted Reagan, the Russians remained fearful about the future misuse of a US Missile -Defense shield.
April-June of 1989 was also when the Tiananmen Square student upspring took place in China. As was the case with Eastern Europe, legitimate popular discontent was skillfully exploited by CIA operations and Soros money. (1) After 7 weeks, the Chinese government cracked down hard on the protesters. Soros’s organization then shut down and left China.

In November of that same year came the historic fall of the hated Berlin Wall, which had divided the Communist half of the city from the Western half ever since 1961. Divided since the end of World War II, Communist East Germany and democratic West Germany would finally be reunited in 1990.

In return for assurances that the USSR would not oppose German reunification, the Bush gang made an empty promise to Gorbachev. The US claimed that NATO membership would never extend “one inch to the east” to include the nations of Eastern Europe. (2) This was very important to Gorbachev because war with any NATO member means war with all NATO members.

With the Soviet Union facing collapse, Bush and his crew took advantage of their free hand by attacking Iraq (under the false pretext of “freeing Kuwait”) and then imposing crippling sanctions upon the doomed Arab nation. An act of aggression like this would have been unthinkable during the heyday of the Soviet Union. The Gulf War was the first of a series of unchallenged American aggressions that were to take place throughout the 1990’s and early 2000’s.

On Christmas Day 1991, Gorbachev resigned his position as he dissolved the Soviet Union into 15 sovereign Republics: Russia, Ukraine, Belarus, Georgia, Armenia, Latvia, Lithuania, Estonia, Moldova, Uzbekistan, Turkmenistan, Tajikistan, Kazakhstan, Kyrgyzstan and Azerbaijan.

Many of the weak and struggling nations of both Eastern Europe, and what was now the ex-Soviet Union, soon became easy pickings for the Globalists. The entrapment of the Western European nations within the Globalist European Union was already nearing completion. Now, the One Worlders were setting their sights on swallowing up the fresh meat of Eastern Europe, Central Asia, and even Russia itself. For astute observers who truly understood geo-politics, Bush himself “let the cat of the bag” in several addresses to the American public. Here is a sampling of actual Bush quotes, made publicly, from this period:
"Ultimately, our objective is to welcome the Soviet Union back into the world order. Perhaps the world order of the future will truly be a family of nations." (3)

“The world can therefore seize this opportunity to fulfill the long-held promise of a new world order - where brutality will go unrewarded, and aggression will meet collective resistance.” (4)

“Out of these troubled times, our fifth objective, a new world order, can emerge.” (5) ..... "What is at stake is more than one small country; it is a big idea--a new world order where diverse nations are drawn together in common cause.” (6)

Bush’s Secretary of State James Baker (CFR) also spoke openly about the new world economic integration that was now within reach. Baker referred to it as “an architecture stretching from Vancouver to Vladivostok”. For the geographically challenged, Vancouver, Canada represents one of North America’s western most points and Vladivostok represents one of Russia’s eastern most points.

The American public had no idea what this “New World Order” business was all about. But if the reader has been paying attention, he or she should know by now what this ‘Great Game” is about. The Eastern Bloc and the Soviet Union were gone with the wind. Now it was time for the badly weakened new Russian Republic, with its nukes and its vast resources, to be taken out and disintegrated.

Enter Bill Clinton and Boris Yeltsin.

1: The Berlin Wall is no more. Gorbachev agreed to German reunification in exchange for a promise that NATO would not expand eastward.  2: Soon after dissolving the USSR, Gorby retired from politics.  3: Bush 41 spooked a lot of people with his repeated calls for a “New World Order” (advisors later told him to ditch the term).
CHAPTER 8

The Rape of Russia

Bush 41 and Gorbachev exited the world stage during the early 1990’s with Bush losing his 1992 reelection bid to fellow Yale alumnus and CFR member Bill Clinton, and Gorby yielding the reins of the new democratic Russia over to the inept drunkard, Boris Yeltsin.

Bill and Hillary Clinton rode into office on the back of a massive media propaganda push. The themes were “Hope” and “Change” -- mantras repeated over and over again. Behind the empty platitudes, at least in the realm of foreign affairs, lurked the same old Globalist effort to subjugate Russia. During his nomination speech at the 1992 Democrat Convention, Clinton paid homage to his Georgetown University mentor, Professor Carroll Quigley:

“As a teenager I heard John Kennedy’s summons to citizenship. And then, as a student at Georgetown, I heard that call clarified by a professor named Carroll Quigley.” (1)

Days earlier, the Globalist Washington Post had also linked Clinton to Quigley:

“Throughout his (Clinton’s) career he has evoked [Quigley’s lectures] in speeches as the rhetorical foundation for his political philosophy,” (2)

The significance of “Slick Willie’s” prime time shout-out to one of his late idols was not lost on students of the Globalist movement. Back in 1966, Carroll Quigley, who had also taught at Princeton and Harvard, caused quite a stir in the “conspiracy theory” community when he published Tragedy and Hope, a heavy tome in which Quigley boasted of his connections to the ruling class while describing what their hidden plans for the world were.

Tragedy and Hope was written for the academic crowd, and was never intended to be the “whistle-blowing” expose which it soon became. You see, the idealistic Quigley openly supported the utopian concept of a New World Order (the “Hope” in Tragedy and Hope). Here are key excerpts from the work of Clinton’s academic guru:
There does exist, and has existed for a generation, an international network which operates, to some extent, in the way the radical Right believes the Communists act.... I know of the operations of this network because I have studied it for twenty years and was permitted for two years, in the early 1960's, to examine its papers and secret records. I have no aversion to it or to most of its aims and have, for much of my life, been close to it and to many of its instruments. I have objected ... to a few of its policies ... but in general my chief difference of opinion is that it wishes to remain unknown, and I believe its role in history is significant enough to be known.” (Chapter 65)

"The powers of financial capitalism had another far-reaching aim, nothing less than to create a world system of financial control in private hands able to dominate the political system of each country and the economy of the world as a whole. This system was to be controlled in a feudalist fashion by the central banks of the world acting in concert by secret agreements arrived at in frequent private meetings and conferences." (Chapter 20) (emphasis added)

The loose-lipped Professor also revealed the fraud behind America’s “two Party system”. This is a good one!

“The argument that the two parties should represent opposed ideals and policies, one, perhaps, of the Right and the other of the Left, is a foolish idea acceptable only to the doctrinaire and academic thinkers. Instead, the two parties should be almost identical, so that the American people can "throw the rascals out" at any election without leading to any profound or extreme shifts in policy.” (3)

Clinton’s inner circle was filled with Globalist-minded Rhodes Scholars and CFR members. Strobe Talbott, Clinton’s Deputy Secretary of State, was even more outspoken about his commitment to Globalism that Professor Quigley was. In a 1992 Op-Ed piece penned for Time Magazine, Talbott wrote:

“In the next century, nations as we know it will be obsolete; all states will recognize a single, global authority. National sovereignty wasn’t such a great idea after all.” (4)
With these Globalist credentials, it was not surprising that the Clinton team pursued “the agenda” as aggressively as any of his predecessors. In 1993, Clinton signed the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA). Ostensibly a “free trade” agreement modeled after the old European Common Market, NAFTA, just like the ECM, was really intended to evolve into a regional super bloc of the Americas. It was to start with the US, Canada, and Mexico, and eventually expand into Central & South America. Concerned about the loss of economic & political sovereignty to “los Jankees,” opposition from Brazil, Argentina and Venezuela would, in later years, ultimately kill this grand scheme. (5)

With this “big picture” always in mind, we can better understand what was about to be done to Russia. An entire army of economic hit men, masquerading as “economic advisors,” was dispatched to “help” Russia. Many would actually embed themselves in State offices, from which they would oversee the “shock therapy” and “privatization” schemes which were to soon bring hungry Russians to their knees.

The Wall Street-Harvard colonizers found eager criminal collaborators to work with. This class of white collar criminal came to be known as “The Oligarchs.” The Globalist invaders’ idea of “privatization” was to transfer, all at once and in whole pieces, entire State-owned industries into the hands of their Oligarch partners. Billions of dollars worth of State resources fell into the hands of the ruthless Oligarchs for pennies on the dollar, or even for free! The already struggling Russian State found itself suddenly starved of revenue. When the monetary printing presses were turned to full capacity, inflation inevitably followed.
David Satter, author of Darkness at Dawn: The Rise of the Russian Criminal State, describes the farcical tragedy of “privatization”:

"What drove the process (of privatization) was not the determination to create a system based on universal values but rather the will to introduce a system of private ownership, which, in the absence of law, opened the way for the criminal pursuit of money and power." (6)

In some cases, criminal groups (Russian Mafia) assigned front-men to serve as 'legal' owners of the companies that they secretly controlled. During Yeltsin's presidency, the Oligarchs became increasingly influential in politics and played a significant role in financing the re-election of Yeltsin in 1996. With the insider information about financial decisions of the government, the Oligarchs could easily increase their wealth exponentially. A few even furthered their influence by buying up Russian media.

Extreme lawlessness and political corruption reigned in Russia. By the late 1990’s, old pensioners had been wiped out, birth rates were plummeting, vulnerable children and elderly were dying of malnutrition, the health care system was deteriorating, alcoholism was running rampant, and suicide rates were spiking. Demographers estimate that as many as 2 million vulnerable Russians died during these dark years.

Understandably, many Russians came to curse this bastardized version of “capitalism” and longed for a return to the old system. In spite of the old Soviet Union’s inefficiencies and modest living standards, no one went hungry. This was not so under the rule of the Oligarchs and their easily manipulated drunken patsy, Boris Yeltsin.

Russian sentiments towards the Oligarchs were well expressed in the London Guardian; which described the Oligarchs as being "about as popular with your average Russian as a man idly burning bundles of £50s outside an orphanage". (7)

The most influential Oligarchs from the Yeltsin era were Boris Berezovsky, Alexander Smolensky, Mikhail Khodorkovsky, Alex Konanykhin, Mikhail Fridman, Anatoly Chubais, Vladimir Gusinsky, Vitaly Malkin and Vladimir Potanin. These financial gangsters controlled metals, oil, natural gas, timber, coal, manufacturing, government and much more -- raking in billions as many citizens of oil-rich Russia went without heat during the winter. Hungry families were forced to move in together with strangers. Criminality was rampant.
There is simply no exaggerating the severity of the Russian collapse. Russia under the Ivy League-Oligarch Alliance was reduced to an absolute basket case. But that wasn’t the half of it. In addition to the rape of Russia’s economy and natural resources, the NATO war machine and its proxies were to soon encroach upon the borders of the slowly dying Russian nation, and even within Russian itself.

1: Time Mag: “Yanks to the Rescue” With friends like that who needs enemies? 2: The lovable old drunk Yeltsin was no match for the Wall Street-Oligarch-Russian Mafia Axis 3: Satter’s ‘Darkness at Dawn’ documents the sad tale of: “a country impoverished and controlled at every level by organized crime”.

CHAPTER 9

NATO’s Encirclement of Russia

With Russia prostrate and weak, NATO was free to throw its weight around as it pleased. During the mid 1990’s, Yugoslavia was subdued by heavy NATO bombardment.

In 1998-1999, NATO and its proxy terrorist army, the KLA, then succeeded in chipping away the region of Kosovo from Russia’s ally, Serbia. Yeltsin’s demoralized and declining Russia was utterly powerless to prevent these events. The former Yugoslavia has since been chopped up into the US-NATO-EU puppet states of Croatia, Serbia, Kosovo, Bosnia-Herzegovina, Montenegro, Slovenia, and Macedonia. Russia’s former allies would all become Russia’s potential future enemies.

Now, let the upcoming statement of fact penetrate into your brain. For unless you can truly grasp this undeniable reality; a proper understanding of Western hostility towards Vladimir Putin and current events is not possible. Here it is:

The Yugoslavian model of slice, dice, and swallow is precisely what the Globalists envisioned for the dying Russian nation!

One more time:

Understood?

Adding to Russia’s woes was an ‘Afghan style’ guerilla war which “spontaneously” broke out in the Russian territory of Chechnya. Foreign Islamic terrorists joined well-armed domestic guerillas in demanding “independence” from Russia. With so many regions and ethnicities based in the Asian portion of Russia, this separatist movement had to be suppressed. If history is any indication, it is certain that the intelligence agencies of Saudi Arabia were arming and training the Chechen “freedom fighters. Of course, the Saudis don’t do anything without the approval of America’s own clandestine services.

Russia’s “ethnicities problem” was, and still is, a situation which the Globalists have always worked to exploit. You know, the old “Divide & Conquer” routine? The chief strategist behind this insidious pressure tactic was Lev Dobriansky, a Georgetown Professor notorious for his pathological hatred of Russia. In 1967, Dobriansky (CFR) published The Vulnerable Russians, in which he advocated in favor of fomenting ethnic tension within the USSR. He referred to the diverse ethnic makeup of the Caucuses / Central Asian Russia as “weak spots.” (1) It is very telling that Dobriansky, a friend of Brzezinski’s, chose the word “Russians” instead of “Soviets” as part of the book’s title.

These types of Dobrianskyish-Brzezinskish proxy wars remain an important “ethnic weapon” in the West’s arsenal. Proxy wars allow the West to wage war through the buffering layers of Saudi Intelligence and their mercenary “rebels” -- leaving no direct evidence as to who is actually pulling the strings. “Don’t look at me. It’s the Chechens!” The legal term is “plausible denial.” Or, as Mafia hit-man “Willi Cicci” from the classic film, The Godfather, so aptly put it; “Right. Yeah. A buffer. The family had a lot of buffers.”

1: Who armed the Chechen separatists to the teeth? 2&3: Dobriansky (center) holds court. In ‘The Vulnerable Russians”, Dobriansky described multi-ethnic Russian Central Asia as a “weak spot” to be exploited. The ethnicities game is still being played.

Things go from bad to worse for Russia. With the nation dying, Chechnya blowing up, and Yugoslavia disintegrating into Globalist control, the dastardly diplomats of the CFR broke the promise that had been made to Gorbachev -- the one about never expanding NATO so much as “one inch to the East.”
In 1999, Poland, Hungary, and the Czech Republic were swallowed into NATO, amid much debate within the organization itself as well as strong Russian objections. The potential for anti-Russian missile bases and adversarial armies had just taken a giant leap eastward, and there wasn’t a damn thing weakened Russia could do about it.

Russian’s Central Asian frontiers had remained relatively safe, but not for long. Brzezinski and his anti-Russian friends plotted yet another renewal of “The Great Game”. Poor Afghanistan! She is soon to be invaded, again!

The relentless drive to encircle Russia with hostile puppet states, proxy armies and missiles is a grand multi-year project.

In Brzezinski’s 1998 book, The Grand Chessboard, the architect of the Soviet-Afghan proxy war laid out a grand plan for the US to control Central Asia, and presumably set up bases ringing China and Russia. Realizing how difficult it would be to get Americans to support yet another foreign adventure, “Zbig” hinted of a coming “massive external threat” and the “shock effect of Pearl Harbor.”

The arrogant master of the universe wrote:

"...it is imperative that no Eurasian challenger emerges, capable of dominating Eurasia and thus of also challenging America. The formulation of a comprehensive and integrated Eurasian geo-strategy is therefore the purpose of this book.” (2)

"..how America manages Eurasia is critical. A power that dominates Eurasia would control two of the world's three most advanced and economically productive regions. A mere glance at the map also suggests that control over Eurasia would almost automatically entail Africa's subordination, rendering the Western Hemisphere and Oceania (Australia) geopolitically peripheral to the world's central continent. About 75 per cent of the world's people live in Eurasia, and most of the world's physical wealth is there as well, both in its enterprises and underneath its soil”. (3)

"...To put it in a terminology that harkens back to the more brutal age of ancient Empires, the three grand imperatives of imperial geo-strategy are to prevent collusion and maintain security dependence among the vassals (puppets), to keep tributaries pliant and protected, and to keep the barbarians from coming together. (4)

Brzezinski then laments the problem in accomplishing these ambitious goals:

“America may find it difficult to fashion consensus on foreign policy, except in the circumstance of a truly massive external threat.” (5) (emphasis added)

And further adds:

"The attitude of the American public toward the projection of power has been ambivalent. The public supported America's engagement in World War II because of the shock effect of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor.” (6)

So, in simpler terms, what Z-Big is telegraphing to his fellow Ruling Class CFR members and Globalist ‘wannabees’ is this:

“Friends! Listen up! We have got to seize control of Central Asia before any other group of nations (Pakistan-China-Russia etc) can gain influence there. The problem is that the American people don’t want another war. But should the proper monster emerge, and in the event that there is another Pearl Harbor, the sheep will then support my Central Asian geo-strategy.” (author’s words, not Brzezinski’s)

Just two years after Brzezinski’s cryptic writing, a group of heavyweight “Neo-Conservatives” (Israel Firsters) issued a similar message. In a report entitled Rebuilding America’s Defenses, the study group known as “The Project for the New American Century” (PNAC) openly called for America to dominate the Middle East and overthrow the government of Iraq. Like Brzezinski, the Neo-Con Globalists also lamented the political challenge of winning popular support for foreign military adventures. And again, just like Brzezinski, the specter of another Pearl Harbor was raised.

The report foretells of a chilling event thusly:
“The process of transformation (taking over the Middle East) is likely to be a long one, absent some catastrophic and catalyzing event—like a new Pearl Harbor.” (7)

(Flash Forward, 2014: Kagan’s wife, Victoria Nuland (Nudelman), will play a major role in bringing about the overthrow of a pro-Russian Ukrainian President in 2014; an event which was to trigger the controversy in Crimea)

Backup again to 1998, the year of Brzezinski’s Grand Chess Board. The “truly massive external threat” that Brzezinski was waiting for was to “coincidentally” emerge right on cue when, on August 7, the US embassies in Kenya and Tanzania were bombed simultaneously. Of the 223 killed, only 12 were Americans, and the rest, Africans. A new "villain" was introduced to the American people, and instantly blamed for the attacks. The public was told that a Saudi Arabian billionaire named Osama Bin Laden and his "Al Qaeda" terrorist network was responsible for the attacks. Osama Bin Laden, who denied any involvement, thus became “the Hitler of the Year.”

In another remarkable “coincidence,” it just so happened that Bin Laden’s mountain hideout was located in, of all places, Afghanistan; south of Russia’s border and smack-dab in the heart of Central Asia.

The embassy bombings made Bin Laden a household name, but they weren’t nearly enough to galvanize public support for a full-scale invasion and permanent occupation of Afghanistan. The final triggering event for Brzezinski’s Central Asian occupation and PNAC’s Middle Eastern invasion will come later on in the never ending suspense movie that we call, “history.”

So, as the tumultuous decade draws to a close, Russia’s economy is in total shambles, the people are depressed and demoralized, a terrorist war rages in Chechnya, NATO is rolling eastward, the Globalists are up to something in Central Asia, and the Neo-Cons are planning to blow up the whole damn Middle East. It seemed as though the state of affairs couldn’t possibly get any worse for Russia. As the pitchman for one of those TV infomercials would say: “But wait. There’s more!” On top of all this bad news, a new kind of “invasion” was about to strike vulnerable Russia.

1: Brzezinski’s ‘The Grand Chessboard’ calls for the domination of Central Asia; suggesting that another “Pearl Harbor” could bring that about. 2: PNAC’s Kagan-Nuland Family called for the domination of the Middle East; also suggesting that a “New Pearl Harbor” could bring that about. 3: Over Russian objections, Bill Clinton signs the 1994 NATO Enlargement Pact.

Attack of the NGO’s

Concurrent with NATO expansion and the CFR-Oligarch financial rape, a host of well funded NGO’s (Non Governmental Organizations) were setting up shop in the new Russia, as well as in the former Republics of the defunct Soviet Union. Billions of dollars were pumped into these subversive organizations with high-sounding names. George Soros, the US State Department, the CIA, and the Oligarchs were all supporting this effort. Any Russian school child now knows this today, but tell it to some “Boobus Ignoramus Americanus” and he may call you a “commie” or, worse yet, a “conspiracy theorist.”

Ostensibly, the purpose of the NGO’s was to promote “western values” and “democracy” and “human rights” to the people of the fledgling Russian nation. Many well-meaning Russian activists flocked to these CIA front groups. After all, who can be opposed to “democracy” and “human rights?” Some shady Russian operatives were also attracted to the NGO’s for other reasons, such as money, or the hope of future political power.

Recall that during the late 1980’s, NGO’s had played a critical role in bringing about the ‘Velvet Revolutions” which brought down the governments of Eastern Europe. The destabilizing power of organized protesters from within plus external pressure from the sanctimonious hypocrites of “the International Community” (bow your head in reverence as you say those words) from without, form a powerful pincer movement that can be just as effective at toppling governments as a military invasion.

Globalist insiders refer to these types of maneuvers as “Soft Power” -- a concept championed during the 1980’s by Professor Joseph Nye (CFR) of Harvard University, and spelled out in his 2004 book, Soft Power: The Means to Success In World Politics. (1)

The tell signs of a “soft power” CIA-NGO engineered “spontaneous” protest / “Color Revolution” may consist of some or all of the following:

- 10’s of 1000’s, or even 100’s of 1000’s of “protesters” appearing out of nowhere
• Professionally made banners, placards, T-shirts, often written in English
• A social media onslaught against the target government (Twitter, Facebook)
• A Hollywood theme (Rose Revolution, Orange Revolution, Tulip Revolution)
• Intense coverage of the protests in the Western media
• An outbreak of violence, trigged by provocateurs, but blamed on the government
• The appearance of fake blood stains on the heads of some “peaceful protesters”
• Plastic “Guy Fawkes” masks (the movie “V for Vendetta”) worn by protesters
• Staged photos of women being pepper-sprayed by uniformed officers
• Images of allegedly battered protesters on the Nightly News
• Calls from the US and EU to stop the abuse of the “peaceful protesters”
• Threats of economic sanctions from the US and EU
• Intense internal & external pressure for the targeted government to step down

Viral ‘Soft Power’ groups invade a targeted nation like a Trojan Horse -- using covers of “humans rights” or “feed the children” or “support democracy.”
Variations of this dirty game have been run, and re-run more times than an old episode of “I Love Lucy.” Thanks to your intrepid author, you will now recognize future episodes of the NGO scam for what they really are.

Some of the “Soft Power” NGO’s that had invaded the weakened Russia included: The National Endowment for Democracy, USAID, The MacArthur Foundation, Amnesty International and the Open Society Foundations of George Soros, just to name but a few. The larger NGO’s in turn funded a network of smaller NGO’s and local activists. Again, not all of the followers of these NGO related groups are bad people or traitors. They don’t need to be in order for the strategy to be effective.

What the string-pullers need is to be able to draw a large number of idealistic dupes (especially stupid college kids!) into their controlled “causes.” When necessary, rent-a-mobs can be mobilized to “take to the streets” or Main Square at any given time. Impressionable, idealistic college students and laborers are usually the most easily manipulated elements of the necessary flash mobs. Only a handful may even be even aware that the mob is being skillfully guided by Intelligence operatives. Those who really believe that they are part of some historic “people power” movement that will “change the world” would never believe you if you told them what fools they were!
1: TIME Magazine named “The Protester” Person of the Year. 2: Ukraine’s ‘Orange Revolution’ of 2004 was eventually reversed, to return with a vengeance in 2014! 3: Silly, idealistic college kids actually believe their generation is “changing the world.”

Like colonies of termites, the NGO’s set about their dirty work of the internal subversion and corruption of Russia. Russian school officials were dismayed upon discovering that new NGO-funded textbooks barely mentioned the historic Battle of Stalingrad, while containing a page on US Presidents instead. (2) These were the types of dirty “pro-democracy” tricks going on inside of Russia. All the while NATO continued rolling eastward and poor Russia continued dying.

On December 31, 1999, Boris Yeltsin unexpectedly resigned after 8 disastrous years in office. He left office with an approval rating as low as 2%! (3) Though a drunkard and a crook, Yeltsin had probably never intended for historic Mother Russia to be destroyed and dismantled in this epic manner. Even a degenerate scoundrel will retain some shred of patriotism. Perhaps to atone for his folly, Yeltsin had pre-positioned a young “straight-arrow” type that he had earlier promoted to be Director of the FSB (Russian Security). The disciplined young patriot would immediately succeed Yeltsin upon his resignation.

PUTIN TO THE RESCUE!
CHAPTER 11

The Rise of Putin

Within 3 months of succeeding Yeltsin, Putin went onto win a special 2000 election with 53% of the vote. Again, there is no exaggerating the degree of the mess which he had inherited. The first order of business for the ex FSB Director and Judo Black Belt was to confront the Oligarchs. Of course, the rookie President was not yet in any position to crush these Western-backed masters of Russia. So he had to play a bit of chess first.

Between 2000 and 2004, the cunning Putin sucked the Oligarchs into his orbit by reaching a “grand-bargain” with them. (1) The deal allowed the Oligarchs to maintain most of their power in exchange for their support and alignment with the new government. As Michael Corleone (played by Al Pacino) said in The Godfather; “Keep your friends close. Keep your enemies closer.” Putin continued to “play ball” with the mighty Oligarchs, patiently counting the days until he would be strong enough to crush them.

In 2001 came the horrific terrorist attacks of 9/11 in New York and DC. As was the case with 1998 African embassy bombings, the new American President, George Bush (43rd), was quick to finger Afghanistan’s guest, Osama Bin Laden, for the attacks. Bin Laden denied any role in the airplane attacks which killed nearly 3000 people. From his Central Asian hideout, Bin Laden issued a statement saying:

"I was not involved in the September 11 attacks nor did I have knowledge of the attacks. There exists a government within a government within the United States. That secret government must be asked as to who carried out the attacks.” (2)

The Globalists had their “Pearl Harbor” moment, and the excuse needed to resume “The Great Game” in Afghanistan. The Israel First “Neo-Conservative” faction of America’s Ruling Class also seized upon the attacks as the pretext for invading Iraq, Israel’s enemy.

Lest the reader reflexively dismiss the pro-Israeli motivation for the Iraq War as being “anti-Semitic”; consider the astute observation of the Jewish journalist of Watergate scandal fame, Carl Bernstein. Speaking before a roundtable panel on MSNBC in 2012, the Washington Post’s legendary scribe stunned his non-Jewish fellow panelists with the following revelation about the Iraq War:

“This was an insane war that brought us low economically, morally. .....We went to war against a guy who had absolutely nothing to do with 9/11. It was a total pretext. It's inexplicable, and there you go to Cheney, there you go to Bush, there you go to the Jewish neo-cons who wanted to remake the world. Maybe I can say that because I'm Jewish. To bring about a certain result...” (3) (emphasis added)

Upon hearing Bernstein’s “politically incorrect” bomb blast, the panelist seated next to Bernstein snapped his head up and turned towards Bernstein with a look of evident surprise. The others nervously froze up and the subject was quickly changed by the moderator. To view this very telling moment, have a look at the You Tube video of it.

“Holy Shit, Carl! Did you just say what I think you did?”

Tempting as it may be, it would be too much of a digression of time and focus to explore some of the gaping holes in the “official version” of the 9/11 attacks. The reader is free to believe what he wants to about the attacks. The essential take-away point which cannot be denied is that the monstrous attacks proved to be heaven-sent (or shall we say ‘hell sent’) for both the Brzezinski wing and the Bush/Cheney Neo-Con wing of America’s foreign policy establishment. The traumatized American public demanded blood, and Bush/Cheney were about to give it to them, and lots of it too.

Years later, the full extent of the crazed ambition behind the Neo-Con scheme was described by General Wesley Clark, former Supreme Allied Commander of NATO Europe. In a 2007 interview, Clark revealed the details of a 2001 conversation he had with one of his former Generals. The unnamed General had direct access to the office of the Secretary of Defense, Donald Rumsfeld. General Clark stated:

“So I came back to see him (the General) a few weeks later, and by that time we were bombing in Afghanistan. I said, “Are we still going to war with Iraq?” And he said, “Oh, it’s worse than that.” He reached over on his desk. He picked up a piece of paper. And he said, “I just got this down from upstairs” — meaning the Secretary of Defense’s office — “today.” And he said, “This is a memo that describes how we’re going to take out seven countries in five years, starting with Iraq, and then Syria, Lebanon, Libya, Somalia, Sudan and, finishing off, Iran.” (4)

By the end of 2001, NATO was already pretending to “hunt for Bin Laden” in the caves of Afghanistan. As he initially did with the Oligarchs, Putin went along with the farce, turning the other cheek as NATO set up shop near his Central Asian border with Afghanistan.

In early 2003, NATO (the US and a small handful of junior partners) terror-bombed and invaded Iraq under the patently false and incredibly idiotic pretext of stopping Saddam Hussein from developing “Weapons of Mass Destruction.” The patient Putin contested the false “WMD’s” claim, but again, he was forced to accept Bush’s unjust war because Russia was still too weak to confront America.
The Neo-Cons unleashed a devastating bombing campaign known as ‘Shock & Awe.’ Images of dead and mutilated civilians were censored by the Western press; as were those of returning US coffins. US puppets then hanged Saddam Hussein and killed or imprisoned many in his government.

But Russia was now strong enough to crush the terrorist “rebels” and foreign mercenaries of Chechnya once and for all. In 2002, 40-50 Chechen terrorists had kidnapped 850 movie goers and threatened to kill them if Putin did not remove his troops from Chechnya. A Russian Alpha group was forced to gas and raid the theater. All of the terrorists were killed as were about 130 hostages. This marked the beginning of the end for the Chechen “rebels.”

In 2003, a referendum was held in Chechnya adopting a constitution which declared the Republic as a part of Russia. Chechnya was gradually stabilized and redeveloped. Parliamentary elections and a regional government were also established. The final victory over the Chechen terror gangs removed a huge problem for the still vulnerable Russian Republic.

With Chechnya off his plate, and his public approval riding high, Putin made his move against the Oligarchs. Oil and media mogul Khodorkovsky was arrested in October 2003 and charged with fraud and tax evasion. Khodorkovsky was also suspected of having ordered several murders, but there was not enough direct evidence to try him for those cases (too many “buffers”).

Khodorkovsky’s partner in crime, Leonid Nezvlin, later fled to Israel. Berezovsky and Gusinsky went into exile, facing prosecution if they ever return to Russia. Putin regained control of stolen enterprises, natural resources, Oligarch media, and all associated tax revenues. Many of the criminal Oligarchs ended up in jail. Those who escaped Sheriff Putin’s justice fled to America, Britain, or Israel. A few other big shots were allowed to hold onto most of their assets; provided that they behave themselves.

1: Judo Master Putin plays coy; keeping the mighty Khodorkovsky close to him and at ease.  2: When the time came, the great Oligarch was arrested at gunpoint and thrown in jail. Putin remarked: "I have eaten more dirt than I need to from that man".

In 2003, the phony NGO driven “Rose Revolution” overthrew a pro Russian government in the former Soviet Republic of Georgia. George Bush was quick to shower America’s newest puppet state with cash and arms.

In 2004 came another eastward expansion of NATO; this time to include some former Soviet Republics right on Russia’s border. Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania, Slovenia, Slovakia, Bulgaria, and Romania were all swallowed up by the US-NATO “Pac-Man” monster. The Russians weren’t happy about this bold move, but again, Putin had to play coy.

In March of that same year, Putin was re-elected with a whopping 71% of the vote. Not only had he pacified Chechnya and cleaned out most of the hated Oligarchs, but his pro-market economic reforms were yielding very positive results. Slowly but surely, Mother Russia was crawling out of the muck and mire which the Western Globalists had skillfully pushed her into.

In late 2004- early 2005, the phony NGO driven “Orange Revolution” overthrew yet another pro Russian government in the former Soviet Republic of Ukraine -- a brotherly nation with a huge Russian-speaking population in its eastern regions.
Again, George Bush 43 was quick to shower America’s newest puppet state with cash and arms.

The patient chess master Putin kept a smile on his face when dealing with the duplicitous George Bush and his diabolical handler, Dick Cheney (a former Director of the CFR). Russia may have been getting back on its feet, but was still not quite strong enough to stand up to the Globalist bully.

1: The Bush backed ‘Rose Revolution’ set up an anti-Russian puppet on Russia’s southern border. 2: The Bush backed ‘Orange Revolution’ set up an anti-Russian puppet on Russia’s western border.
CHAPTER 12

The Russian Revival

It was during Putin’s second term as President (2004-2008) that the results of his studies in Economics really started to blossom. From 2001 to 2007, the economy grew at a rate of 7% per year. Russian Domestic Product (GDP) increased 6 times - climbing up from the 22nd to the 10th largest in the world. Average wages had increased almost tenfold. The percentage of people living below the poverty line was cut in half. Once totaling 150% of GDP, nearly all foreign debt was paid off. Moscow became home to the fastest growing group of millionaires. (1)

Industry grew substantially, as did production, construction, real incomes, credit, and the middle class. Pro-business policies included a flat tax rate of 13%, a 25% reduction in corporate tax rates of tax, and an elimination of the Capital Gains tax for many types of investments.

The tax burden on smaller sized business was also slashed. Indeed, the overall tax burden in Russia is lower than in most European countries. Putin’s government even decriminalized many levels of tax evasion. The State will still collect its money and impose fines of course; but most classes of Russian taxpayers no longer face prison time for tax evasion. (2) The same cannot be said for the US and the EU nations.

A central concept in Putin's economic thinking was the creation of so-called National Champions -- large companies in strategic sectors that are expected not only to seek profit, but also to "advance the interests of the nation." Examples of such companies include Gazprom, Rosneft, and United Aircraft Corporation.

After regaining control from the criminal Oligarchs, a fund for oil revenue allowed Russia to pay off all of its old debts. Putin’s government remains almost debt free. Under Putin, Russia has strengthened its position as the key oil and gas supplier to Europe. Most of the world's largest automotive companies opened plants in Russia, which Putin encouraged via tax incentives as well as some protectionist measures. For these reasons, the legendary American investor Jimmy Rogers, and others, began raving about the potential of the new Russian economy. The savvy Rogers continues to invest heavily in Russia, and recommends that his fans do likewise. (3)
Another big Putin fan is French film superstar Gerard Depardieu (les Miserables, Cyrano de Bergerac). Disgusted with France’s confiscatory Income Tax rate, Depardieu would, in 2012, renounce his French citizenship in order to become “Russian”.

"Merci bocu Vladimir! Thank You!"

1: Russia’s impressive recovery began soon after Putin’s pro-growth policies were put into place. 2: Jimmy Rogers has praised Russia’s (and China’s) embrace of market based economics. 3: Gerard Depardieu fled France’s 75% top tax tier in favor of Russia’s 13% Flat Tax.

Skipping ahead again to 2017, Russians today also benefit from a fast growing private Health Care sector. About 20% of Russians now rely exclusively on high quality private health care, with an additional 60% using private health care for minor office visits and procedures, while saving the more expensive stuff for the inferior State system. (4) What irony! Formerly Communist Russia is now embracing medical free enterprise as Obama’s America rushed headlong into a command and control system.

Putin’s economic philosophy of low taxes, low debt, real privatization, and decentralization is evident in both word and deed. On the dangers of government centralization, Putin has stated:

“In the 20th century, the Soviet Union made the state's role absolute. In the long run, this made the Soviet economy totally uncompetitive. This lesson cost us dearly. I am sure nobody wants to see it repeated.” (5)

On budget deficits:
“The unjustified swelling of the budgetary deficit and the accumulation of public debts are just as destructive as adventurous stock-jobbing.” (6)

On the criminal folly of America’s (Fed’s) ceaseless money printing:

“Look at their (America's) trade balance, their debt, and budget. They turn on the printing press and flood the whole world with government bonds. There is no way we will act this way.... We don’t have the luxury of such hooliganism.” (7)

On the New World Order:

"The UniPolar world refers to a world in which there is one master, one sovereign, one center of authority, one center of force, one center of decision-making. This is pernicious - At its basis there can be no moral foundations for modern civilization.” (8) (emphasis added)

On NGO activity & puppet politicians:

“Direct or indirect external interference in our internal political processes is unacceptable. Any person who receives money from abroad for his or her political activity and by doing so serves alien national interests, cannot be a politician in Russia.” (9)

It is no wonder that the leftover Communists of Russia (about a 15% minority) along with the Western “wannabee” NGO radicals (about a 10% minority) are generally opposed to Putin. With quotes like those listed above, along with actions and results to back them up, one would think that the “free market” Republican Party would love Vladimir Putin. Instead, they (as well as the Democrats) deride him as “ex KGB,” or “a commie,” or a “thug.”

But Putin is not just about “dollars and cents.” He is a man of culture with a grasp of history. As such, he understands the importance of moral underpinnings for a healthy and strong society. Without imposing Russia’s Orthodox Christian heritage upon anyone, Putin has nonetheless worked side-by-side with the Church’s Patriarch to bring about a revival of the institution that had been suppressed for so long. Literally 1000’s of Churches have been rebuilt across Russia.
Putin on Christianity:

"Orthodox Christianity has always played a special role in shaping our statehood, our culture, our morals. The Church may be separate from the State. But in the soul and history of our people, it is all together. It always has been and always will be." (10)

On the West’s moral decline:

“Many Euro-Atlantic countries have moved away from their roots, including Christian values. Policies are being pursued that place on the same level a multi-child family and a same-sex partnership, a faith in God and a belief in Satan. This is the path to degradation.” (11)

On family and population decline:

“It is important that families make that step... I am convinced that the norm in Russia should become a family with three children.” (12)

Indeed, by 2012, Putin’s Russia had reversed its suicidal 25 year depopulation trend and can today boast of what no Western nation can -- a natural “baby boomlet” driven population growth that is not reliant upon Third World immigration. (13)

Abortions after the 3rd month of pregnancy have been outlawed (14) -- a restriction that even many “pro-choicers” in America, would probably agree with. In the West, most nations actually allow babies to be aborted anytime during the 9th month of pregnancy.

Russian law now mandates that all school children receive Moral Education training. The genius of this program is that the parents across multi-ethnic Russia are given a choice as to how to fulfill the requirement. The Moral Education requirement may be completed under the traditional instruction of Orthodox Christianity, or a Jewish rabbi, or a Muslim Cleric, or a Buddhist Priest. For the secularly inclined, a Secular Ethics curriculum is also available. So, whether Christian, Jew, Muslim, Buddhist, Agnostic, or Atheist, the child will be required to learn the timeless universal basics of moral conduct common to all faiths. (15)

1: Putin consults with the Orthodox Patriarchs as well as leaders of other religions.
2: After 20 years of decline, Russia’s birth rate is now positive.

Putin has also made Aleksandr Solzhenitsyn’s classic Gulag Archipelago mandatory reading for Russian High School students. (16). How ironic that most students in “anti Communist” America will never hear of Stalin’s atrocities while Russian kids will!

Prior to his death in 2008, the anti-Communist literary legend praised Putin’s accomplishments:

“Putin inherited a ransacked and bewildered country, with a poor and demoralized people, and he started to do what was possible, a slow and gradual restoration. These efforts were not noticed, nor appreciated, immediately. In any case, one is hard-pressed to find examples in history when steps by one country to restore its strength were met favorably by other governments.” (17)

The look on the great writer’s face reveals his admiration for Putin.
By the final year of Putin’s initial Presidential tenure, 2008, Russia was strong and revitalized. Russia’s recovery was impressive enough to win the International Committee’s selection process to host the 2014 Winter Olympic Games. That would never have been possible under the ruinous reign of Yeltsin and the Oligarchs.

Under the Russian Constitution, Putin could not serve three terms consecutively. He would be the Prime Minister for the next four year while his hand-picked replacement Dmitri Medvedev served as President. The Globalists wasted little time in testing the new kid on the block.

The first true test of the resolve of revitalized Russia came during the Summer Olympics of 2008, held in Beijing, China. Putin and Bush were both present at the spectacular Opening Ceremonies. It was that very day, August 7, that the newly militarized puppet state of Georgia launched a large-scale military offensive against the Russian quasi protectorates of South Ossetia, in an attempt to reclaim the territory. South Ossetia, and later Abkhazia, were completely overrun. The incident followed the visit of the US Secretary of State Condoleezza Rice (CFR) to Georgia, where she pledged her support for Georgia's bid to join NATO.

It is inconceivable that Georgian puppet leader Mikheil Saakashvili would have undertaken such a bold venture without the blessing of his US master. As the world was distracted by the Opening Ceremonies and the historic games which followed, news of Georgia’s aggression was blacked out by the American press. As many as 2000 civilians were brutally murdered by US / Israeli backed Georgians (18) before Prime Minister Putin (still the true leader of Russia) could rush back from China and respond to the situation. And respond he did.

The Russian counter invasion was quick and professional. The Georgian amateurs were routed and driven back deep into Georgia. Then, and only then, did the Western press suddenly take notice of events in Georgia. “Putin Invades Georgia!” shrieked the TV talking heads and Yellow Journals of America. Brzezinski himself added his two cents -- comparing Putin to, you guessed it, “Hitler.” But the provocative tragic events preceding the Russia-Georgia conflict were conveniently omitted from the media’s false narrative. Typical!

During this brief conflict, August 14 to be precise, the US used the opportunity to close a deal with Poland to deploy a missile defense system in Polish territory with a tracking system to placed in the Czech Republic. In spite of the ridiculous claim that missile systems were being deployed to counter an Iranian threat, the Russians knew that the systems were designed to give NATO a potential first-strike advantage. Medvedev and Putin eventually responded by drawing up contingency plans for the destruction of the systems. (19)

Dmitry Rogozin, Russia's envoy to NATO and Defense Minister stated of the US-Polish deal:

"The fact that this was signed in a period of very difficult crisis in the relations between Russia and the United States over the situation in Georgia shows that, of course, the missile defense system will be deployed not against Iran but against the strategic potential of Russia. (19)

The liberation of South Ossetia and Abkhazia by the swift defeat of the Georgian military, combined with growing Russian threats to respond to the missile systems, sent a strong message to NATO, the two faced monster of Bush-Cheney, and also to the pre-anointed Messiah / President to soon be; Barack Obama.

The message was now loud and clear: “Don’t mess with the new Russia.”

1: When Putin-Medvedev finally flexed Russian muscle, it was impressive
2: With great fanfare, TV's talking-heads across America (and Europe) trumpeted the ‘Breaking News’ of the ‘unprovoked' invasion of Georgia.
3: Georgia’s despicable puppet President Saakashvilli - with an EU flag in his office - became so nervous he was seen eating his own tie.

Putin’s Global Trade Blocs & Alliances

When we compare and contrast Globalist-owned America’s bullying, bribing, bombing, blackmailing, and brow-beating of weaker nations the world over, to Putin’s astonishing track record of respectful diplomacy and deal making, it is not surprising that so many nations started flocking back to Russia’s orbit of trade and diplomacy. In addition to becoming the most domestically popular of the world’s major leaders, Putin was soon to achieve international “rock star” status as well. And boy oh boy does this drive the control freak Globalists nuts!

Putin was instrumental in establishing good relations with China, the other ex-Communist giant which had now embraced market economics. In the summer of 2001, Russia and China signed the Treaty of Good-Neighborliness and Friendly Cooperation.

The two nations would also form the foundation of a regional trade bloc known as the SCO (Shanghai Cooperation Organization). The other original members include Kyrgyzstan, Tajikistan and Kazakhstan and Uzbekistan.

In 2002, the heads of the SCO states met in Saint Petersburg, Russia. They signed the SCO Charter which set forth the organization’s purposes, principles and structures. Its six members accounted for 60% of the land mass of Eurasia and 25% of the world’s population. With observer states included, SCO affiliates account for about half of humanity.

In July 2005, at its fifth summit, held in Kazakhstan, with representatives of India, Iran, Mongolia and Pakistan in attendance, host President Nazarbayev greeted the guests, stating:

"The leaders of the states sitting at this negotiation table are representatives of half of humanity". (1)

By 2007 the SCO had initiated over twenty large-scale projects related to transportation, energy and telecommunications and held regular meetings relating to security, military, defense, foreign affairs, economic, cultural, and banking with officials from its member states. All of Eurasia now wants to join SCO. Even Turkish President Erdogan, fed up with the EU playing games with Turkey, has asked Putin to let Turkey into the SCO. In 2013, Erdogan stated:

“If we get into the SCO, we will say good-bye to the European Union. The Shanghai Five [former name of the SCO] is better — much more powerful. Pakistan wants in. India wants in as well. If the SCO wants us, all of us will become members of this organization.” (2)

Soon afterwards, “spontaneous” anti-Erdogan NGO protests (dutifully hyped by the Western media) erupted in Turkey. President Erdogan boldly accused the West of orchestrating the protests. (3)

The foreign ministers of what were to become known as the initial four BRIC states (Brazil, Russia, India, and China) met in New York City in September 2006. This began a series of high-level meetings among these developing giants. A full-scale diplomatic meeting would be held in Yekaterinburg, Russia, in May 2008. BRIC emerged as an independent international organization that facilitates commercial, political and cultural cooperation between its members. In 2010, South Africa joined BRIC, making it BRICS.

As an interesting and very telling side note, it was during this time period of the original September 2006 pre-BRIC meeting that Putin delivered a special gift to America. Exactly five years had passed since the 9/11 attacks, and the US government had yet to build a memorial to the victims. Putin presented America with a beautiful sculpture to commemorate the fallen towers of New York City.

The work of art is called The Tear Drop Memorial. It consists of a 100-foot tall tower, with a huge open crack running down the center. Hanging from the crack is a massive "teardrop" designed to actually drip water. The base of the monument is surrounded by a marble wall with the names of the 3000 victims engraved in alphabetical order.

Instead of erecting the monument somewhere along the scenic Jersey City waterfront (directly across from Manhattan), officials dumped Russia’s impressive gift in a depressed and unseen spot in Bayonne, NJ. (7 miles away from Southern Manhattan and around the corner from a junkyard!) In spite of the presence of both Putin and ex-President Clinton at the dedication ceremony, the New York media gave the beautiful memorial the total silent treatment. The monument remains barely known, even among local residents of Bayonne!

One Bayonne City Councilman, though happy to host the monument, said he was baffled by Jersey City's rejection of it.

"This is a beautiful memorial. I don't know why they (Jersey City) didn't want it. We don't even have money to keep the teardrop operational. That’s why it stays dry." (4)

Putin made a beautiful gesture towards America. But the Globalists, in anticipation of the eventual confrontation against the allied independent powers of Russia & China, need to portray Putin as a thug. That’s why the 9/11 memorial gift from Russia remains unknown to Americans, and so pitifully neglected.

Now, let’s get back to Putin’s trade partnerships.

The critical difference between the SCO & BRICS groups, versus Globalist bodies such as the EU and NAFTA, is that the SCO & BRICS clubs deal with each other as equals; with no centralized power source to absorb their individual sovereignty. BRICS & SCO are like a group of neighbors collaborating to hold a neighborhood yard sale, or block party; whereas the New World Order bodies, on the other hand, are like an overbearing Condo Association.

Coneel Sebal, India’s former Foreign Secretary, sums it up very succinctly:

“The West is scared of BRICS as it has no control over it.” (5)
Putin himself explains:

“The ability to compromise is not a diplomatic politeness toward a partner but rather taking into account and respecting your partner's legitimate interests.” (6)

How very different from Cowboy George W Bush’s philosophy of:

"You're either with us or against us in the fight against terror.” (7)

Or that of Obama:

"All nations must come together to build a stronger Global regime." (8)

Is it any wonder then why Brazil (as well as Argentina & Venezuela) abandoned US plans to establish the FTAA (Free Trade Area of the Americas); choosing to join Putin’s club instead? Keep this in mind the next time “spontaneous” NGO-CIA protests erupt in Brazil (as happened in 2013) or in Venezuela (as happens all the time).

Then we have Putin’s excellent relations with the nations of the ASEAN group (Association of Southeast Asian Nations): Indonesia, Malaysia, the Philippines, Singapore Thailand, Brunei, Burma (Myanmar), Cambodia, Laos, and Vietnam. Since 2010, the ASEAN–Russia Summit has taken place in a different country, with either Putin or Medvedev present as the “Man of the Hour.”

Putin’s tireless diplomacy and honest deal making extend to Africa, South America and the Middle East as well, where he is always well received. Indeed, outside of Globalist-owned Europe and America, Putin is the most popular man on the planet.
And even within Western Europe itself, Putin has his admirers; foremost among them being former Italian Prime Minister Silvio Berlusconi. Berlusconi’s very close personal friendship with Putin earned him the enmity of the US State Department. This should not be overlooked as the probable cause for the oh-so conveniently damaging “leaks” put out by the mysterious Julian Assange of the shadowy “WikiLeaks.” These leaks proved to be Berlusconi’s undoing. (9) In addition to taking down Putin’s colorful Italian buddy, WikiLeaks, by Assange’s own admission, also triggered the “spontaneous” uprisings of NGO-CIA “Arab Spring.” (10)

Berlusconi was then replaced by the artificially puffed-up Mario Monti, followed by the equally puffed-up Globalist Golden Boy, Matteo Renzi. Dubbed “Super Mario” by the propaganda press, Monti had been Director of the European branch of the Rockefeller-Brzezinski-Kissinger Trilateral Commission. But we digress.
Western Intelligence takes down Putin’s Italian friend

1: Assange the sainted “whistleblower” of WikiLeaks
2: Berlusconi as the Devil
3: Trilateral Commission Director St. Mario Monti as the Savior

Now, let us return to the talented Mr. Putin. What exactly is the secret to his remarkably successful diplomacy -- a ceaseless campaign of business and security dealings that has so angered the jealous Masters of the New World Order? There are two ingredients to the Putin formula: 1) hard work and 2) respect for others - a very simple formula.

Exactly how hard does Putin work? Putin himself proudly describes his service in behalf of Russia as “working like a galley slave.” The unfortunate side-effect of his necessary service probably cost him his marriage. His lovely wife grew estranged as the focused Mr. Putin labored ceaselessly on multiple fronts to save Russia from ruin and bring it back to its rightful place as a growing economic and cultural power.

While the unaccomplished imposter who lounged about in America’s White House for 8 years played Golf, watched Sports Center, flew out to endless NY & Hollywood fundraisers and late night talk shows, and routinely partied with degenerates such as the ex-drug dealer “Jay Z” and his glorified go-go girl wife “Beyonce,” the talented and tireless Putin gives all for his country. That single minded dedication to restoring Mother Russia may have cost him his wife.

As for the other element of Putin’s success equation (respect for others), Putin’s closing words from a 2013 Op-Ed piece, submitted to the New York Times in defense of Syria, accurately describe his sentiments and actions:
“I carefully studied his (Obama’s) address to the nation on Tuesday. And I would rather disagree with a case he made on American exceptionalism, stating that the United States’ policy is “what makes America different. It’s what makes us exceptional.” It is extremely dangerous to encourage people to see themselves as exceptional, whatever the motivation. There are big countries and small countries, rich and poor, those with long democratic traditions and those still finding their way to democracy. Their policies differ, too. We are all different, but when we ask for the Lord’s blessings, we must not forget that God created us equal.” (11) (emphasis added)

The noble traits of humility, intellect, fortitude, dedication and honor are what separate the talented Mr. Putin from the envious pygmies who currently misrule the dying nations which constitute “The International Community” (bow your head in solemn reverence as you speak those words).

One such petty individual is the certifiably insane Republican Senator John McCain, who blasted Putin’s thoughtful letter as anti-American. This is the same towering intellect and statesman who: graduated 894th out 899 cadets in his Naval Academy class,(12) lost 4 Navy planes (flying one into power lines while ‘hot dogging’), (13) broke his arms when he forgot to tuck them in while ejecting over Vietnam (14), ditched his faithful wife and mother of his children for a wealthy and younger beer heiress (15), was disgraced during the infamous “Keating Five” scandal of the 1980’s (16), has publicly called his 2nd wife a “cunt” and a “trollop” after she kidded him about his bald spot (17), has viciously cursed out / “F-bombed” Senate colleagues during closed door hearings (18), chose an absolute dolt of a “Barbie Doll” as his 2008 Presidential running mate (no citation needed!), and continues to scream for war, war, war, war against Syria, Iran, Lebanon, and North Korea.

Apart altogether from the Great Global Game being dictated by their unseen masters, one has to wonder if some of the personal animosity that western politicians hold for Putin stems from a sense of their own inferiority. “Haters gonna hate” as the urban saying goes.

And yet, a careful analysis of every word that Putin has ever spoken or written reveals not a trace of incendiary or defamatory language. Well, he did once suggest that McCain suffered brain damage as a result of his captivity in Vietnam. In 2012, McCain had “tweeted” a cryptic threat of a “spontaneous” NGO uprising against Russia:
“Dear Vlad, The Arab Spring is coming to a neighborhood near you.” (19)

When asked for his opinion of McCain’s bizarre comment, Putin responded:

“Mr. McCain fought in Vietnam. I think that he has enough blood of peaceful citizens on his hands. It must be impossible for him to live without these disgusting scenes anymore. Mr McCain was captured and they kept him not just in prison, but in a pit for several years, Anyone in his place would go crazy.” (20)

Truer words were never spoken. More on McCain still to come.

1: The cruel and violent-tempered McCain fumed over Putin’s thoughtful Op-Ed. 2 & 3: Rothschild-NGO agitator and chess champion Garry Kasparov also ‘tweeted” his disgust.
CHAPTER 14

Obama’s Dirty War Against Russia, and the World

In 2008, Barack Obama was installed – repeat, installed in the White House after the most intensive, pervasive, all encompassing propaganda campaign in world history. Delirious crowds of media driven simpletons turned out by the scores of 1000’s to hear the unaccomplished charlatan recite platitudes from his ubiquitous teleprompter. More than 40,000 turned out to hear the sainted candidate read in Oregon.

In Berlin, 200,000 screaming German imbeciles gushed over the script-reading con man and his calls to “remake the world again.” Four months before even being elected, Candidate Obama spewed this pre-packaged Globalist tripe to the German mega mob:

"Tonight, I speak before you not as a candidate for President, but as a citizen — a proud citizen of the United States, and a fellow citizen of the world.”

"This is the moment when we must come together to save this planet. Let us resolve that we will not leave our children a world where the oceans rise and famine spreads and terrible storms devastate our lands. Let us resolve that all nations – including my own – will act with the same seriousness of purpose as has your nation, and reduce the carbon we send into our atmosphere. This is the moment to give our children back their future. This is the moment to stand as one.” (1)

What Obongo was really saying was: “Science be damned! A World Government will require greater state control over private industry, an end to national sovereignty and a world tax on carbon.” (author’s words, not Obongo’s)

For guilt-ridden and delusional White liberals, the idea of “the first Black President” sent them into a state of neurotic euphoria. “Oh he’s so thoughtful and articulate; such a great orator!”-- they did ejaculate with that condescending soft bigotry so ironically typical of the “anti-racism” crowd. Not once did they pause to notice that the slick sophist’s ghost-written grand discourses were all read off of a teleprompter.
For non-White Americans, his candidacy represented the affirmation that they had finally “overcome.” Obongo the Righteous was about to give the “rich White Man” his long overdue comeuppance, thought the colored masses.

For uneducated and poorer Americans, Obongo was the Santa Claus that was going to “tax the rich” and magically fulfill their wish list. For war weary Americans, Obongo was the Christ figure who would heal a broken world and bring our troops back from Bush’s wars in Iraq and Afghanistan. For the titans of Wall Street, he was the free spending interventionist who would bail out their bad investments on the taxpayer’s dime. Yes indeed, the rabble-rousing empty suit with the grossly embellished resume, canned platitudes and recycled mantra of “Hope and Change” was all things to all people.

But astute observers of geo-politics were not so easily fooled. Author and historian Dr. Webster Griffin Tarpley quickly spotted George Soros’s “Obama Deception” and tried to warn anyone who would listen. Months before Obongo was even elected, Tarpley stated, in 2008:

“The project of the next administration, if it is Obama, is to smash both Russia and China. People in Europe had better wake up. That silly romantic illusion that they have about Obama is going to be suicidal...Obama’s foreign policy is to have a global showdown with Russia and China.” (2) (emphasis added)

Many would have laughed at such a prediction in 2008. They aren’t laughing today.

1: 40,000 delusional Oregonians worship the “Peace” candidate Obama. 2: 200,000 Germans turn out to catch a glimpse of the coming Black Messiah. 3: Webster Tarpley insisted that Candidate Obama was just as dangerous as McCain.
Obongo chose Mark Brzezinski, Zbigniew’s son, as foreign policy advisor for his campaign. (3) His Republican opponent, John McCain, tapped Ian Brzezinski, Zbigniew’s other son, as foreign policy advisor for his campaign. (4)

The only difference between Obongo and McCain’s foreign policy was that the former represented that faction of America’s foreign policy establishment which places an emphasis of long term “Soft Power” strategies, saving war as a last resort should their phony NGO “protests”, hunger-sanctions and “rebel” proxy wars fail to achieve the intended effect.

McCain on the other hand, just like the departing Bush/Cheney, was the candidate of choice for the “Neo-Conservative” faction of America’s ruling class -- a group that believes in war as a first choice, second choice and third choice! The argument between these overlapping “schools of thought” is generally over tactics, not over the final result.

To put it in terms of a moderately vulgar rape analogy, Bush/Cheney/ McCain were the type of Global rapists who prefer to violently pounce on their intended target, violating her in a most barbaric manner. Obongo, on the other hand, was the charming predatory creep who slips a “date rape” drug into the unsuspecting maiden’s drink. She never saw what was coming, until it was too late.

The other difference between Globalist “liberals” and Globalist “Neo-Cons” is that the latter are fanatically pro-Israel; even placing the interests of Israel ahead of the objectives of Globalism. Though they are also pro-Israel, the “liberal” faction generally believes that Israel’s frequent foreign aggression and ongoing abuse of the occupied Palestinians complicates their efforts to “work with” and subdue the numerous Arab and Muslim countries of the world. This is the true reason why CFR Globalist Jimmy Carter openly condemned Israel for “Apartheid.”

Think of these two factions as bickering spouses who, at the end of their frequent spats, will always kiss, make up, and resume plotting against the people of the world, including their own countrymen.

Crazy old warmongering McCain was no match for the billion dollar Obongo steamroller. His unrepentant support for the unpopular Iraq war, and provocative comments towards Russia did not impress a war weary American public. Said McCain during the debates:

“When I look into Vladimir Putin’s eyes, I see three letters; a K, a G and a B.” (5)
Such is the philosophical profundity of the America’s QFS (Quadrennial Freak Show).

Despite collecting an inexplicable Nobel Peace Prize after just 8 months in office, Obongo moved quickly to carry out the aggressive Globalist agenda that Dr. Tarpley had so presciently foreseen. But unlike the bold “cowboy” Bush and the diabolical Cheney, his handlers imposed their bloody agenda in unseen ways.

In 2009, Obongo made a public show of cancelling the missile defense system based in Poland. Shortly thereafter, Vice President Biden visited Poland to quietly announce the deployment of a different missile plan, which would also include Romania!

That same year, NATO was again expanded as Albania and Croatia were added to the anti-Russian military bloc. Montenegro, Kosovo, Moldova and Macedonia are also now in the NATO pipeline. If not for the fact that Mr. Gorbachev is still alive and well, he would surely be spinning in his grave over the unremitting eastward march of NATO! (assuming he wasn’t on the Globalist payroll all along himself)

In 2010 came the “spontaneous” uprisings of “The Arab Spring”. Triggered by WikiLeaks “leaks,” pro Western and CIA-NGO provocateurs led mob protests which overthrew the governments of Tunisia, Egypt and Libya. To support the Libyan operation, NATO jets or drones attacked the convoy carrying Libyan leader Muammar Qaddafi in 2011. Terrorist mercenaries (think 1980’s Afghanistan, 1990’s Chechnya, 2010’s Syria) then captured Qaddafi. He was tortured and murdered as I-phone cameras rolled.

Secretary of State Hillary Clinton (CFR) then gloated and clapped her hands while cackling about the murder:

“We came. We saw. He died!” (6)

Prime Minister Putin was not as amused as the diabolical Clinton:
"Who did this?" Drones, including American ones. They attacked his column. Then through the special forces, who should not have been there - they brought in the so-called opposition fighters, and killed him without court or investigation." (7)

Russia’s ally, Syria, was also hit with “spontaneous” protests which soon turned violent. A proxy army of domestic radicals and imported terrorists plunged Syria into what the Western media continues to falsely describe as a “civil war.” It is only the military alliance and open war games of Russia, China, Syria and Iran, along with Putin’s sale of some really bad-ass weapons to Syria, that has stopped NATO and Israel from attacking Syria and doing to President Assad precisely what was done to Qaddafi. The CIA, by its own admission, continues to prop up the now struggling terrorist “rebels” of Syria. (8) In spite of Syria’s heroic resistance, 200,000 Syrians have lost their lives; with millions more forced into refugee camps.

The fact that the US-EU-Israel Axis has not been able to finish off feisty Syria has really got the Globalists and Israel Firsters upset with Russia and China. In 2012, speaking before an international gathering, an angry Hillary Clinton warned:

“I do not believe that Russia and China are paying any price at all – nothing at all – for standing up on behalf of the Assad regime. The only way that will change is if every nation represented here directly and urgently makes it clear that Russia and China will pay a price.” (9)

That same year, Putin was again elected President, as Medvedev went back to being Prime Minister. With cameras rolling and international monitors watching, Putin rolled onto victory in a landslide; trouncing the other candidates by huge margins. True to form, Russian NGO’s organized protests against “election fraud” and “the return of the tyrant.”

Publicly, the cunning Obongo congratulated Putin on his return to the Presidency. But behind the scenes, the Soros / US NGO’s and the CIA’s teen age “Neo Nazis” continued to agitate against Putin. When asked about the “spontaneous” protests which had preceded his 2012 election, Putin, with characteristic Russian humor, had previously replied:

"I know that students were paid some money - well, that's good if they could earn something." (10)

Already weakened, the glory days of the Russian NGO agent-provocateurs (like chess champion & Rothschild stooge Garry Kasparov) were numbered. (11) In his third term, Putin would greatly curtail the influence of these treasonous termites by forcing them to register as foreign agents and to apply for permission to “protest”. Naturally, the western press started screaming about the violation of the “free speech rights” of the subversive NGO’s.

In addition to the bloodshed and chaos which Team Obama had inflicted upon the hapless souls of Afghanistan, Libya and Syria, Predator Drones killed at least 1000 innocent people in Pakistan, Yemen, and Sudan; at least half of them elderly, women and children. (12)

To counter China’s growing business in Africa, Obongo also greatly expanded US military operations in Central Africa. His “Asian pivot” got the Chinese up in arms and preparing for war.

North Korea remained under constant verbal threat of US attack. This situation prompted Dennis Rodman -- famous ex-basketball player and good friend of North Korean President Kim Jong Un -- to angrily refer to both Obongo and Hillary Clinton as “assholes.” (13)

Covert operations, sanctions and threats continued to target the independent Russian allies of Iran and Venezuela.

BRICS members Brazil and India were periodically brow-beaten by the Obama gang and the New York Times -- as were Argentina, Belarus, Burma, Turkey, Bangladesh, Malaysia and a whole host of other smaller states now close to the Russia-China trade orbit. Outside of its EU puppets, Obama’s broke-ass America, with its ever growing military and “security” budgets, was at war with the whole bloody world!

On the domestic and “civil rights” fronts, Obongo nearly doubled the National Debt, relaxed the requirements for receiving food stamps and disability payments, gave away 12,000,000 free “Obama phones,” overrode attempts by the individual States to end inner city vote fraud, (14) broke his promise to close the torture camp at Guantanamo Bay, and built up the Praetorian Guard known as the “Department of Homeland Security” to monstrous dimensions (2000 armored vehicles, 10’s of 1000’s of fully automatic machine guns, 100’s of millions of rounds of bullets etc). (15)

The abuse of airline passengers at the nation’s airports continued, as did the electronic monitoring of America (which was actually known to exist as far back as 1998). The “ObamaCare” scam was an unmitigated disaster and the Fed’s printing presses rolled non-stop to cover the enormous deficits. Food and energy prices therefore went up (beef by 40% since 2009, coffee by 50%), (16) as wages stayed flat. Frivolous regulations and medical lawsuits continued and labor-force participation was way down. Birth rates fell as the southern border was left wide open. Many formerly middle class Americans were badly damaged as Obongo and his wretched Globe-trotting wife continued to fly about on the $160,000 per hour Air Force One & Two as if they were personal toys.

Such was the “hope” and such was the “change” that this false Messiah and Nobel Peace Prize winner brought to America, and to the world. Of course, Obongo, like most of his duplicitous predecessors of both Parties, was only a front man -- a shameless, feckless, rabble rousing puppet whose protective skin pigmentation insulated him from the close scrutiny and criticism which he so richly deserved. Sound too harsh? Ask the grieving family members of all those women and children that the “Commander In Chief” obliterated in Syria, Yemen, Pakistan etc, if such an assessment is too harsh, or “racist?”

But the true power which manipulates public opinion against Putin (and China) is that of the News Media and Hollywood moguls. Were it not for these magically mendacious illusion factories, Obongo would still be a crack-smoking nobody from nowhere. This is the very same hypnotic force which is driving the unwarranted hatred of Vladimir Putin to a fever pitch.

The Anti-Putin Propaganda Blitz

Mirroring the overlapping Globalist factions which exist in government and academia are the “liberal” news media and the “conservative” news media. For the liberal faithful, the main Houses of Worship include: The New York Times, The Washington Post, ABC News, NBC News, CBS News, PBS, MSNBC and CNN.

Conservative Americans will usually attend the Neo-Con churches of talk radio, the Internet-based Drudge Report, the Wall Street Journal and FOX News. These “right wing” outlets actually do a fairly decent job of exposing the lies and omissions of the liberal media giants. But the false alternative which they offer is the dead end of Republican Party politics. “Obama sucks. Vote for Romney.” Therein lies the essence of the scam some known as “the Two-Party System.”

But when these two adversarial denominations join together in common cause, look out folks! Something big is about to happen. And when it comes to the blatant misrepresentation of facts regarding Russia, the Globo / Neo-Con complex is united in their hatred of Vladimir Putin.

THE PUSSY RIOT GIRLS

Anti-Putin media propaganda began on a small scale as far back as 2004, ramping up to a steady drum beat by 2012, and reaching the level of mass hysteria by 2014. The first major media offensive surrounded the 2012 case of a degenerate “Punk Band” known as “Pussy Riot” – named after the vulgar term for a certain part of the female anatomy, not our furry little feline friends.

The girls, we were told, were arrested merely for entering a Moscow church and singing a “Punk Prayer” to protest Putin. After being handed a 2-year jail sentence, the “International Community” (bow your head in solemn reverence as you speak those words) exploded in self-righteous indignation. Singing from the same hymn book, these 10,000 or so eggheads based in New York, DC, Hollywood, London, Paris, Brussels & Berlin all decreed that Putin was a paranoid “tyrant” who had orchestrated the harsh sentence against the harmless feminist “artists.” A rallying cry for this phony cause celeb soon emerged, “Free Pussy Riot!” The affair grew into a real public relations disaster for Russia.

International media blitz against Putin: New York – Paris - Berlin

But a few essential details were deliberately omitted from the popular narrative.

Pussy Riot was not actually a “band.” The girls were just a group of NGO agitators who would don bright colored ski-masks while strumming on electric guitars which they knew not how to play. Their screaming “songs” consisted of loud obscenities calling for things like “gay rights,” the downfall of Putin, and for Russian housewives to stick their vacuum cleaner hoses up their vaginas. (1)

Pussy Riot is an offshoot of an NGO-funded Anarchist “art collective” known as VOINA (Russian for “war”), whose members (including Nadezhda Tolokonnikova of Pussy Riot – whose own parents threw her out!) had previously engaged in such outrageous “artistic” stunts as having a group sex session in a public museum (2) and painting an image of a huge penis on a draw bridge (which later “erected”). (3) Another “art project” involved the filming of a female member shoving a chicken carcass into her vagina and walking out of the market as the refrigerated creature’s legs dangled out from her canal like a breech birth. (4)

The vandals of VOINA have also been known to spray urine-filled water guns, and throw urine-filled balloons, at police officers (5), and to disrupt court proceedings and smash up police cars. (6) Upon deliberately provoking their own arrests, VOINA cult members will scream about “police brutality” and then post online photos & videos of their “human rights” being violated by “Putin’s thugs.” The Western Yellow Press will then dutifully show the out-of-context images to their horrified worshippers (readers/viewers). That’s how the NGO “protester” game is played!

Contrary to the scripted image of a repressive Russia, members of VOINA and Pussy Riot endured only brief arrests and fines, at worst. In spite of being warned to stay away from the cathedrals, the Pussy Riot “band” continued to push the Moscow police. On February 21, 2012, members of the gang invaded Moscow's Cathedral of Christ the Savior. The reader will recall the story of the Stalin-Kaganovich dynamite destruction of this historic Grand Cathedral in 1931. During the 1990’s, it was rebuilt to the close specifications of its original glory. This new Cathedral holds special religious, cultural and historic meaning for Russian faithful. It was attacked for this very reason.

As horrified worshippers and priests looked on, a flash mob of as many as a dozen VOINA radicals stormed the Christ Cathedral. Four of these deranged tools of the Globalist NGO’s (the Pussy Riot girls) then took to the altar itself. They mocked the stunned worshippers by kneeling and crossing themselves. As supporting members blasted their music from the side, the “singers” then belted out an obscene “protest prayer” aimed at Putin and Church Patriarch Kirill (the Russian Church’s version of the Pope). They screamed that Putin is "Shit! Shit! The Lord's shit." Patriarch Kirill was denounced as a "bitch" and Mother Mary was urged to "become a feminist." (7)

Now the patient Russians had tolerated enough! The lead “singers” were finally arrested and charged by the local authorities (not by Putin!), with “hooliganism motivated by religious hatred” The arrest and subsequent trial drew international attention and massive criticism. Not only did the feminist radicals not show an ounce of remorse, but they laughed and mocked the court itself throughout the entire trial. The deranged and defiant “activists” continued laughing as Judge Marina Syrova handed down her sentence. (8) It was evident that the girls (and their handlers), actually wanted a prison sentence. It would be great anti-Putin propaganda for the Globalists, and certain fame and fortune for the celebrity “heroines” when they get out (in December 2013).

Indeed, only 3 months after Pussy Riot’s release, one of America’s most artificially puffed-up pseudo “journalists” - the oh-so-serious and ever so “thought provoking” Charlie Rose of PBS fame - debased himself by interviewing two of the deranged subversives at a public forum held in New York in April of 2014. (9) On bended knee and with baited breath, the duplicitous charlatan lobbed one sugar-coated soft ball after another to the “courageous” degenerates who dared to defy the “tyrant” Putin.

Not once did the pious, fawning psuedo-intellectual sophist think to ask the “ladies” about any of the key data points we have just reviewed. This is not surprising. You see, chatty Charlie is not only a long time member of the Putin-hating CFR, but he also belongs to the super exclusive Tri-Lateral Commission --

2014: Charlie Rose, Hillary Clinton, NBC et all fawn over the international heroines for “standing up and speaking out.” (Cockroach Porno Queen Nadezhda is the brunette)

THE RUSSIAN ‘ANTI-GAY’ LAW

In 2013, the Pussy Riot fiasco was to be followed by the gross, deliberate misrepresentation of a new Russian law forbidding the dissemination of homosexual propaganda to minors. The bill sailed through the Russian parliament unanimously. Again, the Western Piranha Press exploded into a feeding frenzy. News coverage of “Putin’s anti-gay” law almost left one with the impression that homosexuals were being hunted down and beaten on the streets, with full State sanctioning.

Later that year, the Chief of the San Francisco Fire Department invited Russian delegates and Putin himself to participate in an event commemorating the 150th Anniversary of the great San Francisco Fire of 1863; and the heroic efforts of the Russian sailors who helped to put the fire out and save hundreds of lives. At President Lincoln’s request, the sailors were stationed there because Tsar Alexander had docked part of his Pacific fleet in San Francisco, and part of the Atlantic fleet in New York. This was a “Great Game” message to Britain and France to stay out of the US Civil War. Eight Russian sailors died in the rescue effort.
Homosexual pressure forced the City and its Departments to back out of any participation in the privately organized event. Putin was not welcome in San Francisco.

The reality of Russia’s “anti-gay” law is that its sole intent is to stop the growing trend towards exposing children to homosexual propaganda. Funded by NGO’s, Russian homosexual groups (which remain legal) were indeed spreading their doctrine. Putin has, on numerous occasions, attempted to clarify misconceptions over the “anti-gay” law, but to no avail. Putin on the new law:

"Tchaikovsky was gay - although it's true that we don't love him because of that - but he was a great musician and we all love his music. So what? ... There is no cause to make a mountain out of a molehill, nothing scary or terrible is happening here in our country." (10)

He later added:

“Gay people have nothing to fear in Russia as long as they leave our children alone.” (11)

Truth be known, most parents in the “free” West - though forbidden by the gods of “tolerance” and “political correctness” from publicly saying so – are, in private, very concerned over the steady diet of gay-gay-gay, and also “bi” & “transgender”, that their own children are being force fed by the media, Hollywood, the music industry, and even the elementary schools. That’s the truth, and the Globalist media knows it.

The manifest hypocrisy of the stance of the “International Community” (bow your head in solemn reverence as you speak those words) regarding this Russian homosexuality business is truly astonishing. Nowhere is this fact more evident than in America’s “special relationship” with Saudi Arabia -- a country which has been known to punish homosexuals with imprisonment, fines, corporal punishment, torture and chemical castrations. Can you say, “double standard”?
American High Schools have witnessed a growing number of cases in which “Transgender” boys (once known as cross-dressers) have been elected by their sympathetic peers as Homecoming or Prom Queens. Russia does not wish to go down this road. Is it really any of the West’s business?

The Triumph of the Sochi Olympics

The run up to the March 2014 Winter Olympic Games (hosted by Sochi, Russia) was marked by an intensive 30-day pre-Games hate campaign led by the Sulzberger-Ochs Family’s venerable “paper of record,” the New York Times. First there was the oft repeated half-truth that “Putin’s Games” would be the most expensive Olympic Games ever -- coming in at an eye-popping $50 billion dollars. The not-so-subtle insinuation was that an egomaniacal dictator was raiding the public treasury to feed his grandiose ego. Some even likened Putin to corrupt Roman Emperors of antiquity, who would squander enormous sums of public money for the “bread and circuses” of the Gladiatorial contests.

Again, the reality was something different. It was indeed true that Putin wanted the grand event to show to his people, and to the world, that Russia was back to its rightful place of honor as one of the world’s leading nations. But the Western media’s narrative omitted two important data points regarding its tiresome, and unconfirmed, mantra of “$50 Billion .... $50 Billion....50 Billion”.

First of all, only about 15% of that sum went towards construction of the actual Olympic venues. The bulk of the funds were used to upgrade the infrastructure of the spectacular sea & ski town of Sochi. (1) Long after the Olympics are gone, Putin’s investment in Sochi will yield permanent vacation-based commerce and tax revenue for the surrounding region.

The other big “lie of omission” was in failing to highlight the fact that a substantial percentage of this wise investment in Russia’s future came from private investors. (2) In line with Putin’s economic philosophy of “industry captains,” these Russian heavy- hitters answered the call to action, knowing that the new Sochi will pay back handsome rewards down the road.

Perhaps the Piranha Press of the Western world should be more concerned over the staggering debts and deficits that their own governments are running up:

(US Debt-GDP Ratio: 75%, France: 95%, UK: 92%, Germany: 70%,...... Russia: 12%) (3)
Then came anti-Sochi story after story plastered on the front page of the New York Times and across American TV screens. With breathless enthusiasm, scribblers of every stripe and talking heads of every network informed us of the stray dogs who were being euthanized, the hotel door that wouldn’t open, the broken toilet, the elevator that malfunctioned, the bed that was missing pillows, the looming terrorist attacks (which never materialized), the specter of homosexuals being persecuted in Sochi, “yellow water” here and unfinished construction there plus other trivialities too petty and too numerous to even recall. Plug the term “Sochi Problems” into your search engine, and enjoy a good laugh as you plow through the 400,000 results (had been 39,000,000 + results in 2014!)

The ultimate “slap in the face” to Putin came from Obongo’s diplomatic boycott of the games. Neither the US President nor a single official from his administration attended “Putin’s Games.” Not even his Globe-trotting wife, who was present at the London Summer Games of 2012, deigned to attend the ceremonies in Sochi. Now when Michelle Obongo and her massive entourage of “sistas” and other assorted hangers-on pass up an opportunity for yet another taxpayer-funded vacation, you know something is afoot!

EU Presidents and Prime Ministers stayed away as well. But many Asian leaders, including China’s Xi Jinping, did come to pay respects to the new Russia and its man of the hour, the talented Mr. Putin.

Contrary to media claims, the large investment for “Putin’s Games” was mostly for the purpose of developing the breath-taking town of Sochi to its full potential.

To tweak the Russians some more, Obongo dispatched three retired homosexual athletes to constitute the majority of official US delegation. Lesbian tennis star Billie Jean King, lesbian hockey player Caitlin Cahow, and homosexual figure skater Brian Boitano arrived in Sochi amidst imaginary “concerns” for the safety of homosexuals. Just for good measure, Obongo (long rumored to be homosexual himself) also sent Janet Napolitano, the former Secretary of the Praetorian Guard, ("Homeland Security") to Sochi as well. Though not openly lesbian, the husky-voiced, short-haired and stocky Napolitano is widely believed to be, eh, “in the closet,” shall we say?

In advance of the event, the headlines blared: “Obama Sends Message By Naming Sochi Delegation.” (4) Now these individuals were not delegates who just happened to be homosexual. No, they were sent to Sochi precisely because they were homosexual.

About an hour or so prior to what would turn out to be a truly unforgettable Opening Ceremony, little Bobby Costas, the odious sports reporter hosting American TV coverage, interviewed “Obama the Absent” via satellite. The self-important Costas had already peppered his audience with snide anti-Russian zingers. As expected, as planned, Costas allowed Obongo to stick his own knife into Putin. With Costas playing the role of “straight man,” the Comedian-In-Chief delivered his rehearsed and wholly inappropriate punch lines before to a national audience:

"He (Putin) does have a public style where he likes to sit back and look a little bored during the course of joint interviews. ...... My sense is that's part of his shtick back home politically as wanting to look like the tough guy. U.S. politicians have a different style. We tend to smile once in a while." (5)

No class Obongo. Let’s see you say that to Judo Master Putin’s face, in a ring.

It wasn’t enough for Obongo to deliberately send four homosexuals as part the official US delegation (Billie Jean King & Brian Boitano shown above); the Jack-Ass-In-Chief then went on air with little Bobby Costas to take cheap shots at Putin.
But the propaganda blitz was soon dealt a silencing blow. The Opening Ceremony at Sochi was a jaw-dropping spectacle that even the envious losers of America’s chattering class had to admire. The proud people of a new Russia put on a dazzling technological feast for the senses, highlighting the history, music, dance, architecture, science, art, and literature of the 1100 year old nation. One could not help but be struck by the difference between the Russian celebration of sport and culture versus the worsening degeneracy of America’s annual “Super Bowl Half Time Show” (Janet Jackson’s flashed breast, Madonna’s gyrating pelvis, Beyonce’s barely-clad, earth-shaking ass and Black Panther salutes etc).

The only “glitch” in the otherwise flawless show was the failure of one of 5 giant Olympic rings to fully expand and light up. Astute observers were quick to notice that the unopened ring just happened to be the very ring which represents the Americas. (6) This is only conjecture, of course, but could this “glitch” have been Putin’s version of a “Sicilian message” -- his way of acknowledging the rude absence of American politicians? Maybe.

!Opening Ceremonies

The Opening Ceremonies were a grand spectacle for the ages. Intentional or not, the missing American “continent” was a poetic touch indeed.

In another apparent insult to “anti-gay” Russia, the Olympic team from Germany - an oh-so “progressive” nation which now permits animals to be tied up and raped in fast-spreading Bestiality Brothels (7) - marched into the Opening Ceremonies wearing hideous, multicolored rainbow uniforms -- the unmistakable theme of International Homosexuality & Transgenderism (Cross Dressers). The TV talking heads assured us that the unprecedented rainbow design had nothing to do with “gay rights.” But astute observers weren’t buying the “coincidence” claim.

Due to her own concerns over “human rights,” German Chancellor Angela Merkel also skipped the Sochi ceremony. The manly Mrs. Merkel’s hypocrisy exceeds even that of Obongo. You see, in “free” and “democratic” Germany, parents who get caught home-schooling their children can be stripped of custody and sent to prison. (8) Likewise, scholars who dare to question the conventional account of World War II are also thrown in jail. (9)

In the upside down worldview of the Frumpy Frau Merkel, shielding children from homosexual propaganda, or home-schooling them, or defending your historic cathedrals from pornographic trespassers is regarded as an affront to the conscience of “The International Community” (bow your head in solemn reverence as you speak those words).

On the other hand, allowing the most deranged and debased lunatics to tie up and rape dogs, sheep, goats and llamas in for-profit “Erotic Zoos” (10) is considered a form of “tolerance” for “alternative lifestyles.”

Good God! Putin is right. The Globalist West is sick -- sick in its mind, sick in its heart, sick in its soul.

1: The Romeike Family fled Germany in order to avoid being fined and imprisoned for homeschooling. After a lengthy legal battle, the US granted them asylum. 2: Bestiality Brothels in which dogs and other animals are tied up, muzzled and raped by paying customers is “OK” for the Holier-Than-Thou Merkel. 3: (Merkel with Hillary)

During the first week of the games, the deranged lunatics of “Pussy Riot” -- who had recently been released from prison – showed up in Sochi to stage another protest song. This time, they brought along fake Russian guards (Cossacks) as part of the show. As the group began to “sing,” the fake uniformed “pro-Putin” Cossacks chased them away, pretending to whip the girls as cameras rolled for the world to see.
Toward the end of the Games, Bobby Costas - that self-aggrandizing, lying, little Lilliputian libtard - again swerved into politics, sanctimoniously delivering a prime-time monologue attacking Russia’s “human rights” record. (no mention of US transgressions such as Iraq, Libya, Predator Drones, torture camps, NGO plots, etc) But no amount of propaganda could overshadow the renewed spirit so clearly evident in Putin’s resurgent Russia.

The “whipping” of the “Pussy Riot” whores and Costas’ meandering monologue were all part of the same CIA anti-Russian operation.

The Russian Olympians went on to win more medals than any other country, overtaking the US on the final day of “Putin’s Games.” To cap off Putin’s, and Russia’s, proud day in the sun, the Closing Ceremonies turned out to be just as stunning and just as educational as the Grand Opening. But Russia’s moment did not last very long. Near the end of the games, with an NGO-orchestrated crisis about to climax in Ukraine, the anti-Putin drumbeat resumed at fever pitch.

Russian athletes excelled.

What could Vladimir Putin possibly have done to merit such disrespect and enmity from America’s PRC (Predatory Ruling Class)? Has Russia bombed sovereign nations into submission? No -- that was the US that did that (Iraq, Afghanistan, Libya). Has Russia set up torture camps for prisoners of war? No -- that was the US that did that (Guantanamo, Abu Graib) Has Russia killed women, elderly and children with Predator Drones? No -- that was the US that did that *(Pakistan, Yemen, Sudan, Somalia) Has Russia used subversion to foment “spontaneous” protests and internal coups of foreign governments? No -- that was the US that did that (Georgia, Ukraine (twice!), Egypt, Tunisia, Syria, Venezuela, Brazil and many more) Is Russia threatening to attack any other country? No -- that is the US doing that (North Korea, Iran, Lebanon, Syria).

U.S tax dollars at work: promoting “human rights” and “democracy” abroad since 1898.

So, what “crime” is Vladimir Putin really guilty of? Two things; let us reiterate:

1. Refusing to allow his people to be controlled by the architects of Globalism:

   Putin: "The UniPolar world refers to a world in which there is one master, one sovereign, one center of authority, one center of force, one center of decision-making. This is pernicious - At its basis there can be no moral foundations for modern civilization.” (11)

2. Blocking Israel’s long awaited “Holy War” against Syria, and Iran:

   Hillary Clinton: “I do not believe that Russia and China are paying any price at all for standing up nothing at all - for standing up on behalf of the Assad regime (Syria). The only way that will change is if every nation represented here directly and urgently makes it clear that Russia and China will pay a price.” (12) (emphasis added)

It is only the magical alchemy of the news media’s illusion makers that has transformed peaceful Russia into a “threat to world peace” -- nothing more. In recent years, Hollywood and the New York ad agencies have also joined the propaganda blitz, albeit in very subtle way.

In 2013, the long dead genre of anti-Soviet dramas returned with the FX (FOX affiliate) series The Americans, produced by an actual “retired” CIA agent, Joe Weisberg. (13)

On Super Bowl Sunday of 2014, a comical M&M’s candy commercial featured murderous Russian gangsters threatening to cut up and eat the giant “living” M&M which they had kidnapped and thrown into the trunk of a car.

In March of 2014, the latest ‘Muppets’ Movie featured a nose-picking Russian villain (Kermit the Frog’s evil “look alike”, Constantine), and Tina Fey as a stern Russian camp guard in a Siberian Gulag. That same month saw the re-release of the old anti-Soviet comic book, Rocky & Bullwinkle. Can the return of the classic Cold War era TV cartoon be far behind?

In September of 2014, during a segment of the WWE’s widely viewed “Monday Night Raw” fake wrestling matches, Rusev, a Russian “bad guy” who espouses anti-American views, and his slutty-looking “manager” Lana came to the ring to taunt another character called “The Big Show.” The American hero responded by tearing down a huge Russian flag and throwing to the floor of the ring as the crowd cheered: “USA! USA! USA!”

This subtle drip-drip campaign, though seemingly fun and harmless on its face, is indeed penetrating the public mind. The most effective forms of marketing are those which influence your subconscious perceptions without you even realizing it. The masters of manipulation know all too well how to control our buying habits, and they want us to buy into the related ideas of anti-Putinism, anti-Russianism and maybe, just maybe, World War III. Farfetched you say? Wait until you read the next chapter.

Cold War animosity towards Russia is now suddenly back in vogue.

THE NEW COLD WAR
CHAPTER 17
A Violent Coup in Ukraine

By 2010, Ukraine’s phony NGO “Orange Revolution” (from 2014) had been democratically reversed. The new President, Victor Yanukovich, wanted to maintain good relations with both the European Union and with Russia. In November of 2013, Yanukovitch announced that he would no longer seek to integrate (hand over) Ukraine to the EU. In an instant, “spontaneous” rent-a-mobs gathered in Capital City Kiev’s Main Square, known as the Maidan (pronounced May-Don). Out of nowhere came the professionally-made banners, massive EU flags, English-language placards, “Guy Fawkes” masks etc.

The NGO protesters (some of whom were alleged to have been bused in from other European countries) demanded that Yanukovitch reverse his course and return Ukraine towards the path of EU membership. It bears mentioning at this point that most of Western Ukraine leans westward (partially for historical reasons, partly due to empty promises of prosperity to follow EU membership, and partially due to years of nasty anti Russian NGO propaganda). In contrast, most of better developed, Russian-speaking Eastern Ukraine leans eastward, towards their Russian brothers. Nowhere is the affinity more deeply rooted that in the overwhelmingly pro-Russian peninsula of Crimea which, as we discussed earlier, had always been part of Russia itself until Khrushchev internally reassigned it within the old Soviet Union.

As these “revolutions” go, the mobs began to stir more and more each passing day. Feeding the developing frenzy were Western politicians who arrived in Kiev to foment chaos. Foremost among the interlopers was Putin’s hatful adversary, Senator John McCain. In December of 2013, McCain took to the outdoor microphone and fired up the roaring mob:

"To all Ukrainians, America stands with you. People of Ukraine this is your moment. This is about you; no one else. This is about the future you want for your country. This is about the future you deserve. A future in Europe, a future of peace... The free world is with you, America is with you, I am with you" (1)
Translation: “Rise up and violently overthrow that pro-Russian bastard Yanukovich. America and Europe have got your back. Do it!” (author’s words; not McCain’s)

Also travelling to Ukraine was Victoria Nuland (Nudelman), the Assistant Secretary of State for European and Eurasian Affairs. Though her name is not well known and her title may not sound so impressive, Nuland, in the power scheme of things, outranks even John McCain. She is the wife of Neo-Con luminary Robert Kagan of the PNAC Group we visited earlier ("new Pearl Harbor"). Thanks to a secretly taped phone conversation (possibly tapped by the Russians), we now know that it was Nuland herself who literally handpicked the Ukrainian puppet who went on to eventually replace Yanukovich in March of 2014. (2)

With the protests raging, Nuland spoke at a "Ukraine in Washington" conference in December of 2013. In her own words, she revealed Washington’s scheme to provide funding in order to install “a good form of democracy.” From the horse’s own mouth:

"Since Ukraine’s independence in 1991, the United States has supported Ukrainians as they build democratic skills and institutions, as they promote civic participation and good governance, all of which are preconditions for Ukraine to achieve its European aspirations. We’ve invested over $5 billion to assist Ukraine in these and other goals that will ensure a secure and prosperous and democratic Ukraine." (3) (emphasis added)

In a poor nation like Ukraine, five billion dollars buys a lot of anti-Russian propaganda, as well as lots of “peaceful protesters, eh Vicky? And it also pays for those cookies and coffee which Nuland so graciously handed out to her Ukrainian “employees” as US Network Nightly News cameras rolled.

By March of 2014, the combination of legitimate grievances against the inept Yanukovich, the instigation of McCain & Nuland, and the encouragement given by Ukrainian “opposition leaders,” had brought the resilient mob to a fever pitch. All that was needed to spark the violence was for the embedded agent provocateurs and foreign mercenaries to light the fuse!
As soon as Yanukovich said “no thanks” to the European Union, the NGO pro-EU flash mobs and their dupes “spontaneously gathered.”

2: McCain arrived to stir up trouble. 3: PNAC’s Nuland: “Terrorist want a cookie?”

When the Molotov cocktails and rocks started flying, the timid and inept President Yanukovich lined up his riot police. Although the helmeted police did nothing but essentially just stand in a line while being bludgeoned and burned, Western press and politicians began screaming about a “bloody crackdown” on “human rights.”

Yanukovich made concession after concession to the phony revolutionaries and the “opposition political Parties” -- including an agreement to invite them into his government and hold early elections. The whole time, riot police continued to treat the violent attackers with kid gloves.

Yanukovich’s fear of Western propaganda and his concessions to the mobs only made them more aggressive. Government buildings were taken over as the declawed police were severely burned or beaten. The violent shock-troops of the Maidan mob consisted of an odd alliance of foreign imports, domestic Marxists, “neo-Nazis”, and even an all Jewish brigade. The CIA-NGO onslaught had harnessed all of its “assets” to the task of overthrowing Ukraine.

The “neo-Nazis” were mostly disaffected young men and boys that had been skillfully manipulated by their handlers. Since the 1940’s, the CIA had cultivated the Ukrainian anti-Stalinists who had volunteered to fight alongside Germany against the hated Stalin. Today’s “neo-Nazis” have been skillfully brainwashed into hating Russia by ignorantly associating Russia with Stalin (who was actually Georgian). In the primitive simplicity of their undeveloped young minds, the violent overthrow of the pro Russian leader of Ukraine was somehow considered “payback” for the Stalin-Kaganovich murders and terror famine. To them, it may has well have been Putin himself who systematically starved millions of their ancestors to death in the Holomodor. The fact that Stalin’s Soviet Union and Putin’s Russia are two separate entities is too complicated for these duped young knuckleheads to understand.

Rioting and fighting side-by-side with these “neo-Nazis” was a group of former Israeli commandos. The Jewish Telegraph Agency confirmed:

“He calls his troops “the Blue Helmets of Maidan,” but brown is the color of the headgear worn by Delta — the nom de guerre of the commander of a Jewish-led militia force that participated in the Ukrainian revolution.

Under his helmet, he also wears a kippah.

Delta, a Ukraine-born former soldier in the Israel Defense Forces, spoke to JTA Thursday on condition of anonymity. He explained how he came to use combat skills he acquired in the Shu’alei Shimshon reconnaissance battalion of the Givati infantry brigade to rise through the ranks of Kiev’s street fighters.

He has headed a force of 40 men and women — including several fellow IDF veterans — in violent clashes with government forces. (emphasis added)

Several Ukrainian Jews, including Rabbi Moshe Azman, one of the country’s claimants to the title” of chief rabbi, confirmed Delta’s identity and role in the still-unfinished revolution. (4)

If your humble author’s knowledge of history serves correctly; shouldn’t the “neo-Nazis” and Jewish commandos have been fighting against each other at Maidan? What a farce in Kiev! After the dirty work of the violent coup was eventually completed, the Swastika-wearing simpletons were cast aside like used-up lemons.
The odd alliance against Yanukovich & Putin:

1: Israeli Commander “Delta”  2: Delta’s Jewish fighters  3: Easily manipulated teen-age “neo-Nazis” have had their empty heads filled with blind hatred of Putin and Russia.

What was Israel’s interest in helping to stir up chaos in Ukraine? It’s elementary dear reader; elementary. Israel’s notoriously warmongering Prime Minister, Bibi Netanyahu, had the same motive as PNAC Neo-Con Nuland/Kagan. Remember now, the only reason that the US-Israel overthrow of against Syria bombing of Iran has yet to materialize is because of the UN vetoes, as well as actual war games, by the Russia-China-Iran-Syria Alliance.

If Russia could somehow be baited into a broader Ukrainian quagmire, it would greatly facilitate a NATO-Israeli move against Syria, Lebanon, and Iran. The fanatical anti-Putinism demonstrated by the Neo-Cons and mighty AIPAC (American Israel Lobby), must be viewed through this prism. Indeed, McCain the Insane would later address the AIPAC Convention in March of 2014, where he was applauded for blasting Russia.

So there you have it; both the liberal Globalist and the Israel Firster Neo-Con factions of the American Idiocracy came together in the common cause of stealing Ukraine and baiting Russia -- closing the deal just as the Olympics were coming to an end in Sochi.

The final death blow for the weak Yanukovich came after both protesters and riot police started mysteriously dropping like flies from sniper fire. Right on cue, and without any evidence whatsoever, Obongo and the rest of “The International Community” (bow your head) condemned Yanukovich for killing “peaceful protesters.” The idea that the very same timid President who could not even bring himself to unleash his riot police and military would gun down dozens of people with sniper fire is, on its face, contradictory and wholly implausible. A reasonable person would have to deduce that certain “foreign commandos” would have had much more motive, along with means and opportunity, to perpetrate these killings.

Now, the professional fighters and their frenzied dupes really went wild! “Kill Yanukovich” became the rallying cry of the Maidan Mad Men. The Russia-friendly President fled Kiev with his life as mobs trespassed into his private home. A violent coup, orchestrated by the “democratic” West, had toppled a democratically-elected friend of Russia. The Russian majorities of Crimea and eastern Ukraine (Donbas) was absolutely incensed over the Western engineered coup, and many were rightfully frightened.

Nuland’s hand-picked puppet, Arseniy “Yats” Yatsenyuk, was installed as Ukraine’s new President. He immediately went to Washington DC where US politicians of both Parties showered him with praise, and also with promises of US taxpayer money! (5)

Now you know the true, unembellished story of the “people power” coup in Kiev. As disturbing as this tale of treachery should be to any person of good conscious, the lies only get worse from here.

The Russian “Invasion” of Crimea

No sooner had the ousted President Yanukovich arrived to safe haven in Moscow than another “spontaneous” protest erupted -- this time on the majority-Russian, Ukrainian Peninsula of Crimea. This particular phony flash-mob consisted of a group of ethnic Tatars (and God only knows who else). The Tatars are a Turkic minority of Russian-speaking Crimea. These hired NGO Tatars rallied in favor of the new illegitimate gang installed in Kiev.

Tatars, according to the Western propaganda machine, supported the new government because they were oppressed by big bad Russian majority of Crimea. It’s a “human rights” thing, you see. In reality, Crimea’s Tatar minority got along very well with the Crimean Russians, so much so that the majority of Tatars would later vote to join Russia. (1)

Russian Crimeans and NGO Tatars faced off and exchanged chants and insults with each other. Before the situation could escalate, local Crimean Self Defense units deployed and established order. There was to be no NGO drama in Crimea. It was then that the “Mother of all Lies” was born. The lie raced around the Globe at lightning speed. Newspapers and TV talking heads throughout America and the EU exploded with the greatest pre-packaged pile of bullshit since the tale of Saddam Hussein’s ‘Weapons of Mass Destruction.”

In unison, the politicos and journalists of “The International Community” (bow your head) shrieked in feigned horror, “Russia Invades Crimea!” Just how bad was this tsunami of mendacious media manure? A Google Search for the phrase “Russia Invades Crimea” yielded 5,600,000 results at the time. That’s how bad.

The good old “H-Word” was rolled out again, used most notably by Hillary “Russia and China must pay” Clinton. Declared the presumptive successor to Obama:

"Now if this sounds familiar, it's what Hitler did back in the '30s. All the Germans that were ... the ethnic Germans, the Germans by ancestry who were in places like Czechoslovakia and Romania and other places, Hitler kept saying they're not being treated right. I must go and protect my people, and that's what's gotten everybody so nervous." (2)
(Palm to face…..deep sigh…) The term ‘Putin Hitler Crimea’ racked up 2,000,000 results.

1: NGO Tatar flash mob battles Russians in Crimea. 2: Crimean Self Defense Units restore order (no shots fired and no one killed) 3: Western Press falsely accuses Russia of “invading”.

The International media blitz was all pervasive. Meanwhile in Western Ukraine, out came the NGO rent-a-mobs and other assorted ‘pro-Western’ ignoramuses with their professionally made English-language banners and Putin-Hitler posters.

Now, given NATO’s aggressive antagonizing of Russia, the violent NGO-Mossad coup in Kiev, and the fact that Crimea had always been majority-Russian -- no objective rational person would have blamed Putin for sending his troops into Crimea and securing the important warm water naval base at Sevastopol. But here’s the kicker – there was no invasion, at all!

You see, Crimea is a peninsula (almost an actual island) attached to Ukraine only by a very thin strip of land. Crimea’s easternmost point is more than 3 miles across the water from Russia. Russia does not border Crimea! Unless Putin’s troops walked across the water of the bridgeless Strait of Kerch, how could there have been an “invasion?”
The only means of “invasion” would have been naval or airborne (Normandy / D-Day style). But not even the most fanatical Putin-haters have even suggested that such operations took place. So if there was no amphibious naval invasion across the Strait of Kerch, and no paratroopers dropping into Crimea, and no land border to cross - then how did this “immaculate invasion” actually happen?

Well, it didn’t! So, what really happened? What happened was exactly what Putin said had happened. After the bloody coup in Kiev, and the NGO “soft-power” rent-a-mob demo in Crimea, Crimea’s own version of US State “National Guard” units took to the streets to protect their own brothers and sisters. The local “Self Defense Units” of the Crimeans themselves were already there. The NGO Tatars quickly dispersed and that was the end of it.

You may ask; what about those “16,000 Russian troops” in Crimea that the press kept screaming about? (another 150,000 Google results for that mantra) Again, those 16,000 were already stationed in Crimea according to the terms of a Treaty which allows up to 25,000 Russian troops to be based there. (3) So, again, those 16,000 were already there, and never actually deployed.

From the media coverage, one might have imagined that the 2nd battle of Stalingrad had taken place; or perhaps Gettysburg? But the final casualty numbers for this epic “Battle of Crimea” speak for themselves:

Killed in Action: 0 / Injured: 0 / Taken Prisoner: 0 / Shots fired: 0 / Snowballs thrown: 0 / Russian Troops invading Crimea: 0

That was some “invasion,” eh? Almost as deadly as America’s invasion and occupation of Iraq, wasn’t it? Indeed, more people actually died in Senator Ted Kennedy’s submerged car than did in Putin’s “invasion” of Crimea.

Weeks after the “immaculate invasion,” the happy people of Crimea voted to return to Mother Russia with a 97% majority. Even the majority of Tatars supported the referendum. (4)

Then came the next mendacious mantra from the piranha press, “Russia Annexes Crimea” (1,000,000 Google results for variations of that term). Technically, the incorporation of a smaller body into a larger one could be considered an “annexation.” But the connotation of the word generally has a nasty stink to it. A better way, a more honest way, to describe what had happened would have been to say that Russian Crimea reunited with Mother Russia. The manipulation of words left most people with the false impression that Russia conquered Crimea by force, instead of the truth -- namely, that Crimea happily “conquered” itself for Russia!

The “annexation” was followed by more threats from Obongo and the pygmies of the EU. But China, India, Argentina and Brazil calmly expressed an understanding of Russia’s position. One can easily imagine scores of leaders from smaller nations, the ones who fear the US-EU monster, secretly pumping their fists in glee as they mutter sotto voce, and behind some very thick closed doors, “Go Vladdy! Go Vladdy!”

Talk of again deploying missiles bases in Poland then returned. And two US Senators (Mark Kirk & Dan Coates) actually wrote a letter to FIFA (Governing Body of Football/Soccer), demanding that Russia be expelled from the upcoming 2014 World Cup of Soccer in Brazil. (5) FIFA refused.

Very dangerous talk now flowed out of the mouths of some of America’s new puppets in Kiev. Yulia Tymoshenko, the former puppet Prime Minister, darling of the 2004 “Orange Revolution and recently liberated White Collar jailbird, stated that it was time to begin killing Russians in Eastern Ukraine and to start a nuclear World War against Russia. The cunning bleached blonde Lady MacBeth of Ukraine was not so imprudent to say such things publicly of course, but evidently, the Russian must have their own version of NSA spying capability. Secretly caught on tape, the fuming Billionairess ranted to a political ally:

It’s about time we grab our guns and kill go kill those damn Russians together with their leader (Putin) ....I’m ready to grab a machine gun and shoot that mother fucker in the head.

Ukrainians must take up arms against the Russians so that not even scorched earth will be left where Russia stands. “I hope I will be able to get all my connections involved. And I will use all of my means to make the entire world rise up, so that there wouldn’t be even a scorched field left in Russia”. (6) (emphasis added)

The genocidal remarks have been immortalized on YouTube (see for yourself) and Yulia herself confirmed their authenticity. If she were merely just some low level NGO street activist, one could laugh her rant off as meaningless. But the fact that she was one of Kiev’s most influential political players, with high-powered connections in the West (she wasn’t kidding about those), got the Russians of eastern Ukraine very nervous.
Tymoshenko knew that if she can start murdering innocent Russians in Donbas Ukraine, Putin would have been be forced to really invade. And that’s when all hell was to have broken loose! For that is the day is when “The International Community” (bow your head) will be forced to honor its military guarantees to defend “the sovereignty of Ukraine.”

The baiting of Putin to invade Ukraine would utilize the same template which Globalist Britain and France used to bait Hitler into invading Poland on September 1, 1939. Just one week before World War II broke out; Britain had pledged direct military involvement in the event of a German invasion of Poland (The Anglo-Polish Common Defense Pact). (7) Before the ink on the deal had even dried, guerillas units in Poland (likely Bolsheviks) had begun mutilating and murdering innocent Germans who had come under Polish rule following the cruel “peace treaties” which followed World War I. (8) Germans living near the Polish border also suffered incursions and violent attacks.

Dismissed as “Nazi propaganda” at the time, these terrorist attacks and massacres did indeed take place. The killings cannot be denied, so “historians” simply edit them out. Suffice it to say that the Germans took the bait and that’s how the party got started.

It would again be too much of a digression of time and focus to explore the omissions of the official World War II saga. The mere mention of the “H-word” has probably got most readers “a peeing in their pants” already. So, for the sake of argument and for the sake of staying on topic, let us accept the conventional portrayal of Adolf Hitler as the Devil Incarnate. To ease the reader’s mind, we’ll even place some pointed horns on his head and a pitchfork in his hand. Feel better now?

That being said, the fact remains that from the days of the 19th century Crimean War, through the Spanish-American War, through World Wars I & II, to the Cold War conflicts of Korea & Vietnam, and up to the more recent NATO assaults in Yugoslavia, Iraq, Afghanistan, Pakistan, Africa, Libya, Syria, etc; “The International Community” (you know the routine) does not go to war for altruistic motives.

Not now, not ever.
The War in Donbass

In March of 2014, the Russians of the eastern Ukrainian regions known as Donetsk and Luhansk (collectively referred to as Donbass) also sought their independence from the illegitimate US puppet regime in Kiev. Contrary to western media propaganda, the ongoing War in Donbass is not the result of Russian subversion or clandestine invasion, but rather, the direct consequence of the illegal coup in Kiev engineered by Obongo, McCain, Nuland et al.

The Russian-speaking people of Donbass had voted overwhelmingly for the ousted President Yanukovich, and they were simply not going to submit to an illegally installed, pro-NATO, anti-Russian regime that had already banned the use of their Russian language in official documents. This is what the Donbass freedom fighters are rebelling against, yet Congress wants to arm the puppet tyrants instead. Evidently, the “democratic” West only believes in “democracy” when it yields the results it wants.

Since the start of the bloody conflict, there have been many ceasefires, each intended to be indefinite, but all collapsing because the ceasefires were intended to buy the Kiev forces time to regroup and replenish in the face of the fierce resistance fight waged by the tenacious freedom fighters of Donetsk and Luhansk.

Contrary to media reports, the pro-Russian freedom fighters of the Donbass region are “the good guys.” The corrupt Globalist puppets who now rule Ukraine are the true aggressors.
July, 2014: Who shot down MH 17?

Malaysia Airlines Flight 17 was a scheduled passenger flight from Amsterdam to Malaysia that was shot down while flying over the Donbass region, killing all 283 passengers and 15 crew on board. Before the wreckage had even been recovered, the propagandizing Piranha Press of America and Europe had already fingered the culprits -- the Donbass militias and their “handler,” Vladimir Putin.

The eastern Ukrainians made the entirely plausible counter-claim that MH 17 was not shot down by their recklessness with Russian-made missiles, but rather, by Kiev or CIA/NATO for the strategic purpose of inciting the world against them and Russia. For weeks on end, Putin was viciously condemned in the world press for a tragic event which he had absolutely nothing to do with, neither by intention nor by negligence.

The images that follow represent only a fraction of the outrageous Fake News hate campaign that ensued in the wake of the MH 17 incident:
It was during this time that Putin’s 29-year old daughter, Maria, was forced to flee the Netherlands due to Leftist threats and calls for protests in front of her apartment. (1) By the time the hysteria of MH 17 had subsided, most TV-addicted Americans had a negative impression of Vladimir Putin. In September, Petro Poroshenko, the new illegitimate puppet President of Ukraine was welcomed to a joint session of the United States Congress.

As his troops continued to wage war upon the Russians of Donbass, the hated tyrant was afforded the honor of delivering a long speech that was repeatedly interrupted by standing applause by the great majorities of criminals and fools of both American political parties. He was also welcomed with similar honor and warmth at Obongo’s White House.

As of this writing, 2017, the CIA-NATO-Kiev war in Donbass has claimed the lives of about 13,000 people -- about 3,000 of them civilians. The Globalists want to bait Putin into invading Eastern Ukraine. Knowing that such a move could be used to trigger a wider European war, Putin has wisely resisted. Using the phony pretext of a “Russian threat” to Poland, Latvia, Estonia, Lithuania and Norway, NATO, in spite of loud Russian objections, continues its “defensive” missile and military build-up along Russia’s frontiers.
Poroshenko is an illegitimate gangster who serves the Globalists

A Warning from Putin, October 2016:

Headline: UK Express: (October 18, 2016) US nuclear war fears: Vladimir Putin warns Americans are in 'impending and grave danger'

Sub-Headline: Vladimir Putin has warned "we are in grave danger" as he accused the United States of lying over its nuclear capabilities and revealed Russia continues to develop new generation warfare.

“I’m not going to list everything, all that matters is we have modernized our military-industrial complex and we continue to develop new generation warfare.

No matter what we said to our American partners to curb the production of weaponry they refused to cooperate with us, they rejected out offers, and continue to do their own thing.

Some things I cannot tell you right now publicly that would be rude of me and whether or not you believe me, we offered real solutions to stop this. They rejected everything we had to offer.”

So here we are today and they’ve placed their missile defense system in Romania always saying ‘we must protect ourselves from the Iranian nuclear threat’.

“Where’s the threat? There is no Iranian nuclear threat. You even have an agreement with them and the US was the instigator of this agreement, where we helped. We supported it. But if not for the US then this agreement would not exist which I consider President Obama’s achievement.

The missile defense systems are continuing to be positioned. That means we were right when we said that they are lying to us. Their reasons were not genuine, in reference to the ‘Iranian nuclear threat’. Once again, they lied to us.

So they built this system and now they are being loaded with missiles.... But we know that technologies advance. We even know in which year the Americans will accomplish a new missile, which will be able to penetrate distances of up to 1000km, and then even further. “And from that moment on they will be able to directly threaten Russia’s nuclear potential.

We know year by year what’s going to happen and they know that we know. It’s only you (the media) that they tell tales to, and you spread it to the citizens of your countries.

Your people, in turn, do not feel a sense of the impending danger - this is what worries me. How can you not understand that the world is being pulled in an irreversible direction?”(2)
CHAPTER 20
Russia’s War Against ISIS

In April of 2013, a militant organization calling itself ISIS (Islamic State in Syria and Iraq) burst onto the “world stage” with enormous media fanfare. ISIS is actually an offshoot of the same CIA/Mossad mercenary force that had been operating in Syria since 2011. The new packaging has a strategic purpose. You see, unlike the “moderate rebels” which the CIA openly admits to training and arming in the same way that they had trained and armed the Mujahadeen of Afghanistan back in the 70’s and 80’s, the bad guys of ISIS commit atrocities intended to shock the world and draw the US directly into the conflict – the stated purpose being to “stop ISIS,” -- the real purpose being to overthrow Assad of Syria so that poor innocent little persecuted Israel can expand and dominate the region.

The ISIS atrocity marketing campaign has three elements:

1. The indiscriminate killing and women-kidnapping of Iraqis and Syrians. (which were real)
2. The destruction and theft of priceless historical artifacts (which was real)
3. The “beheadings” of various “aid workers” and “journalists” – (which were all fake.)
4. Terror bombings throughout Europe, which appear to mix real attacks with fake “crisis actors.”

Rather than succeeding in its aim to draw US troops directly into the CIA/Mossad/Saudi proxy war against Assad, the ISIS horror show gave Putin, with Syrian permission, the cover he needed to unleash aerial hell upon the terrorist army, while providing the regular Syrian military with critical tactical support and weaponry. Iran and the Hezbollah militias of Lebanon also helped. But without Russian airpower, ISIS and the “moderate rebels” would probably have succeeded in overthrowing the government by now. At the very least, much liberated territory would still be under terrorist control.

By raising the stakes to a potential World War III scenario, Russia’s direct involvement in Syria also made it much more difficult for the US to become directly involved. Throughout Putin’s program of ridding his Syrian ally of the terrorist scum, the Globalists condemned Russia, not the “rebels” for the violence in Syria. Some of the more extremist warmongers, such as John McCain and Hillary Clinton, even called for instituting a “no fly zone” to shoot down Russian aircraft. But Russia is too strong to confront directly without triggering a World War III scenario which even many Globalists are hesitant to start. Russia, and its allies, China and Iran, all understand that the long-term objective of the Globalists is to continue recruiting, weaponizing, financing and training these cancerous terrorist armies until they can be unleashed against Iran, and then Russia (as they previously had been in Chechnya) and China.

Putin on outside funding of ISIS:

“I provided examples based on our data on the financing of different Islamic State units by private individuals. This money, as we have established, comes from 40 countries and, there are some of the G20 members among them.

I’ve shown our colleagues photos taken from space and from aircraft which clearly demonstrate the scale of the illegal trade in oil and petroleum products. “The motorcade of refueling vehicles stretched for dozens of kilometers, so that from a height of 4,000 to 5,000 meters they stretch beyond the horizon.” (1)

The damage that Russia has inflicted upon ISIS and other mercenary armies is yet another reason for the Globalist Zionist hate campaign against Putin.

“Don’t make it worse for yourselves.”

Russian leaflets dropped over Syrian “rebels” depict Israeli hand and US dial controlling ISIS (2)
What Do ISIS and Spider Man Have In Common?

By M S King, originally published at TomatoBubble.com

November 25, 2015

The manufactured phoniness of this bogeyman known as 'ISIS' is obvious in so many ways. For today's bit of ISIS-debunking, your child-at-heart reporter here harkens back to the exciting comic-book tales of 'The Amazing Spider Man' -- the coolest super-hero ever!

Apart from the fact that both Spider Man and ISIS Man are children's stories; and apart from the fact that both wear full facial masks; there is a third thing the two have in common -- a commonality which gives the game away by exposing their respective identities.

As those of you who read the comics as children, or saw either the TV cartoons or the more recent Hollywood movie versions know; Spider Man is really Peter Parker -- a teen-aged nerd who works part-time as a photographer for The Daily Bugle. Month after month, as Spider Man dispatches one super-villain after another, Peter Parker amazes his cigar-chomping boss, J. Jonah Jameson, with his uncanny ability to be in the right place at the right time to capture photos of Spider Man in action. The photos pay well for young Parker. Scoop after scoop after scoop, and still no one is able to figure out Peter's secret for obtaining such blockbuster photos of New York's favorite Super Hero and the related crime scenes.
Years ahead of his time, Peter Parker places an automated tracking device in his suit so that the camera he sets up always takes great shots of Spider-Man in action.

Who would ever suspect that the masked man and the "lucky" photographer are one in the same!

Now, what has this got to do with ISIS Man? Well, you see boys and girls, ISIS Man also has a photographer - and videographer - with this weird ability to obtain the only images of ISIS Man. Her name is Rita Katz, and her "organization" is known as SITE (Search for International Terrorist Entities). You may have seen the SITE logo on so many of the internationally televised images of ISIS Man. Have a look and see:
ISIS Man "beheads" James Foley. ISIS Man "beheads" Joel Sotloff. ISIS Man "beheads" David Haines.

ISIS Man "beheads" Alan Henning. ISIS Men "behead" a whole bunch of Christians! ISIS Man "beheads" Kenji Goto

ISIS Knife-Man hams it up for the cameras -- "Allah Akbar!"
It's perfectly OK to laugh because NOBODY was actually hurt in these silly SITE "beheading" videos! Even The Times of London reported on the fakeness of the very first "beheading" video -- before suddenly dropping the story the next day.

And there are plenty more such goof-ball scenes where those came from -- and they are still coming! Who is this Rita Katz woman who heads up SITE as its Executive Director? And: how in the world does she pull so many 'Peter Parker' scoop-photos and videos out of her Magic Hat? Well, self-professed 'terrorism analyst' and pathological Muslim-basher Rita Katz is an Iraqi-born Jew whose family moved to Israel after her wealthy father was accused of being a Mossad agent, and then executed for treason. In Israel she served in the merciless IDF (Israeli Defense Force) and graduated from Tel Aviv University. Since 2002, Katz has run SITE out of Washington DC.

SITE is the same outfit that released the ridiculously fake computer animated video of gray-bearded Osama Bin Laden back in 2004 -- and then another in 2007 with the 'Just For Men' hair coloring saturated throughout his beard!
Katz's ghoulish game is to embarrass Muslims and to draw NATO into the Syrian theater for the concealed purpose of overthrowing President Assad. As surreal, as astonishing, and as hard-to-believe as it may be; this is the woman whose comical 'beheading' images and 'ISIS statements' are taken at face value and broadcast without question by the Piranha Press. Just have look at this idiotic crap!

The fake 'beheading' videos cut to black just as the throats of the strangely calm 'victims' are about to be cut by the really bad actors in black. The 'victims' (always in U.S. standard issue orange jumpsuits) don't even squirm! Intense media pressure builds for Obama to "do something" in order to "stop ISIS".

More recently, The New York Times, aka "the paper of record", and the whole damn European Press cited SITE as the source for the ISIS "claim of responsibility" for the Friday the 13th Paris attacks of 11-13-15. From the NY Times of November 14, 2015:

"The Islamic State claimed responsibility on Saturday for the catastrophic attacks in the French capital, calling them “the first of the storm --- according to a transcript provided by the SITE Intelligence Group, which tracks jihadist propaganda.”

Scoop after scoop after scoop after scoop of "beheading videos" that no one else has been able to even get close to. How does the Amazing Rita manage to pull it off? --- Ask Peter Parker.

1- Rita the "terrorism expert" on CNN
2- Spidey says: "Rita & Friends = Mossad / ISIS"

- End of article
Let's stop pretending that the elephant in the living room isn't really there and proclaim the obvious: the Globalists are executing prominent Russians. Evidently the Russian government, in an effort to avoid a war which may already be inevitable, is too afraid to say it out loud. Taken individually, any of the following events can be dismissed as "coincidental." But when weighed collectively, the laws of probabilities prove otherwise.

JUNE, 2014

Headline: NY Daily News (June 6, 2014): Topless Femen protester stabs Vladimir Putin — actually his wax figure — in Paris museum

“A topless feminist protester has stabbed a waxwork of Russian leader Vladimir Putin in a Paris museum.

The women, from the protest group Femen, carried out the attack with a chisel, attacking the model of the Russian leader in the face.”(1)

Headline: The Daily Beast (March 10, 2016): RT (Russia Today TV) Founder Mikhail Lesin’s Fishy Blunt Force ‘Suicide’

Sub-Headline: It had been a mystery for months, but evidence of foul play has mounted in the death of Kremlin-backed media figure Mikhail Lesin.

“An ex-aide to Russian President Vladimir Putin did not die of a heart attack in a Washington, D.C., hotel room last year as was previously reported, but from “blunt force injuries of the head” as well as “the neck, torso, upper extremities, and lower extremities,” a spokesperson with the D.C. medical examiner’s office told The Daily Beast.” (2)

“Too many churches have burned to call it an accident,” said Dr. Dušan T. Bataković, a former Serbian ambassador who is now director of the Institute for Balkan Studies in Belgrade.

“It is very strange that it happened, that the fires all took place on Easter, the greatest Christian Orthodox holiday,” he said. “Some kind of terrorist action cannot be excluded.”
In addition to the fire that engulfed St. Sava, churches in Sydney and Melbourne, Australia, and in northern Russia were all engulfed in flames just hours after Easter services."

Four fires in one day: Orthodox Churches in New York, Sydney and Melbourne Australia and a monastery in Russia are all torched on Orthodox Easter Sunday (May 1, also Communist May Day)

AUGUST, 2016

PBS: Former CIA Acting Director openly calls for the clandestine killing of Russians in Syria.

“What they need is to have the Russians and Iranians pay a little price,” Morell said. “When we were in Iraq, the Iranians were giving weapons to the Shia militia, who were killing American soldiers, right? The Iranians were making us pay a price. We need to make the Iranians pay a price in Syria. We need to make the Russians pay a price.”

Morell said the killing of Russians and Iranians should be undertaken “covertly, so you don’t tell the world about it, you don’t stand up at the Pentagon and say ‘we did this.’ But you make sure they know it in Moscow and Tehran.”

Initial reports said he had fallen to his death from the roof, but consulate officials said he had a heart attack and hit his head. The New York city medical examiner later contradicted these explanations, saying he died of internal bleeding related to a tumor. (6)

Headline: Yahoo News (August 24, 2017): A Fourth Russian Ambassador in 9 Months Is Now Dead

“Serving as a foreign diplomat has never been the safest business, nor has working for the government of Russian President Vladimir Putin. The intersection of those two gigs is even more dangerous. Russia's ambassador to Sudan was found dead in the African nation's capital of Khartoum Wednesday, according to The New York Times. That makes Mirogagay Shirinsky, a career diplomat in his early 60s, the fourth senior envoy from the Kremlin to "die prematurely" in the last nine months.” (12)

Mirgayas Shirinsky was found dead in a swimming pool. Russia and anti-Globalist Sudan have become very close.

As confirmed in Senate testimony, the CIA’s “Heart-Attack-Gun” is real! (13)

CIA and Mossad can take a man down by inducing a "heart attack" or even "cancer." Image 1 of the "heart attack gun" is from Senator Church's hearings of 1975.
CHAPTER 22
The War on Russia’s Athletes

In early 2016, the international sports media began buzzing with the rumor that a prominent women’s tennis star was about to be “outed” for using banned performance-enhancing drugs. Some speculated that the super-muscular American tennis star, Serena Williams, was about to finally get busted for her long-rumored use of steroids. What a shock it was the star in question turned out to be the Russian superstar, Maria Sharapova.

Headlines: New York Times:

Maria Sharapova Admits Taking Meldonium, Drug Newly Banned by Tennis (1)

Maria Sharapova’s Admission Sends Her Sponsors Fleeing (2)

Due mainly to her numerous endorsement contracts, the lovely Russian tennis sensation was the world’s highest-paid female athlete. But in an instant, her tennis career and endorsement contracts went up in flames. Her supposed offense -- according to the Globalist-controlled “World Doping Agency?” She tested positive for meldonium, a "performance enhancing" drug which had been added to the banned list only weeks earlier.

Her real offense? -- Maria is a beautiful blond Orthodox Christian from the country headed by Vladimir Putin -- who is a big fan of Sharapova. Making matters worse, she refused to renounce her Russian citizenship and become an American, even though she has lived in Florida since she was seven years old.
The Daily Mail: Maria Sharapova Says She is Proud to be Russian and Would Never Turn Her Back on Her Homeland (3)

Get the picture now?

Carrying the Olympic Torch at the Opening Ceremonies for the 2014 Winter Olympics in Sochi -- her home town and second residence.

Love of country and folk is a big no-no in the eyes of the Globalists.

Sharapova maintains that she was unaware of the change before receiving notification of her positive test. This seems very believable because the obscure drug was buried in an updated list of banned substances sent to tennis players in the form of an E-mail attachment! Sharapova said her family doctor began prescribing the then-legal drug ten years ago, in 2006, after several health problems arose, such as frequent cases of the flu.

"I was getting sick very often," she said. "I had a deficiency in magnesium. I had irregular EKG results, and I had a family history of diabetes and there were signs of diabetes." (4)

Sharapova’s lawyer said after the news conference that meldonium brought these ailments under control. But the anti-Russian Piranha Press went into a feeding frenzy with the gutless corporate response being equally out of proportion. From a New York Times article:

"The commercial fallout was swift. Nike, one of Sharapova’s longtime sponsors, announced in a statement that it was suspending its relationship with her “while the investigation continues.” Sharapova has her own clothing line with Nike, with whom she signed an eight-year extension in 2010 that could reportedly be worth up to $70 million." (5)

Typical corporate cowardice: Nike, TAG Heuer, Porsche --- all running for cover in fear --- dumped Sharapova.

The authors of that article actually presented the facts of this case in a fair and objective manner which almost portrays Sharapova an unfortunate victim of bureaucratic bungling and innocent ignorance. Sharapova's lawyer was again quoted:

"But Haggerty said enhancing performance was never Sharapova’s intent.

“Maria was completely unaware there was any performance-enhancing capabilities to it whatsoever,” Haggerty said. “All the things, the medical conditions she was being treated for with this drug, had nothing to do with enhancing her performance. It had to do with her getting her health to a normal baseline.” (6)

Evidently, the Sports reporters of Sulzberger's Slimes are not filled with the same red-hot hatred for Russia manifested by the felonious fiends who ink the News and Editorial stuff. This sympathetic portrayal was not the case with other featured articles which seemed to almost gloat over Maria’s destruction.

One has to wonder if deduce that the sudden banning of meldonium -- said by some scientists to be no more “performance-enhancing” than a cup of coffee -- announced by quietly adding the drug's name to a long list sent out by E-mail, was an elaborate trap intended to ruin the patriotic Russian. Meanwhile, American tennis star Serena Gorilliams just keeps getting bigger and stronger and faster (though injuries do appear to be finally catching up with her) as the politically correct Tennis World, fearful of being accused of "racism", just 'looks the other way' at her oh-so-bloody-damn-obvious use of steroids.

Will the injustices and double-standards ever cease? Maria Sharapova may not exactly die of starvation now, but where does this lovely and classy Russian lady go to get her good name back -- now that the denizens of the Piranha Press have dirtied it with their deceptive diarrhea? But Sharapova’s ordeal wasn’t the end of the Globalist dirty “meldonium” war on Russia’s athletes – it was only the beginning.

THE WEAPONIZATION OF ATHLETICS

Since the days of the anti-Hitler propaganda surrounding the 1936 Berlin Olympic Games, down through the mutual 1980 & 1984 boycotts of the Russian and American Summer Olympics respectively, geo-politics has often been injected into the quadrennial spectacles that are the Summer Olympic Games, the Winter Olympic Games, the World Cup of Football (Soccer), and various other events. With massive global audiences glued to their TV’s and radios, attempts to ruin athletes by playing politics with sports are as inevitable as they are disgraceful.

The year 2016, and continuing into 2017, would witness an all-out Globalist assault aimed at Russian athletics -- a propaganda campaign set against the dangerous backdrop of NATO's ongoing "in-your-face" military build-up along Russia's borders.

1980 - 1984 - 2006
Athletes used as geo-political pawns.

June, 2015: FIFA (International Football/Soccer) President and "friend of Putin" Sepp Blatter was forced to resign after strongly defending "aggressor" Russia's right to host the 2018 World Cup tournament, and also threatening to support the banning of Israel from FIFA.

March, 2016: FINA (International Swimming Federation) suspended Russian World Champion Yulia Yefimova for testing positive for meldonium – which had always been a legal substance. Only in 2016 was it suddenly (and quietly) added to the banned substance lists of various sports.

April, 2016: After testing positive for meldonium, the EBU (European Boxing) stripped Russian boxing champion Igor Mikhalkin of his "light-heavyweight" championship title and banned him from boxing for 2 years. We repeat, meldonium had always been legal. Only in 2016 was it suddenly and quietly added to the banned substance lists of various sports.
1- FIFA boss Sepp Blatters "bromance" with Putin was mocked by the western press. 2- World Champion Yefimova: suspended for testing positive for meldonium -- only weeks after it was quietly added to list of banned substances. 3- World Champion Mikhakin: suspended for testing positive for meldonium.

April, 2016: Ice Skating pair Bobrova and Solovyov banned from World Championships due to the meldonium scam.

April, 2016: The ENTIRE Russian U18 (Under 18) Hockey Team was suspended and replaced with younger players after several players tested positive for meldonium.

May, 2016: At the last minute, a heavyweight boxing championship fight between Alexander Povetkin and Black American hype job Deonte Wilder was cancelled because a Doctor Irene Goodman's drug testing operation claimed to have found a microscopic trace of meldonium in Povetkin's blood!

1- Bobrova & Solovyov -- meldonium & meldonium  2- The meldonium trick was used to bait and replace the entire Russian U18 team with weaker, younger players. 3- Povetkin was also “meldoniumed.”
June, 2016: After Russian and British fans clashed at the European Cup in France, UEFA (European Football) issued a "suspended disqualification" of the Russian team, which means that one more misstep by Russian fans will disqualify the Russian team. Though the British fans were at least as responsible for the fighting, Britain was not disciplined.

Said Putin, sarcastically, of the controversy:

“I don’t know how 200 Russian fans could beat several thousand of the British.”(7)

English fans, notorious for their hooliganism, were just as violent as the Russian fighters. But only Russia was punished!

June, 2016, Rio Olympics: Under the pretext of "doping violations," (meldonium) the IOC (International Olympic Committee) banned the entire Russian Track & Field Team from the upcoming Summer Olympics to be hosted by Brazil -- crushing the hopes and dreams of so many world class Russian athletes who had trained for many years. Of course, the IOC continues to ignore the international reality of performance-enhancing substances in sports.
UNPRECEDENTED!

An entire track & field team tarred with one broad brush and banned from the Olympics. Years of sacrifice and grueling training --- flushed down the drain just weeks before their dreams could be realized.

The Lily King incident

Not understanding the political scheming behind the rigged allegations of "Russian doping,” ignorant American swimmer Lily King made life miserable for Russian star Yulia Efimova. During a televised interview, King caused a huge stir when she stated:

“You’re shaking your finger ‘# 1’ and you’ve been caught for drug cheating. I’m not a fan.” (8)

The 19 year-old bully didn’t back down from her comments when she again spoke with reporters:

“That’s kind of my personality. I’m not just this sweet little girl.... If I do need to stir it up to put a little fire under my butt or anybody else’s, then that’s what I’m going to do." (9)

Efimova later revealed how King's bullying antics, both in word and in body language, made the Olympic experience a stress-filled "nightmare" for her:

"It was awful. She is young but she should understand more. The people who did not congratulate me because the media was full of fake stories about me. "But on the other hand I don’t really understand the foreign competitors. All athletes should be above politics, but they just watch TV and believe everything they read." I always thought the Cold War was long in the past. Why start it again, by using sport? I'd like my competitors to show at least a drop of understanding of my situation.

She (King) is young. She doesn't know how life is going on. I hope that she changes, changes her mind and everything." (10)

September, 2016, Rio Paralympics: And finally, the cruelest cut ever perpetrated in the history of sport. The entire Russian Paralympic team was banned from the special games for partially crippled, amputee and disabled athletes! You heard right -- on the basis of the meldonium trap that regular Russian athletes fell into, these poor amputees and wheelchair-bound Russians saw all their hard work in dreams go up in Globalist smoke.

Courageous Paralympians take their training seriously and live for the big event held every four years. They compete in many sports and are grouped in categories with athletes of similar handicaps. What type of demonic spirit would steal the dream of crippled Russian competitors who were never even accused of taking substances?

August 2017, London World Track & Field Championships: And still the punishment of Russia wasn't over yet. The blanket ban was extended to include the 2017 World Championships.
Election 2016: Putin & Trump

The Quadrennial Freak Show known as the US Presidential Election campaign featured vicious Putin-bashing and Russia-bashing from all of the Republican contenders as well as Democrats. One by one, playing for the Establishment’s approval, each of the main, as well as secondary candidates, boasted of how tough they would get with Vlad the Bad. Of the 22 total candidates of both parties, there was one, and only one candidate who refused to join the hate campaign against Russia – Donald Trump.

Trump, on the campaign trail:

“They want me to denounce Putin. Why would I denounce him. For what? For what? You know, it’s sort of interesting. Wouldn’t it be nice if we actually got along with Russia, and China, and all of these countries. Wouldn’t it be nice?” (1)

Primarily for his boldly stated intention of repairing relations with Russia, but also due to his correct belief that man-made Global Warming is a hoax created by the Globalists in order to control the world’s economies and energy distribution, Trump was subjected to a vicious smear campaign by the Globalist elite. The New York Times once ran 31 anti-Trump pieces in a single issue, (2) many of them linking Trump to Big Bad Vlad.

“Well, that’s because he (Putin) would rather have a puppet (Trump) for president in the United States.” – Globalist Hillary Clinton
In spite of the smear campaign, and in spite of massive Democrat voter fraud, and in spite of opposition from the leadership of his own Republican Party, on November 8, 2016, Trump shocked the world with a stunning upset victory over the Globalists’ Golden Girl, Hillary Clinton. But the anti-Trump hate campaign was not to subside. Within days of his victory, with nearly three months until his swearing-in as the 45th President, a campaign of endless slander regarding an imaginary collaboration between Trump and Putin to “rig the election” ensued.

This smear campaign and the subsequent “investigations” would cripple the Trump presidency throughout much of 2017, and make any efforts to meet with Putin to restore normal relations with Russia impossible.

1. Globalists were shocked when Trump proposed at meeting to be held with Putin in Iceland. 2. Mural in the puppet state of Lithuania depicts Putin and Trump kissing.

Trump still managed to terminate the CIA’s not-so-secret program of arming the “rebels” of Syria, aka ISIS. Russia’s bombing of the terrorist army from the air coupled with Trump’s denial of aid to the terrorists thwarted the Globalist-Zionist scheme of toppling Syria’s Assad – an important development which should not be overlooked when evaluating the motives behind the dual hate campaign against Putin and Trump.

Headline: New York Times (July 19, 2016): Trump Ends Covert Aid to Syrian Rebels

“President Trump has ended the clandestine American program to provide arms and supplies to Syrian rebel groups, American officials said, a recognition that the effort was failing and that the administration has given up hope of helping to topple the government of President Bashar al-Assad.

The decision came more than a month ago, the officials said, by which time the effort to deliver the arms had slowed to a trickle.

It was never publicly announced, just as the beginnings of the program four years ago were officially a secret, authorized by President Barack Obama through a “finding” that permitted the C.I.A. to conduct a deniable program. News of the troublesome program soon leaked out.” (3)

One by one, the “pro-Russians” close to Trump were forced out by the Globalist Republican element which appears to have taken control of the White House. House and Senate Republicans, with very few exceptions, remain united against Putin’s “aggression” and Putin’s “election tampering” – even going so far as to pass a new law preventing Trump from lifting economic sanctions against Russia.

Trump’s Ambassador to the UN, Nikki Haley, and Trump’s Vice President, Mike Pence, openly contradict their nominal boss on the issue of Russia. Even the Globalist-Marxist Pope Francis has taken cheap shots at both Trump and Putin! (4)

When the “Russian collusion” card failed to achieve its desired outcome of removing Trump from office, the press went after Trump for “racism.” The media’s war on Trump has been so relentless and so blatantly biased that it has caused thinking people to begin questioning why the press (and Hollywood) hates Trump so much. But what very few people, even among Trump’s most ardent supporters, understand is this: the War on Trump is actually part of the War on Putin.
1. Republican Leaders Paul Ryan and Mitch McConnell drag their feet on all of Trump’s proposals. But when it came to imposing economic sanctions on Russia, they moved very decisively and against Trump’s wishes. 2. McCain the Insane and his queer Senatorial side-kick Lindsey Graham have been undermining Trump at every turn.

Putin and Trump are routinely and mercilessly mocked on Saturday Night Live. The entertainment industry is ultimately controlled by the same “powers that be” as the Fake News media.

“Once we know the Russians weren’t involved, then we have to understand that this massive propaganda campaign, this historic con-job that happened after the election to prevent our president from exercising the powers granted to him by the voters, this is one of the great political crimes committed against the American people in our history.” (5) – Congressman Dana Rohrabacher

INTRODUCTION

Since its founding in 1851 by Republican Henry Jarvis Raymond, The NY Times has been a big player in shaping public opinion. But it was not until 1896 that the Times took a turn to the internationalist Left when it was purchased by a German-Jew named Adolph Ochs. In 1897, Ochs himself would coin the paper's now famous self-serving slogan, printed on its masthead every day ever since: "All the News That’s Fit to Print".

Ochs’ daughter married Arthur Hays Sulzberger, who became publisher when Adolph died. Ochs’ great grandson Arthur Ochs Sulzberger, Jr. is the publisher of the NY Times today. So, for 1.2 centuries, America’s most influential propaganda sheet has been in the hands of the same Zionist-Marxist family. Count on The Times to promote big government, Globalism, phony environmentalism, Israel, the Fed, and endless wars.

The erudite writer Gore Vidal once referred to the Slimes as “the typhoid Mary of American journalism.” Just how powerful is what your fighting author here likes to refer to “Sulzberger’s Slimes?” One need only glance at the morning headlines of “the paper of record”, and then take note of how the superficial infomercials known as “the Nightly News” will so often pick up on whatever front page fairy-tale that the Manhattan Mendacity Machine spun that very same morning.

Like some journalistic plague; the virus of lies, half-truths and cherry-picked data then infects the unguarded minds of the whole country, and indeed, the world. Such is the undisputable power and undeserved “prestige” of this dreadful “Orwellian” institution.

The Anti-New York Times was originally established as, and still is, a pay-to-view daily subpage of TomatoBubble.com. Dating back to January of 2015, the collected rebuttals to the Slimes’ Spin have been published for sale in Quarterly book format. (See Amazon Author Page for M S King) pieces which the Slimes ran from 2015 to 2017. In addition to being highly informative and thought-provoking, these ANYT articles will give the reader a true sense of the shocking scope of the Slimes’ disgusting, deceitful, daily and demonic propaganda about Putin and Russia – a relentless campaign of lies and deceit that sets the course for the rest of the world’s “Piranha Press” to follow.

NY Times: MacArthur Foundation to Close Offices in Russia

By SABRINA TAVERNISE

The MacArthur Foundation is closing its offices in Russia after more than 20 years of grant-making here, becoming the latest casualty of new restrictions meant to limit the influence of foreign organizations in Russia.

REBUTTAL BY

The Anti-New York Times

Big bad Vlad strikes again! After 20 years of making grants to Russian subversives, er, "human rights" groups, the John D. and Catherine T. MacArthur Foundation of PBS funding fame is no longer welcome in Russia. Under a law, signed by Putin two months ago, "undesirable" foreign entities can be restricted or expelled. The MacArthur Foundation has just been fingered -- and Sulzberger's Slimes doesn't like it; not one bit!

The felonious foundation, based in Chicago, has awarded $173 million in grants in Russia since 1992. The grants financed activities related to "higher education" (brainwashing of Russian students), "human rights" (funding for anti-Putin agitators) and limiting the proliferation of nuclear weapons (de-clawing and de-fanging of the Russian Bear).
The MacArthur Group (and others) fund PBS's Charlatan Rose Show. The greasy globalist ghoul then invites vile Putin-haters like anti-family lesbian Masha Gessen, Yelstin-era crime boss Mikhail Khordokovsky, and the Anarchist anti-Christian Pussy Riot skanks to come on his show and trash Russia.

In response to accusations of subversion, the mendacious Marxists of MacArthur moaned:

'We are entirely independent of the United States government and receive no funding from it. We have never supported political activities or other actions that could reasonably be construed as meeting the definition of 'undesirable.' '

Technically, MacArthur is independent of the nominal U.S. Government -- hence the label "NGO" (Non Governmental Organization). But the MacArthur gang does indeed work for the real U.S. government; that network of interlocking Globalist Oligarchs who install Presidents and Senators (Soros, Rockefeller, Rothschild, Council on Foreign Relations, Trilateral Commission, Bilderbergers etc).
The phrase “non-governmental organization” came into use with the post-World War II establishment of the United Nations. The term mandates a consultative role for organizations that are neither government nor member states of the UN. NGOs are officially sanctioned by the U.N.. This status gives NGOs official “consultative” status; which means they can not only sit in on international meetings, but can actively participate in crafting policy.

In addition to directly contributing to policy making, NGO's, through their multi-million dollar grant-making activities, are notorious for helping to organize and incite those fake CIA "color revolutions" that so often break-out "spontaneously" in targeted nations. Think Kiev 2014 and the violent overthrow of the pro-Russian President. Think "Arab Spring" and the murder of Libyan leader Qaddafi. The Russian people are wise to this dirty game, and are well within their "human rights" to put a stop to it.

1- Russian protesters use their own 'soft power' tactics to demand expulsion of MacArthur and other subversive liberal NGO's. 2- Obongo-loving Chicago liberal Julia Stasch is President of MacArthur

NGO's are a deadly weapon in the arsenal of what is known as "soft power", a tactic for attacking nations in such a way that the attack appears to be internal, when it is really external. That is why Russia (and China) have been cracking down hard on these Soros-affiliated, CIA-affiliated front organizations. Sulzberger's seditious scribblers know this, of course, but would have us believe that the expulsion of the MacArthur group is an "anti-democracy" attack on "human rights" and "free speech". In truth, the Marxist MacArthur mob has been chased out of Russia for the same reason that Sulzberger's Jew York Slimes was banned from operating in China; namely, for being subversive weapons of psychological warfare. Unfortunately for Americans, both the Slimes and MacArthur's PBS face no such restrictions here at home, where they wield their awesome grant-making propaganda power with insidious immunity and impunity.
1 & 2: The degenerate sluts of Pussy Riot were funded by an "art collective" (VOINA) that was in turn funded by NGO's. The purpose of their anti-Church "performance" was to provoke an arrest so that the western press could then accuse Putin of being a tyrant. 3: Anti-Russian Rothschild agent Garry Kasparov also appeared unchallenged on the MacArthur-funded CIArlie Rose show.

We the not-so-high and not-so-mighty Editorial Board of The Anti-New York Times (Sugar and Mike) applaud Mr. Putin and his Party for expelling the seditious scum of MacArthur and the other notorious No Good Overthrowers that infested Russia under the misrule of the drunken patsy, Boris Yeltsin. But that's only part of the cancer. The real challenge for parliamentary Russia will be the eradication of the internal Globalist subversive faction that is still embedded in high places within the Russian media, Duma and Central Bank. When treating a cancerous tumor, every last cell must either be contained or eradicated (we prefer eradication)

1- Obongo's main handler, super-bitch Valerie Jarrett, speaks at a Chicago forum, seated right next to MacArthur's head super-bitch Julia Stasch. 2 - Chess legend Kasparov with Jacob de Rothschild 3- Funded by western NGO's, troublemakers like Kasparov will provoke their own arrest for the sake of western cameras. Afterwards, they will run to Sulzberger's Slimes and MacArthur PBS's Charlatan Rose show for more sympathetic publicity.

NY Times: Why Russians Hate America. Again.

By SABRINA TAVERNESE

Dispatch from Moscow

REBUTTAL BY

The Anti-New York Times

Reporting from Moscow, deceitful douche-bag Sabrina Tavernise vomits out a classic textbook case of "Ugly Americanism" combined with "Yellow Journalism". In the insular world in which this New York Slimes "expert" on Russia dwells, America can do no wrong. So if Russians now "hate" America; well, it can only be because they are stupid, crazy, or both!

Unfortunately, Yahoo and MSN quickly picked up on this latest anti-Russian Sulzbergerian filth and feautured it on Internet front pages for millions of unsuspecting Americans to stumble across. Let us slice and dice some portions of this outrageous and offensive bit of propaganda masquerading as psycho-analysis.
Ms. Know-Nothing libtard psuedo-intellectual thinks that her B.A. degree in Russian Studies from Barnard College qualifies her to psycho-analyze Russians.

Tavernise: On a warm August evening, I found myself sitting with three educated young Russians at a chain restaurant....

Analysis: This isn't related to the subject; but why must these sophist snobs always categorize people as either "educated" or "uneducated" -- presumably based upon the possession of a college degree? Is it really necessary to hold a University degree in order to be able to think and form logical opinions? Every article and book that your "college educated" humble reporter here has ever written is derived from self-instruction not obtained in college.

Tavernise: ... whose gaudy décor includes human-size figures of Porky Pig and Marilyn Monroe.

Analysis: Subtle cheap shot. Who cares about the "gaudy decor" of this Russian restaurant? Are you writing a news story or a cheap romance novel here?

Tavernise: They had invited me to join their table, inside a green convertible car, after I had asked a few reporter-type questions about their country. But all talk kept leading to America.

“America is trying to encircle us,” said Kristina Donets, 29, .... “We have finally risen out of chaos and you don’t like that.”

Analysis: Kristina Donets of Moscow is correct. We'll forgive Sabrina's wise crack about the "gaudy decor". So far, so good, Ms. Tavernise.
Tavernise: Reporting in Russia after more than a decade away felt a lot like visiting an old friend. It is where I owned my first car, met my husband and first worked as a journalist.

Analysis: With this bit of mushy nostalgia, Tavernise is establishing her credentials as an "objective" and even pro-Russian analyst.

Analysis: Here it comes!

Tavernise: In some ways, it was for the better. People were wealthier — despite the recent decline in the ruble and jump in inflation — and better traveled. The kindhearted woman who hosted me when I first moved to Moscow in 1997 said it best: “We don’t have to wash out our plastic bags anymore.” Her tiny salary had quadrupled since I’d last seen her. She had taken her first trip abroad — a package tour to Tunisia.

Analysis: "Wealthier" -- "better traveled" -- "salaries quadrupled". Wow! Good for Russia! -- But one can almost smell the other stinky Sulzbergerian shoe about to drop.

The 'dropping of the other shoe' -- One of the oldest journalistic propaganda tricks in the book.

Tavernise: But there was a darker side.

Analysis: Here it is!

Translation: Russians (by Tavernise's own admission) have been to hell and back. With the memories of the 1990's suffering still fresh, the "defensive" and "self-conscious" Russians are determined to never again go back to the bad old days of Harvard-Wall Street-DC economic hit-men raping and robbing their country.

Tavernise: Oligarchs had always had exit ramps — a house in London and a second passport — but now my own friends were looking for escape routes.

Analysis: Sabrina, with Putin's approval rating at 90% (which even the Slimes does not dispute), the only people possibly looking to "escape" Russia are western-funded subversives and degenerate commie-pinkos. So thanks for telling us who your "friends" actually are.

Tavernise: Intellectuals pointed me to books on Berlin in the 1920s and the concept of "ressentiment," a philosophical term that describes a simmering resentment and sense of victimization arising out of envy of a perceived enemy.

Analysis: Bull-Shine! "Envy" has nothing to do with Russian "ressentiment." (What's with the French twist? Why can't you self-absorbed sophist "intellectuals" just say "resentment"?) Like the Russians of the 1990's, the Germans of the 1920's went hungry and cold due to the Judeo-Western plunder of their respective nations. Sabrina, did these "intellectual" friends of yours ever read the Treaty of Versailles? Have they not heard of the Yeltsin years?

The REAL cause of "ressentiment" -- The western allies destroyed Germany and Russia.

1- 1920's German woman uses hyper-inflated money to light her stove
2- Read 'Darkness at Dawn: The Rise of the Russian Criminal State', by David Satter -- The book explains how 1990's Russia was almost as bad as 1920's Germany!
Tavernise: It often has its roots in a culture’s feeling of impotence. In Berlin in the early 20th century, it helped explain the rise of German fascism.

Analysis: Should the Germans have allowed themselves to be starved to death?

Tavernise: In Russia in August, it seemed to have many targets: Ukraine....

Analysis: Lie of omission: The regime in Ukraine is a U.S. puppet gangster state installed by a violent coup.

Tavernise: ... gay people

Analysis: Russians don't want fags propagandizing their children. What's wrong with that? How is it any of your damn business?

Analysis: The American-owned European Union started the sanctions war, not Russia!

Tavernise: ... and above all the United States.

Analysis: How dare those Russians resent the "exceptional nation". What have we ever done wrong?

Tavernise: “America stuffs its democracy in our face,” bellowed a cabdriver named Kostya in the city of Nizhny Novgorod. (His main beef was with the “propaganda of pederasts,” using a derogatory word used to describe homosexuals, a few weeks after the Supreme Court’s approval of gay marriage.)

Analysis: She probably invented this "cab driver" and put words in his "bellowing" mouth. Nonetheless, if indeed he exists, and if the words are his -- is he not correct in "bellowing" that pedophilia is spreading throughout the sex-obsessed West?

Tavernise: “If you’re saying yes, yes, yes, all the time and nodding your head, well sometimes you have to say no,” he said, explaining that Russia had finally stood up to the United States.

Analysis: You know, Sabrina; this "cab-driver" of yours is actually far more "educated" than your "intellectual" Russian friends.
Tavernise: ... the current opinion of America, which this year sank to its lowest level since the Soviet Union collapsed nearly 24 years ago, according to polling by the Levada Analytical Center in Moscow.

Analysis: People do not suddenly turn and "hate" for no reason at all. The American government must have done something to piss off the people of Russia. What say you, Dr. Tavernise?

Tavernise: Anti-Americanism is more potent now because it is stirred up and in many ways sponsored by the state, an effort that Russians, despite their hard-bitten cynicism, seem surprisingly susceptible to.

Analysis: Oh. I get it now! The Russian people are stupid and brainwashed. For a moment there I was worried that Russians hate the U.S. for surrounding the country with military bases and nuclear tipped missiles, fomenting color revolution attempts, organizing international sanctions, slandering their popular President 24/7, secretly arming "rebel" terrorist scum in Chechnya, expanding NATO right up to their borders, harassing Russians abroad, browbeating Russia to normalize homosexuality, and a whole host of other dirty tricks. It's good to know that "they" are the "crazy" people -- not us.

![Map of Europe in 1990 and 2009 with a crowd of protesters holding a sign that says "WE ARE NOT THE OPPOSITION. RUSSIANS JUST WANT TO HAVE A CHOICE."

Patriotic Russians are sick and tired of NATO expansion and NGO rent-a-mobs.

Tavernise: Independent voices are all but gone from Russian television, and most channels now march to the same, slickly produced beat.

Analysis: Project much, bitch?

Tavernise: Virtually any domestic problem is cast as a geopolitical standoff between Russia and America....
Analysis: Sabrina! Your own newspaper has reported, on numerous occasions, that western sanctions are hurting Russia domestically. Though The Slimes exaggerates the impact, the sanctions have indeed created some difficulties.

Tavernise: ... and political unrest anywhere is portrayed as having an American State Department official lurking behind it.

Analysis: Again, it is a known fact, as confirmed by your own Globalist newspaper, that the U.S. State Department confers and consults with "opposition leaders" of Russia.

Tavernise: “America wants to destroy us, humiliate us, take our natural resources.” said Lev Gudkov, director of Levada, the polling center, describing the rhetoric, with which he strongly disagrees. “But why? For what? There is no explanation.”

Analysis: Quoting the sarcastic Putin-hater Lev Gudlov (cough-cough)? "No explanation" for Russian resentment? Are you frickin' kidding me, Sabrina?

Tavernise: During my visit, Russians were thinking about America a lot ---- in the way of a spurned lover who keeps sending angry texts long after the breakup.

Analysis: Blah blah blah --- Russians are crazy envious psychotic losers and libtarded America is great. Such an "intellectual" analysis, eh Sabrina?

Tavernise: “Tell her how well we all live, how much better than in Europe and how wonderful Crimea is now,” hissed a woman in a skintight dress to someone I was interviewing.

Analysis: The imaginary woman "hissed" (psycho!), and wore a "skin-tight dress" (slut!). Sabrina, you are really going down hill fast.
The insane America-hating Russians from The Tales of Sabrina Tavernise: An alleged cab-driver "bellows" -- An alleged women in a skin-tight dress "hisses".

Tavernise: She was referring to the Crimean peninsula, which Russia annexed last year.

Analysis: "Annexed" (palm-face-sigh). After 97% of the people on Crimea voted to reunify with their Russian homeland.

Tavernise: Inside Russia, Mr. Putin’s actions in Crimea have broken friendships and split families.

Analysis: Oh Bull-Shine! The reunification with Crimea was as popular among Russians as it was among Crimeans. "Split families" my ass!

Tavernise: Politics, once everyone’s obsession, now seems like a distant land no one visits. Those who do, pay a price.

Analysis: Exactly what "price" has the handful of pro-western stooges who opposed the Crimea reunification had to "pay", Sabrina. Be specific.

Tavernise: Mr. Gudkov said he felt like “a Jew in Hitler’s Germany” when he opposed the Crimea annexation.

Analysis: Mr. Gudkov is evidently still alive and well and giving interviews to the Slimes. What "price" has he paid for his subversive activities? Answer the damn question!
Tavernise: “It’s like a divorce,” said Keith Darden, a political-science professor at American University. “They are saying: ‘the relationship we had is over. ---- We’re doing our own thing now. But they don’t know what their own thing is.”

Analysis: Wrong Professor pointy-head! The Russian nation has a 1000 year history. They have a far greater sense of who they are and where they want to go than the degenerate and dying baby state of America ever will.

Tavernise: What is the Kremlin’s grand strategy? Many Russian liberals I talked to believe there isn’t one.

Analysis: You see, libtards only talk to other libtards. Sabrina, that is why you will never grow as a person.

Tavernise: Dmitry Volkov, a journalist who took part in the 2011 protests against Mr. Putin, compared the annexation, and Russia’s subsequent military action in eastern Ukraine, to a mugging that ends in accidental murder.

“They keep crossing boundaries only to find that once they are across, it’s only logical to cross the next one,” he said. “That’s not a strategy. That’s a behavioral pattern.”

Do you see how this evil she-devil played this? She started out by quoting a few "bellowing" and "hissing" pro-Russians (who probably existed only in her warped imagination), and then descended into paragraph after paragraph after paragraph of putrid propaganda and high-sounding quotes from "intellectuals". This gave the illusion that representatives for "both sides" of the matter were given voice; the former being brainwashed nut-jobs -- the latter being learned scholars.

Very sneaky, Sabrina. Very sneaky.

NY Times: Svetlana Alexievich, Belarussian Voice of Survivors, Wins Nobel Prize in Literature

By ALEXANDRA ALTER

REBUTTAL BY

The Anti-New York Times

Although the Globalist CIA agents who almost always win the "prestigious" Nobel Peace Prize are instantly puffed-up on the front page of Sulzberger's Slimes; Nobel Laureates in the scientific or literary fields are generally confined to the inner pages. This is not the case with this year's Literature winner - Svetlana Alexievich of Belarussia (sister state of Russia).

Far from being back-paged, Ms. Alexievich is prominently plastered smack-dab in the center of the all-important front page. News of her victory has also been prominently mentioned by the TV talking heads of America and vassaled Europe. This is unusual for two reasons. First of all, she's not an American. Why such hype over a Belarussian?

Secondly, her works are not even widely read in English - the de facto "international language". So, what's up with the sudden shout-out for Sveltana? Moreover, why was the Nobel Prize for Literature even awarded to a non-fiction writer in the first place? That hasn't happened in 50 years!

The astute and discerning real intellectuals who read The Anti-New York Times will have already deduced a theory behind the unusual and overnight hyping of the previously unknown Ms. Alexievich. Excerpts from the article itself will serve to confirm those suspicions - as they did for your rat-smelling reporter and his rat-killing feline sidekick here.

Check out these excerpts, and our analysis:

Excerpt: Ms. Alexievich often took risks by taking on contentious elements of Soviet history and challenging the official narrative.

Analysis: Well, the old Soviets were not exactly choir boys. Criticizing the old regime doesn't necessarily make her a traitor.

Excerpt: She was seen as a traitor, as unpatriotic,” said Gerald Howard, the executive editor at Doubleday. He published Ms. Alexievich’s book “Zinky Boys: Soviet Voices From a Forgotten War,” about the Soviet occupation of Afghanistan and the trauma experienced by the Russian soldiers and their families. The title refers to the zinc coffins that dead Russian soldiers were sent home in. “She was vilified all over the place for this book,” he said, “and she didn’t back down for a second.”

Analysis: Red flag! Alarm bells! In 1979, the Soviets were baited into Afghanistan after a CIA rent-an-army overthrew a non-aligned government and set up a hostile regime on Russia's border. This is not to defend the old USSR, but any Soviet writer who cast blame on their own country for the Jimmy Carter-Zbig Brzezinski proxy war in Afghanistan, was, in fact, a traitor to her country.

Instead of blaming Brzezinski and the Globalists for the suffering caused by the proxy Afghan War against Russia, seditious Svetlana blamed her own country.

Excerpt: Because of her criticism of the government in Belarus, a former Soviet republic, Ms. Alexievich has periodically lived abroad, in Italy, France, Germany and Sweden, among other places.

Analysis: So, long after the disintegration of the Soviet Union, this bitch is still a causing trouble by criticizing the Putin-friendly government of Belarus. Interesting.

Excerpt: In a 2013 interview with German television, she said she hoped the international attention would give her “a degree of protection” in Belarus, where press freedom is under constant threat.

Analysis: Ah, yes. The old "freedom of the press" and "human rights" routine.
Excerpt: "The scope and consistency of her project is unique — the sheer number of people whose stories she’s been able to record,” the writer Keith Gessen, who translated her book about Chernobyl into English, said in an email.

Analysis: Keith Gessen translated one of her books? Gessen? He wouldn't perhaps be related to Masha Gessen -- the militant lesbian author of a best-selling anti-Putin book who openly stated that she wants to abolish the institution of marriage and traditional family. Nah. It's just a coincidence. But just in case, let us Google: 'Keith Gessen'.

Preach it, Church Lady -- preach it! Sleazy Svetlana's translator just happens to be the brother of the wicked Putin-hating Masha Gessen (Keith & Masha in Image 2).

Excerpt: Some see an obvious political message in the Nobel committee’s choice. Ms. Alexievich’s honor arrives at a moment when Russia is once again flexing its military muscles, in Ukraine and in Syria. In choosing Ms. Alexievich, the Swedish committee continued a long tradition of using the award to tweak Soviet and now post-Soviet authority.

Analysis: Bingo!

Excerpt: On Thursday, Belarus’s President, Aleksandr G. Lukashenko, who has been a frequent target of Ms. Alexievich’s writing, issued a terse congratulatory note.

Analysis: Double Bingo! The Globalists hate President Lukashenko almost as much as they do President Putin.
Excerpt: At a news conference after her award was announced, Ms. Alexievich pointedly referred to Russia’s actions in Ukraine as “occupation.”

Analysis: "Here's your Nobel Prize -- and your check for $972,000 --- now do your thing, baby!"

1- Lukashenko and Putin -- both targets of Svetlana's poison pen and big mouth.  2 & 3 - Subversion pays nicely, eh Svetlana?

Excerpt: The spokesman for President Vladimir V. Putin of Russia, Dmitri S. Peskov, dismissed Ms. Alexievich’s critique of Russian military aggression. “Apparently, Svetlana just doesn’t have enough information to offer a clear evaluation of what is happening in Ukraine.”

Analysis: Oh we beg to differ on that, Mr. Peskov. Diplomacy may preclude you from saying so, but not us. This vile villainette, this traitorous tramp, this betraying bitch, has all the information -- as do the sleazy scribblers of Sulzberger's Slimes.

This anti Putin, anti-Russian obsession is really getting more and more ridiculous by the hour -- and more and more ominous as well.
NY Times: As Democrats Gather, a Russian Subplot Raises Intrigue

By DAVID E. SANGER and NICOLE PERLROTH

Researchers have concluded that the Democratic National Committee was breached by two Russian intelligence agencies, and metadata from the released emails suggests that the documents passed through Russian computers.

REBUTTAL BY

The Anti-New York Times

The seditious slanderers and licentious libelers at Sulzberger's Slimes have scored a "twofer" with this silly propaganda piece. David Sanger and Nicole Perlroth not only do damage-control to prop up Hillary, but also shift the latest E-mail "leaks" controversy so that it points to the big bad Putin as the culprit. This poor Hillary / nasty Vladimir drama would make for some excellent satirical comedy writing. Unfortunately, the tale is not only being presented as truth, but millions of Boobuses will actually believe it. Oh how these vicious vipers lie!

Haz Mat suits and goggles on. Let's clean some of this crap up.

Sanger & Perlroth: An unusual question is capturing the attention of cyberspecialists, Russia experts and Democratic Party leaders in Philadelphia:

Rebuttal: Who are these "cyberspecialists" and "Russia experts" whose word we are to take at face value?

Sanger & Perlroth: Is Vladimir V. Putin trying to meddle in the American presidential election?

Rebuttal: No, but in 2011/12 Obongo's CIA and Killary's State Department, with protective disinformation provided by the Slimes, did indeed "meddle" (with no success) in Russia's presidential election; and let's not even discuss the violent "meddling" in Ukraine 2014!

Sanger & Perlroth: Until Friday, that charge, with its eerie suggestion of a Kremlin conspiracy ...

Rebuttal: Oh you silly "conspiracy theorists!" Put on your tin-foil hats.
Sanger & Perlroth: ... to aid Donald J. Trump, has been only whispered.

Rebuttal: "Whispered" by whom? We at The Anti-New York Times require specifics, not anonymous whispering.

Pssst. I heard that Putin just hacked into the Democrats' E-mails in order to help Trump.

Sanger & Perlroth: But the release on Friday of some 20,000 stolen emails from the Democratic National Committee’s computer servers, many of them embarrassing to Democratic leaders, has intensified discussion of the role of Russian intelligence agencies in disrupting the 2016 campaign.

Rebuttal: Oh will you two greasy shysters cut the crap and get to the point?! Tell us, specifically, of this "role of Russian intelligence agencies." Evidence, evidence, evidence! Give us proof!

Sanger & Perlroth: Proving the source of a cyber-attack is notoriously difficult.

Rebuttal: (palm to face - shaking head - deep sigh) Oh, I see. The Slimes is unable to cite any proofs of a Russian cyber-conspiracy because the Russians are so good at covering up their cyber-crimes. And because the Rooskies are so good at covering up cyber-attacks, they are evidently behind the hacking.

Sanger and Perlroth reason like a stupid dog chasing his tail!

Sanger & Perlroth: But researchers have concluded that the national committee was breached by two Russian intelligence agencies,...

Rebuttal: How exactly did they conclude this? And who are these "researchers?"

Sanger & Perlroth: ... which were the same attackers behind previous Russian cyber-operations at the White House, the State Department and the Joint Chiefs of Staff last year.

Rebuttal: We covered those claims of 2015 cyber-attacks. Then, as now, the case was based upon circular reasoning and "anonymous sources." Mr. Sanger and Ms. Perlroth! Please! We must insist. Name these "experts" and explain to us how they arrived at the conclusion that the big bad Rooskies are behind this.

Sanger & Perlroth: And metadata from the released emails suggests ....

Rebuttal: "Suggests?" Trying using that word "suggests" in a court room and see how fast a judge will smack you down.

Sanger & Perlroth: ... that the documents passed through Russian computers.

Rebuttal: Again, present the evidence and the damn sources!

Sanger & Perlroth: Whether the thefts were ordered by Mr. Putin, or just carried out by apparatchiks who thought they might please him, is anyone’s guess.

Rebuttal: Simply declaring that either Putin or his underlings ordered the attacks does not make the case Prior Assumption. And yet again, we must insist, present the evidence and the sources!
A judge in a criminal case would destroy the fallacy-filled case being pitched by Sanger & Perlroth.

Sanger & Perlroth: On Sunday morning, the issue erupted, as Mrs. Clinton’s campaign manager, Robby Mook, argued on ABC’s “This Week” that the emails were leaked “by the Russians for the purpose of helping Donald Trump.”

Rebuttal: That's all well and good, but, once again: how did Killary's mouthpiece arrive at such a conclusion?

Rebuttal: (breathing deep, restraining myself from putting my fist through the monitor)

Sanger & Perlroth: But the accusation is emerging as a theme of Mrs. Clinton’s campaign, as part of an attempt to portray Mr. Trump not only as an isolationist,...

Rebuttal: "Isolationist" TM is a term of childish rhetorical trickery which Globalists use to discredit non-interventionists and peacemakers.

Sanger & Perlroth: ... but also as one who would go soft on confronting Russia as it threatens nations that have shown too much independence from Moscow or, in the case of Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia, joined NATO.

Rebuttal: (breathing deep, restraining myself from putting my fist through my monitor AND taking the 30 minute bus ride into Manhattan so Sugar and I can mete out some street justice to these two lying monsters.)
Sanger & Perlroth: Mr. Trump has also said he would like to “get along with Russia” if he is elected, and complimented Mr. Putin, saying he is more of a leader than President Obama. Mr. Putin has in turn praised Mr. Trump.

Rebuttal: And this is a bad thing?

Sanger & Perlroth: “Are there any ties between Mr. Trump, you or your campaign and Putin and his regime?” George Stephanopoulos, of “This Week,” asked Paul Manafort, Mr. Trump’s campaign chairman.

Rebuttal: (severe allergic reaction to lies kicking in, shaking badly, heart palpitations)

Sanger & Perlroth: Evidence so far .....

Rebuttal: What dadgum "evidence?!" The article is drawing to a close and not one shred of "evidence" -- not even circumstantial -- has been presented!

Sanger & Perlroth: ... suggests that the attack was the work of at least two separate agencies...

Rebuttal: "Suggests?" Again?! What did I just tell you two slandering scumbags about the term "suggests?"

Sanger & Perlroth: ... each apparently working ...

Rebuttal: "Apparently?" That's just as vague as "suggests." You two ass-clowns are "apparently" Yellow Journalists if you ask us.

Sulzberger's infuriating propaganda is enough to either induce a heart attack, or a therapeutic imagination-attack on the Slimes.
Sanger & Perlroth: ... without the knowledge that the other was inside the Democrats’ computers.

Rebuttal: And you know this how?

Sanger & Perlroth: The experts cited by Mr. Mook include CrowdStrike, ...

Rebuttal: OK. Finally! We're getting somewhere. The "source" is a firm called "CrowdStrike?" Thanks for that, but who the hell are they? Google time!

Some tidbits that Sugar sniffed out:

"CrowdStrike, Inc. is a cybersecurity technology company based in Irvine, California... The company provides endpoint security, threat intelligence, and incident response services. Founded in 2011, ... company has detected, prevented, and attributed complex cyber attacks, including the Sony Pictures hack (a phony accusation leveled at North Korea).

Dmitri Alperovitch (cough cough) co-founded and became the chief technology officer of CrowdStrike, a security technology company focused on helping enterprises and governments protect their intellectual property and secrets against cyberespionage and cybercrime.

CrowdStrike has brought on board senior FBI executives, such as Shawn Henry, former executive assistant director (EAD) of the FBI's Criminal, Cyber, Response and Services Branch, and Steve Chabinsky, (cough cough) former deputy assistant director of the FBI's Cyber Division. CrowdStrike has received $156 million in funding from Warburg Pincus, (cough cough) Accel Partners, (partial cough cough) and Google Capital (cough cough).

Alperovitch is a Senior Fellow at the Atlantic Council think tank (Soros funded, cough cough) and was named in December 2013 as one of Foreign Policy's (a one-worlder magazine) Top 100 Leading Global Thinkers, along with Angela Merkel, John Kerry, Ben Bernanke and Jeff Bezos.

So there you have it! CrowdStrike is a cyber version of SITE -- a Fed-infested disinfo source set up to make "expert" accusations for Sulzberger's Slimes and the rest of the Piranha Press to pick up and run with. My Lord --- this is so damn CRIMINAL!
CrowdStrike leads to Alperovitch of the Atlantic Council which leads to George Soros -- surprise, surprise!

Sanger & Perlroth: Russian intelligence agencies went to great lengths to cover their tracks, investigators found,..

Rebuttal: If the big bad Rooskies "covered their tracks" so well, then how did the sleuths at CrowdStrike crack this mystery?

Sanger & Perlroth: Officials examined the code for the malware used against the DNC and the metadata of the stolen documents found evidence that the documents had been accessed by multiple computers, some with Russian language settings.

Rebuttal: So, those oh-so-cunning Rooskies who "went to great lengths to cover their tracks" screwed up badly by forgetting about the "Russian language settings." (rolling eyes) One might "suggest" that those settings were deliberately set up to be "Russian language" by parties unknown (cough cough) in an "apparent" effort to false-flag frame Putin; but that would be a "conspiracy theory" TM.

Natasha: Boris! You fool! You used a computer with Russian-language settings! Now CrowdStrike will know that we did it! Boris: Oops.....sorry.
Before we get into this latest piece of anti-Putin excrement vomited out by the vile specimen of "Pulitzer Prize winning" TM vermin, Thomas L. Friedman, please join the Editorial Board (that's Sugar and me) of The Anti-New York Times in sending a Happy Birthday shout out to Bad Vlad himself.

"Happy Birthday Pressident Putin! -- Na Zssdorovie!

Freakman's opening volley needs no rebutting for it is a shocking caricature of itself in which he admits that Sulzberger's Slimes and the rest of the Piranha Press can and should invent and publish dis-informative propaganda about Putin and Russia. Take a whiff of the fantasy story that Freakman concocts as an example of what he would like to see planted and published by the government-media complex to which he belongs, even though he admits such a tale would be false:

"You may have missed this story, so I am repeating it as a public service:

MOSCOW, Special to The New York Times, Oct. 1 — A previously unheard-of group called Hackers for a Free Russia released a treasure trove of financial records online today indicating that President Vladimir Putin owns some $30 billion in property, hotels and factories across Russia and Europe, all disguised by front organizations and accounting charades.

The documents, which appear to be authentic, include detailed financial records and emails between Mr. Putin’s Kremlin office and a number of his Russian cronies and Swiss banks. They constitute the largest hack ever of Mr. Putin. Russian censors are scrambling to shut down Twitter inside the country and keep the emails out of Russian-language media.

At a news conference in Washington, C.I.A. Director John Brennan was asked if U.S. intelligence services had any hand in the cyberleak of what is being called “The Putin Files.” With a slight grin, Mr. Brennan said: “The U.S. government would never intervene in Russian politics, just as President Putin would never intervene in an American election. That would be wrong.” As Mr. Brennan left the podium, though, he burst out laughing.

No, you didn’t miss this story. I made it up. But isn’t it time there was such a story? Isn’t it time we gave Putin a dose of his own medicine — not for juvenile playground reasons and not to instigate a conflict but precisely to prevent one — to back Putin off from what is increasingly rogue behavior violating basic civilized norms and increasingly vital U.S. interests."

Wow! Evidently, Putin (along with his not-so-secret admirer, Donald Trump) has got these greaseballs in such a state of hysteria that they are losing their cool and showing their cards. That the Slimes "makes up" stories is nothing new, but for one of its most "respected" scribblers to openly call for such activity comes as a surprise, even to us. What Freakman is advocating amounts to the type of wartime disinfo-journalism which the American press (including mega moguls David Sarnoff and William Paley (Paloff), in collaboration with the government, engineered during our involvement in World War II.
During World War II, NBC's then-owner David Sarnoff was given the rank of "General" for his important role in spreading war propaganda throughout German-occupied Europe. Soldier boy Sarnoff was so proud of his General's Star that he had it buried with him.

CBS's then-owner William Paley was given the rank of "Colonel" for his service in psychological warfare operations.

There goes that ominous word again -- war -- and its not just us "conspiracy theorists" TM saying it anymore. From Freakman's fecal fable:

"Putin “is at war with us, but we are not at war with him — both the U.S. and Germany are desperately trying to cling to a decent relationship,” remarked Josef Joffe, editor of Die Zeit, a weekly German newspaper and a leading strategic thinker in Europe. No one should want to start a shooting war between great powers “in the shadow of nuclear weapons,” Joffe told me.

Freakman immediately transitions to that oh-so-quintessentially Jewish "yeah-but" with false accusations of "war crimes" and "cyberattacks" :

"But we also cannot just keep turning the other cheek. Putin’s behavior in Syria and Ukraine has entered the realm of war crimes, and his cyberattacks on the American political system threaten to undermine the legitimacy of our next election."

Freakman doesn't openly call for a shooting war, of course. That would be too obvious at this moment. Rather, his objective here is to have the government-media complex ratchet up the already deceitful propaganda war against Russia to an even higher level as a necessary prelude to the start of the actual shooting. Once Putin has been sufficiently vilified by the strategic lies which Freakman is openly demanding, the dumb-as-dirt public can easily be fooled by either a false-flag attack (another 9/11), or a provocation-induced attack (another Pearl Harbor). That's Friedman's deadly, and we do mean deadly game here, and he needs to have his key punching fingers chopped off and his lying forked tongue ripped out for it. (metaphorically speaking, of course)

The consequences of war, depicted below, are all just fun and games to a "tough guy" fatboy POS like Freakman who probably never even experienced a fist fight or a wrestling match in his entire pampered life. Lord, give us the strength to keep on confronting and exposing this Satanic evil each day without "losing it."

Death and suffering of innocents is funny to Freakman.
Members of the Estonian Defense League set off for a patrol competition near the town of Turi in central Estonia. The events are called war games, but they are not intended to be fun.

New York Times: Spooked by Russia, Tiny Estonia Trains a Nation of Insurgents

By ANDREW E. KRAMER

REBUTTAL BY

The Anti-New York Times

Flashback to 1945 -- At the end of World War II, the U.S. State Department and the OSS (soon to become the CIA) generously showered ambitious "pro-Americans" with boatloads of "Marshall Plan" cash. Suddenly impoverished, hungry and demoralized, the ruined nations of Western Europe became "easy pickin's" for the New World Order's "recovery program." For the most part, Washington DC (Langley, Virginia (CIA Headquarters) to be more precise) has been the political capital of Western Europe ever since. In addition to the political control, it can also be said that Langley's New York affiliate has been one of the major media mind-control centers of America's captive nations; and that Hollywood films (dubbed or subtitled) have had a huge degenerate cultural influence over Boobus Europithicus.
After destroying much of Europe in the first place, America's program for "European Recovery" (aka Marshall Plan) enabled the Globalists to build the skeletal structure of today's NWO-controlled European Union Monster. Ambitious politicians, journalists and academics quickly realized that serving the wealthy and powerful USA (which serves the NWO) would be a smart career move.

As for the nations of Eastern Europe, Stalin's henchmen gobbled them up and similarly made them Soviet vassal states -- with the Baltic States of Latvia, Lithuania and Estonia actually being incorporated with the Soviet Union itself. The New York-DC-London Globalists had hoped that Stalin's puppet states would be allowed to become "democratic" in advance of the eventual East-West merger. But killer Joe had his own ideas for world domination and wasn't going to take orders from the "international community." And thus was born "the Cold War."

After the Soviet Union collapsed and disintegrated in 1991, a similar buyout scheme was rolled out in Eastern Europe -- with the main recipients of Western "generosity" being the Soros affiliated "pro-democracy" TM and "human rights" TM NGO's which instigated the "Velvet Revolutions" that brought "freedom" TM to the East. Soon afterwards came the CIA-approved news programs and newspapers, along with the standard Hollywood filth and garbage. Already accustomed to obedience from the days of communism, it wasn't long before the sheeple of Eastern Europe (though still not quite as morally corrupted as their faggot-loving, migrant-loving western brothers) began to think, talk and act like the bad boys at Langley wanted them to.
The CIA-Soros "Velvet Revolutions" of 1989 transitioned Eastern Europe from Soviet domination to Globalist domination. Like the Marshall Plan, American dollars soon poured in as many ambitious "ex-communist" scoundrels suddenly turned "democratic" and lined up to serve the new master.

With that bit of critical contextual history out of the way, we can better understand this interesting article about how "tiny Estonia" is feeling "spooked by Russia"--authored by the vicious Russia-hater Jonathan Krame. The following excerpt about "war games" illustrates just how badly the clueless Estonians are being mind-f*d:

"The competitions, held nearly every weekend, are called war games, but are not intended as fun. The Estonian Defense League, which organizes the events, requires its 25,400 volunteers to turn out occasionally for weekend training sessions that have taken on a serious hue since Russia’s incursions in Ukraine two years ago raised fears of a similar thrust by Moscow into the Baltic States.

Since the Ukraine war, Estonia has stepped up training for members of the Estonian Defense League, teaching them how to become insurgents, right down to the making of improvised explosive devices, or I.E.D.s, the weapons that plagued the American military in Iraq and Afghanistan. Another response to tensions with Russia is the expansion of a program encouraging Estonians to keep firearms in their homes."

Similar paranoia is spreading among western Ukrainians, Lithuanians, Latvians and Poles. The CIA engineers of this mass madness have the advantage of being able to resurrect the painful historical wounds inflicted upon these peoples by "Russians" like Stalin and his main henchman Kaganovich. The fact that the Soviet Union no longer exists; or that the Russian people themselves also suffered under Stalin; or that Stalin was actually Georgian; or that Kaganovich was Jewish is lost upon these Russia-hating imbeciles who have been led to believe that the big bad Rooskies are coming.

In spite of its childish idiocy, CIA propaganda linking "madman" Putin to Stalin has proved to be very effective in Eastern European nations.

As for the ass-clown who instituted this war game madness that may ultimately lead to his country's destruction; Sugar has sniffed out this gem of data about the "Ivy League educated" TM egghead Toomas Hendrik Ilves, the bow-tied bozo who, for the past 10 years, served as Estonia's President until just a few weeks ago:

Headline from The Baltic Times / September 24, 2013

"Ilves attends Soros Wedding"

"Estonian President Toomas Hendrik Ilves attended the wedding of billionaire and philanthropist George Soros on Sept. 21 near New York, reports Ohtuleht. The private wedding ceremony of the 83-year-old George Soros and 42-year-old Tamiko Bolton was followed by a festive reception in the Caramoor music and art center, where around 500 guests had been invited, among them World Bank President Jim Yong Kim, and also several heads of state. “George Soros, who via the Open Estonia Foundation, has supported the development of the Estonian citizens society for a long time, sent President Ilves as the head of state and his wife an invitation to his wedding,” said the president’s chancellery PR manager Piret Pert. “Since George Soros has been a founder of the Estonian modern art center, President Ilves gave him as a present a work of Mall Nukke.” President Ilves and George Soros have met several times in recent years."
The "Estonian" Toomas Hendrik Ilves was raised in heavily Jewish Englewood, New Jersey and "educated" at Columbia and Penn. -- Above, with his master George Soros, Junior masters Mr. & Mr. Obongo, and the Frumpy Frau of Germany.

Good people of Estonia! Behold the vile American-raised (rumored cough cough from his mom's side) scoundrel Toomas Ilves depicted above with the Devil George Soros. It is Ilves and others like them who are your enemies, not the Russians! What would Putin, who already presides over the largest national landmass (by far!) on the planet, possibly care about invading Estonia? For what purpose? To steal your snow?

Stop these silly little war games and turn your guns, knives, pitchforks, dogs and ropes on the internal Globalists who now control your banks, news sources, universities and parliament. If "youse guys" stay on the present course, your tiny conservative White nation will, in the not-too-distant future, be flooded with Turd World invaders as your children turn stupid, whorish and homosexual before you can even say: "what-the-heck-happened?" That is what the Soros-Rothschild Axis and their henchmen have planned for Estonia --- assuming you all even survive what's ahead.

1- Contrary to Sulzbergerian propaganda, Russia has neither the need nor the intention to start a fight with NATO over tiny Estonia.
2- The beautiful Aryans of Estonia have neither any idea as to who their real enemy is, nor the genocidal "DIE-versity" that is already being planned for their children.

New York Times (Editorial): The Danger of Going Soft on Russia

By THE EDITORIAL BOARD

REBUTTAL BY

The Anti-New York Times

For readers new to The Anti-New York Times, the loathsome liar Andrew Rosenthal is the putrid little maggot who gets away with posing as the high and mighty "Editorial Board" of Sulzberger's Slimes. This is not to say that this propagandist pens each and every article attributed to "The Editorial Board," but whatever is not personally written by him is controlled and edited by him.

Hazmat suits and goggles on! Join us for another rebutting dive into Rosenthal's, er, "The Editorial Board's" latest bit of bloodthirsty anti-Russian excrement.
Be neither afraid nor impressed by all the smoke and noise of the Not-So-High and Not-So-Mighty "Editorial Board". It's only a pathetic little wordsmith named Andrew Rosenthal typing out lies from behind the curtain.

Rosenthal, er, "The Editorial Board": Among the first world leaders to congratulate President-elect Donald Trump was Vladimir Putin. And why shouldn’t he? Just when relations between Russia and the West are at their most precarious point since the Cold War, ...

Rebuttal: U.S.-Russia relations are "precarious" because it is the policy of the U.S. to encircle, subvert and subdue Russia for the New World Order.

Rosenthal, er, "The Editorial Board": Mr. Trump has been Russia’s defender.....

Rebuttal: Trump has "defended" Russia from Sulzberger’s seditious slanderers because Russia has done nothing wrong.

Rosenthal, er, "The Editorial Board": ... and the beneficiary of Moscow’s efforts to influence the presidential campaign.

Rebuttal: Here we go again! The totally unsubstantiated "conspiracy theory" TM about Moscow trying to rig the Clinton-Trump race. Notice how Rosenvermin slickly states it as a given fact in order to fool the chumps who actually attach credence to his felonious filth.

Rosenthal, er, "The Editorial Board": At times he has seemed almost intoxicated by the Russian president, ...

Rebuttal: "Intoxicated by the Russian president?" --- Oh cut it out, Rosenroach! All Trump ever said about Putin is that he is a strong leader and that we should try to get along with Russia. At no time did Trump ever even remotely go "gaga" over Putin as the Slimes has over scum like Angela Merkel of Germany.
Rosenthal, er, "The Editorial Board": ... praising Mr. Putin’s firmness and insisting that the two could resolve any differences if they met.

Rebuttal: And "resolving differences" is a bad thing, Rosenfart? Why?

1- "The War Against Putin" is the perfect antidote to the toxic anti-Russian poison spread by Sulzberger's Slimes 2 & 3- A Putin-Trump "bromance" could spare the world the horrors of a potential nuclear war ---- and "toughguy" Andy Rosenscum doesn't like it!

Rebuttal: "Poses a major strategic challenge" is Globalese for: "Russia is not obeying us anymore."

Rosenthal, er, "The Editorial Board": Few experts believe that Russia wants war with the West, but many worry that Mr. Putin’s aggressive behavior ...

Rebuttal: "Putin's aggressive behavior" is Globalese for: "Russia is not afraid to fight for its survival."

Rosenthal, er, "The Editorial Board": ... as he tries to revive Russian greatness - thus masking problems at home ...

Rebuttal: ... Putin does need to "mask problems at home" because A: His popularity has always been sky-high; and B: The Russian economy continues to grow in spite of the West's sanctions.

Rosenthal, er, "The Editorial Board": ... could result in the kind of dangerous miscalculations that often lead to armed conflict.
Rebuttal: To the contrary, Rosenscum, Putin's calmness and skillful diplomacy are the reason why there has not been an armed conflict between NATO and Russia -- an armed conflict that Soros and the Slimes actually hope for.

Rosenthal, er, "The Editorial Board": Russia’s hacking of the Democratic National Committee and the Clinton campaign to interfere in the election was brazen.

Rebuttal: No Rosenkike, what's "brazen" is your monstrous lying about "Russian hacking." Cite your evidence to support this accusation NOW!

Rosenthal, er, "The Editorial Board": Even worse were actions that threatened human life and global stability, like Mr. Putin’s airstrikes against civilians in Syria, Rebuttal: Oh spare us your fake empathy for the "civilians in Syria!" The warmongering scum at the Jew York Slimes don't give a rat's ass about "human life." Heck, you criminals have, for the past 5 years, been cheer-leading for the murderous CIA "rebels" who kicked off this tragic bloodbath -- a tragedy that Russia was invited in to help put an end to.

1- The Russian hackers are coming! --- The Russian hackers are coming! - --- Total bull-shit! 2- John McCain the Insane with the "rebels" of Syria -- paid proxies in service of the New World Order.

Rosenthal, er, "The Editorial Board": ... his positioning of nuclear-capable weaponry near Poland and the Baltic States, Rebuttal: Which was in response to U.S. positioning of nuclear-capable weaponry near Poland and the Baltic States. Action vs. reaction. See the difference, Rosenfeces? We know that you do.

Rosenthal, er, "The Editorial Board": ... his annexation of Crimea ...
Rebuttal: An "annexation" approved of by 97% of Crimeans. What's the matter, Rosenstool? Is "democracy" TM only valid when it produces the results that you want it to?

Rosenthal, er, "The Editorial Board": ... and the war he waged in eastern Ukraine.

Rebuttal: The war for independence in Russia-friendly eastern Ukraine began locally, without Putin's assistance, after the U.S. engineered a coup which toppled the democratically elected Russia-friendly President of Ukraine. Another critical bit of context that Rosenvomit chose to conceal from his readers.

Rosenthal, er, "The Editorial Board": He violated the 1987 Intermediate-Range Nuclear Forces Treaty by producing a ground-launched cruise missile and canceled a 16-year-old accord on reducing stockpiles of weapons-grade plutonium.

Rebuttal: After the U.S. violated its empty promise to never expand NATO eastward towards Russia's doorstep. Action - reaction.

1- McCain the Insane stirring up trouble in Ukraine. 2- Vickey Nuland-Kagan (cough cough) poses with her traitorous Ukrainian puppet coup plotters. 3- Who is really the expansionist aggressor here? The map of U.S. bases says it all.

Rosenthal, er, "The Editorial Board": Despite this behavior, despite the obvious need for the next president to be alert to Mr. Putin’s mischief and to be willing to resist it, Mr. Trump has so far been Mr. Putin’s apologist.

Rebuttal: "Putin'sapologist" --- In order words, Trump doesn't buy into the silly slandering of peaceful Russia.

Rosenthal, er, "The Editorial Board": Mr. Trump has dismissed the intelligence community’s finding that Russia was behind the hacking, displaying disrespect for the facts and for the security institutions that compile them.
Rebuttal: In other words, Trump does not believe the same characters who brought us the "finding" of Iraq's "Weapons of Mass Destruction" when they now claim, again without evidence, that "Russia was behind the hacking."

Rosenthal, er, "The Editorial Board": Since Mr. Trump has refused to criticize the Kremlin, it’s important that Mr. Obama figure out, before he leaves office, how to punish Russia for the hacking in a way that demonstrates Washington’s determination to resist cyberattacks without further escalating the conflict.

Rebuttal: Wow! This greasy little communist piece of excrement is openly calling for Obongo to hurry up and trigger a crisis before Trump can get in and mend fences with Russia. Even by the standards of the Slimes, this is as shocking as it is "brazen."

Rosenthal, er, "The Editorial Board": The deteriorating relationship between Moscow and Washington is a long way from what was envisioned when the Soviet Union collapsed in 1991 and there were high hopes that Russia would become a democracy integrated with the West.

Translation: "We had Russia under our thumb back when Yeltsin was ruining the country. But this damn Putin refuses to submit to our New World Order."

For mental health reasons, we have to end the rebuttal to this atrocious article here. There is only so much of this raw sewage that we can tolerate at one time. These sons-of-Satan want a war with Russia and will do whatever they can to block the coming January marriage between Trump and Putin in order to get it. Understand that, and you'll understand who is behind the anti-Trump rent-a-mobs in a city near you.

As the above Craigslist ads indicate, Soros' is paying good money for "spontaneous" “rent-a-mob” protesters to thwart the goals of Donald Trump -- mainly his desire to make peace with Putin, but also his plans to undo phony "Climate Change" agreements.
NY Times: Russia’s Military Drills Near NATO Border
Raise Fears of Aggression
By MICHAEL R. GORDON and ERIC SCHMITT

REBUTTAL BY

The Anti-New York Times

With the beleaguered Donald Trump just about fully neutered by the ghoulish alliance of the Piranha Press, the intelligence agencies, the Demonrats and the traitors within his own Republican Party, the nightmare scenario of World War III is once again a real possibility. Sugar and I, er, "The Editorial Board" of The Anti-New York Times takes no pleasure in having accurately predicted this development back before Trump was even inaugurated. From our December 29th issue (2016):

***************

"High-powered Senators within Trump's own "conservative" Party -- in league with the Demonrat minority and treasonous elements within the CIA, State Department and Department of Offense -- are still committed to fighting Russia.

Will they, with the help of the fake mainstream newsmedia, be able to maneuver Orange Man into a corner from which he will be forced to fight -- or, at the very

Peace-lovers everywhere breathed a sigh of relief upon hearing news that the hideous hag had lost the 2016 QFS (Quadrennial Freak Show). But if the McCain-Graham "rebellion" and the lessons of history are any indication, the releasing of white doves over the expected Trump-Putin "bromance" may be a bit premature. Oh, and Orange Man, if you're reading (I wish!) -- McKinley was assassinated in 1901 and Chamberlain died suddenly just 6 months after Churchill had taken his place as Prime Minister. Just sayin'."

President William McKinley and Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain were both forced into wars that they did not want by members of their own Party.

"Peace in our time?" --- Maybe not!

Putin = Hitler / Trump = Chamberlain / McCain = Churchill

Nailed it.

Coinciding with the "ominous developments" regarding North Korea, Iran, China and Russia, Vice President Mike Pence, the venomous snake-in-waiting with the smooth rap, is on an Eastern European road trip -- giving "assurances" of US "protection" and more missile systems in the face of the big bad Putin.

Headline: Washington Examiner: Mike Pence tells Eastern Europe: 'We are with you'

And, from DW.com (Germany):
Headline: US Vice President Mike Pence is in the Baltic state to reassure eastern European allies Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania. Mobile Missile System could plug a gap in NATO's defenses in the area.

The US is considering deploying Patriot surface-to-air missiles in Estonia, US Vice President Mike Pence told Estonian Prime Minister Juri Ratas on Sunday.

And then there is this bit of sheer criminal lunacy, from Newsweek:

Headline: Russian Military Jets and Warplanes Alarm Latvia, Estonia and Finland as Europe Prepares for Potential Attack

What the fiend Mike Pence, with his "assurances" to "defend Europe" is really saying to the puppet leaders of eastern Europe is this: "Pay no mind to that fool in the White House. He won't be around much longer. War with Russia is still on the table."

It's all so bloody disgusting and frickin' evil. And it is an exact replay of how the Globalists "warned" the world about Germany's "intentions" as they surrounded that peaceful nation with enemies until Adolf Hitler was forced to act in self-defense -- at which time, the Piranha Press of the day began shrieking: *"You see! You see! We told you Hitler wanted war!"

As it was all throughout the 1930's, Sulzberger's Slimes, as evidenced by this ridiculous piece of war propaganda, plays a major part in the war preparation. Let's have a critical look at just a few of this article's lying lines:

Slimes: Russia is preparing to send as many as 100,000 troops to the eastern edge of NATO territory at the end of the summer...

Rebuttal: Notice the manipulative use of the term "the eastern edge of NATO territory" -- as if to subtly suggest that Russia is doing things outside of its own borders. Why not say, "the western edge of Russia?" And why was NATO, in violation of US assurances, expanded to Russia's borders anyway?

Slimes: .... an exercise in intimidation that recalls the most ominous days of the Cold War.

Rebuttal: "Intimidation?" It was NATO that put all those tanks, missiles and troops on Russia's borders. The Russians are the ones who feel "intimidated," and rightly so, given the illustrious historical record of the NATO murder-machine.

Slimes: ... the move ...comes against the backdrop of an increasingly assertive Russia.

Slimes: Beyond Russia’s interference in the 2016 presidential election in support of the Trump campaign,

Rebuttal: A classic Existential Fallacy! There was no "interference" in the 2016 election. By slipping in that lie as a prior assumption, weak-minded readers are thus programmed to accept the foundational lie as a known fact.

Slimes: ... its military has in recent years deployed forces to Syria, ...

Rebuttal: To fight US-Israeli-backed ISIS, at the invitation of the Syrian government.

Slimes: .. seized Crimea ...

Rebuttal: Lie! Russian Crimeans "seized" themselves, for Russia, by voting by a margin of 97% to 3% to return to Russian sovereignty.

Slimes: ...intervened in eastern Ukraine

Rebuttal: Lie! The only "intervention" in Ukraine was that violent CIA-NGO-US State Department coup that overthrew a Russia-friendly President and installed a gang of vicious puppet thugs in his place.

Slimes: ... rattled the Baltic States with snap exercises
Rebuttal: The Baltic puppets have no one but themselves to blame if they allow the US to maneuver them into a war.

Slimes: and buzzed NATO planes and ships.

Rebuttal: NATO planes and ships that are poking around Russia's front yard. We don't see Russian warships trolling about the Florida Keys or Puget Sound, do we?

FACT-CHECK TIME!

1. McCain the Insane worked with terrorists to destroy Syria. 2. McCain the Insane triggered a coup in Ukraine. 3. Joyous Crimeans celebrate their return to Mother Russia. There was no need for an "invasion."

Slimes: The United States is taking precautions, ... “Look, we’ll be ready; we’ll be prepared,” said Lt. Gen. Frederick B. Hodges, the head of United States Army forces in Europe. “But we’re not going to be up on the parapets waiting for something to happen.”

Rebuttal: A parapet is a defensive structure. By saying "we’re not going to be up on the parapets waiting for something to happen," the deranged general is hinting that NATO may actually make the first move -- in "self defense," of course. (smirking and rolling eyes)

Slimes: In 2014, Russia’s stealthy forays into eastern Ukraine..

Rebuttal: Lie! There were no "stealthy forays" into eastern Ukraine. Russia could have taken all of eastern Ukraine in a week if it had chosen to.

Slimes: ... and its rapid capture of Crimea ...

Rebuttal: Lie! There was no "rapid capture" of Crimea. They had their own national guard to protect their declaration of separation from puppet Ukraine.

Slimes: “There is only one reason you would create a Guards Tank Army, and that is as an offensive striking force,” General Hodges said. “This is not something for homeland security.”

Rebuttal: Evidently, General Hodges never learned that the best defense is a good offense. Perhaps the Russians do not wish to be pushed back to the "parapets" when the trouble starts.

Slimes: (quoting General Breedlove): “It sends a very clear message to the Baltics and Poland.”

Rebuttal: Yes. And hopefully puppet Poland and the puppet Baltic nations will understand the fate that awaits them should they be foolish enough to allow NATO to kick-off World War III on their soil.

What a sickening article -- pure Yellow Journalism at its worst. The whole affair really sickens us, and refills us with that sense of dread that had temporarily subsided on Election Night 2016, but has since returned. Will Russia's muscle-flexing be enough to deter NATO aggression? It all depends on just how criminally insane the top power players really are.

EXACTLY as it was with Hitler, Putin's military preparedness is also being misrepresented as "threatening aggression." Hitler explains:

"The smear campaign began, year after year. They said, 'He is arming himself.' Yes. I've always done that. They also asked me: 'Then why do you have the SA if you want peace? Why did you create the SS when the only thing you want is fraternity?' Because, there are people who do not want peace! And I wanted to show them that I was prepared for either case."
CONCLUSION

If, at this closing point of our time together, the reader should find himself still obediently clinging to those State-sanctioned fairy tales about “the Good Guys” going to war to “free the slaves” or to “Remember the Maine” or to “make the world safe for democracy” or to “defend Poland” or to “liberate Europe” or to “stop Communism”, or to “free Kuwait”, or to “get Bin Laden” or to “prevent Weapons of Mass Destruction” or to “protect Ukraine” – then your humble author, with all due respect, has a bridge across the Strait of Kerch to sell you.

With a global confrontation with Russia and China potentially looming, and all its adverse side effects, the stakes are too high to remain ignorant, and silent. The challenge of exposing this deeply-rooted Global treachery may indeed seem daunting, and demoralizing. In every decade and in every part of the world, the voices of those who have attempted to expose “The Machine” have been drowned out by the howling loudspeakers of its televised propaganda apparatus. Who can stand against the mesmerizing power of the Great & Mighty Electronic Idiot Box?

But it’s a new ballgame now because the “yearning-to-breathe-free” world has a formidable new champion to rally behind. His name is Vladimir Putin; and his country is Russia.
